SENATE PASSES HUGE ARMS BILL

Reds Believed Poised For Seoul Push

Fierce Hilltop Fighting Rages In East Korea

Reds Urge U. N. To Admit "Violations"

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Friday, Sept. 14 (AP)—Fierce fighting raged on Eastern Korean hilltops Thursday while at least 250,000 tank-supported Red troops reported massed along the western battle front for a possible "full moon" drive toward Seoul.

AP War Correspondent Stan Carter reported there was some speculation among Eighth Army officers that the Red offensive in the west—if it develops at all—may come this next weekend when the moon is full.

However, other sources still were inclined to doubt that the Communists plan an immediate attack. These officers pointed out there is no indication that Communist troops have received full assault rations and equipment for an offensive.

Reds Have 70 Divisions

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters in Tokyo has disclosed that 40 re-fitted and re-equipped Communist divisions have been firmly identified along the battlefront and at least 30 more divisions in rear areas between the front line and Manchuria. Most were deployed in Western Korea where the terrain is less rugged.

The Communists are believed to have 250 Soviet-built T-34 tanks in the west and 1,200 Manchurian-based planes for support.

For the past month, the heaviest fighting has been on the east-central front, north of Yanggu and Inje. But it was believed unlikely, Carter said, that the Reds would launch a major drive in the wild Taebak Mountain range that juts across the front.

Allied Units Escape Trap

In the eastern battle of the hills the Reds preferred to die in their bunkers rather than yield to Allied fire superiority and infantry assaults.

A drive for new heights northeast of the hard-won punchbowl above Inje was held up for a time Thursday when an enemy force cut off two assault infantry units. The companies escaped later by smashing a North Korean road block.

Red Price Seen Too High

TOKYO, Friday, Sept. 14 (AP)—A Peiping broadcast Thursday night said the Korean cease-fire talks "could start again immediately" and agreement be quickly reached—if the United Nations would take the blame for all the neutrality violations the Reds have charged.

There was no immediate response from Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's headquarters. But the Communist price appeared too high for the Allied commander to accept.

The Red offer was not made on an official level. It came during a Peiping broadcast of a dispatch quoting a Communist correspondent in Kaesong.

Super Priority System Set Up

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The government today set up a new clear-all-tracks priority signal in a move to unsnarl traffic jams in the nation's multi-billion-dollar defense production program.

The new "super" priority will be designated by the symbol "DX".

It will be used chiefly to speed the production of atomic weapons and other urgent military supplies—tanks, guns, planes, etc.

The National Production Authority said it hoped the new "DX" rating will break an increasing number of log-jams now stalling vital military orders in plants overloaded with priority orders.

The agency said it will be "an emergency device, strictly limited in use," to be applied only when the armed forces need it to rush completion of highly critical contracts.

If the Army, for example, runs into a snag in its tank program, it would go to NPA for permission to use the "DX" symbol on orders for tank parts and materials.

Britain Will Buy One Million Tons Of Russian Grain

Embargo Against Iran Is Announced

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Brushing off U. S. congressional criticism of East-West trade, Britain announced tonight the purchase of 1,000,000 tons of grain from Soviet Russia.

The purchase underlined both Britain's precarious shortage of dollars and her intention of taking no part in any economic blockade of the Russian bloc. Payment is to be made in sterling.

In another trade sphere, it was disclosed that Britain has stopped British ships from delivering their cargoes to Iran as part of her cold war against the Iranian government over the oil nationalization issue.

Morrison Outlines Position

A Board of Trade spokesman said the embargo was in line with cancellation by the British treasury Monday of financial and economic concessions to Iran.

Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison outlined the British position on East-West trade before the National Press Club in Washington shortly before the grain deal was announced here.

Morrison said Britain must continue trade with the Russian bloc if she is to carry her share of the West's rearmament burden. To halt such trade now, he said "cut off our nose to spite our face."

Britain's Dollars Scarce

Britain's trade chief, Sir Hartley Shawcross, and Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell have said that if Britain couldn't buy such things as grain and timber from Russia she would have to buy them from hard currency countries—and just doesn't have the dollars to spare.

The Food Ministry disclosed the signing of the contract for the grain from this year's Russian harvest.

The contract calls for 200,000 tons of wheat, 425,000 tons of barley, 300,00 tons of corn and 75,00 tons of oats.

71-Year-Old Widow Adopts Milkman, 51

HACKENSACK, N. J., Sept. 13 (AP)—A 71-year-old widow adopted a 51-year-old milkman today.

In proceedings before Bergen County Judge A. Demorest Del Mar, Frank Misera became the adopted son of Mrs. Wilhelmine Goelz "to please her."

Misera, divorced father of three grown children, had been a roomer at the Goelz home in nearby Bogota for the past three years. He took the Goelz name.

Mrs. Goelz told Judge Del Mar she liked Misera and wanted to leave her estate to him since her husband and daughter were dead.

Dewey-Truman Talk "Cordial"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey gave President Truman a 40-minute report on Asia today, then urged a "great program" to "help our friends" there.

The New York governor described the White House meeting as a "cordial," two-way discussion of the Pacific and the Far East, which he termed the world's "critical" area for the next few years.

Mr. Truman termed it a satisfactory conference.

Political matters were not discussed, Dewey said. The name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whom Dewey is booming for president on the Republican ticket, was not mentioned, he added.

Dewey declined to specify the conclusions he gave the president after his seven weeks' tour of Korea and other oriental countries. But he told newsmen upon leaving the White House:

"Now that we have succeeded in launching a great program for the defense of Europe our own defenses require that we develop a similar program in Southeast Asia."

The Republican Party leader said "I certainly would not say I was dissatisfied with the meeting," but he left to Mr. Truman to indicate whether they had agreed on Asiatic policy.

Course In Gambling Added To Army's Basic Training

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind., Sept. 13 (AP) — The Army has added a course in gambling to its basic training at Camp Atterbury. The object is to persuade soldiers that gambling is hard on a slim pocketbook.

"The best game to play is horseshoes," the instructor, Pvt. Tim Mulroy, tells his students.

But for those who persist in gambling, Mulroy emphasizes the danger from the professional gambler.

"You can spot 'em by the way they hold the deck of cards when they are dealing," Pvt. Mulroy tells his classes in the Army's special services branch

"A professional gambler holds his index finger on top of the deck when he deals. It's necessary for him to do this so he can deal the way he wants.

"An amateur's index finger remains at the side of the deck when he deals. It's the natural way to hold a deck."

He advises cutting a deck into three stacks — "it'll upset any set deck."

The 23-year-old private was plucked out of the ranks to teach the course because he was a professional magician and card-trick artist in civilian life.

Pushbutton War Brought Nearer By U. S. Air Force

Guided Missile Unit Will Be Organized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Air Force today disclosed it is forming a combat unit to use guided missiles, and President Truman said this involved one of the deadly new weapons he has described as "fantastic in their operation."

The Air Force report amounted to announcement that it has reached the threshold of pushbutton warfare on the battlefield. The missiles may be able to carry atomic charges for blasting troops and fortifications in frontline areas.

Martin Co. Building "Matador"

Mr. Truman later in the day told a news conference questioner that the announcement involved the new weapons he hinted at in a speech Sept. 4 at San Francisco.

Out of a sparsely worded announcement and an official photograph of the weapon in horizontal flight, these points emerged:

1. The weapon, now in production at the Glenn L. Martin Company airplane plant in Baltimore, Md., is designated as the "Matador," B-61 "pilotless bomber."

2. The "1st Pilotless Bomber Squadron (light)" will be organized at the big USAF missile test center, Cocoa, Fla., on Oct. 1. The squadron, a part of the 6555th Guided Missile Wing of the Air Research and Development Command during its training phase, will then become a combat unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Size Of Small Plane

3. The missile is about the size of a smallish fighter plane. But compact-size atomic bombs have been developed for use in smaller aircraft.

4. Because it is equipped with radar and radio controls for guidance it also presumably can be exploded in the air over a target as well as detonated by actual impact with the target. This probably can be done by remote control firing, by the familiar proximity fuse device or by other, newer and more unconvention methods.

Chelf Would Sever Relations With Czechs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Rep. Chelf (D-Ky) has introduced a joint resolution calling for severance of diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia until Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis is freed from a Prague prison.

Oatis was convicted by a Prague court of espionage and sentenced to 10 years in prison. The action has been widely denounced in the free world as farcical.

West's Big 3 Reach German Peace Accord

Ministers To Issue Communique Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Big Three foreign ministers reached final agreement tonight on terms of a "peace contract" proposal to bring Western Germany into the free world defense lineup.

American, British, and French high commissioners will be instructed to negotiate with the West German government to a postwar settlement which provides:

1. Virtual complete independence for the West German regime in foreign policy and domestic matters.

2. Abolition of the present Allied three power high commission and substituting ambassadors.

3. Changing the status of occupation troops to defense forces.

Communique To Be Issued

The settlement of the German question agreed to, the British, American and French foreign ministers turned to other problems.

An informed official who disclosed the Big Three agreement on Germany said a formal joint communique will be issued tomorrow to announce actions taken by the foreign ministers on Germany and other key cold war problems.

Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman are to meet again tomorrow morning for the seventh time since their conference began Wednesday.

Officials described the "peace contract" as liberal, but said the Allies intend to preserve some powers.

Austrian Treaty Discussed

These would include the right to step into German affairs if Communism threatens to overthrow the new West German republic either by a domestic coup or outside aggression.

Officials who reported on discussions so far after a 90-minute night session, said the ministers also discussed these issues today:

1. Possible arrangements to speed up a peace treaty for Austria.

2. Italy's plea for drastic changes in its 1947 peace treaty to open the way for fuller rearmament.

3. American negotiations with Franco Spain which are aimed at obtaining military bases needed for Western European defense.

Lanky Langer Amuses Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Sen. Langer (R-ND) amused the Senate today with a rapid-fire series of amendments to the $60,000,000,000 defense bill.

All of them were quickly beaten.

First the lanky North Dakotan asked a 50 per cent cut in the bill. Vice President Barkley ruled this out of order on a motion by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Then Langer offered cuts of 40 per cent, 30 per cent and 20 per cent. He got nowhere.

Undismayed, Langer then offered six proposals to add $5,000,000,000 to the bill to build highways, improve rural telephones, make educational loans, provide analysis of urine of all citizens, construct farm storage elevators and make loans to grain dealers.

Each was shouted down as fast as offered, with people in the public galleries joining the Senate in laughter.

Langer wanted six new four-lane transcontinental highways, three to run east and west and three north and south.

Hurricane Bulletins With Miami Dateline Opposed By Hotelmen

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP) — A verbal storm over whether Miami datelines on hurricane stories help or hinder hotel business in this area brought a suggestion today that "Weatherville" be used instead.

Warren C. Freeman, general manager of a Miami Beach hotel, said the Miami dateline hurts business. He wrote city officials suggesting a mythical place called "Weatherville" be created from which hurricane bulletins could be issued.

"Absurd and ridiculous," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau.

"The hurricane warning service, under a Miami dateline, has given Miami more free publicity throughout the world than any other one thing."

Acheson Will Be Secretary Of State "As Long As I Am President," Truman Asserts

VISITED GROMYKO — Rev. Robert Hamill (above), Joliet, Ill., said yesterday that he had maneuvered a 15-minute "shirt sleeve" talk with Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Rev. Hamill said he had the yisit with Gromyko aboard the Overland Limited of the Chicago and Northern Western Railway, en route home from the west coast. He said he simply stepped into Gromyko's bedroom and introduced himself. Rev. Hamill is pastor of the Ottawa Street Methodist Church, Joliet. (AP Wirephoto).

Might Be For A Good While, Newsmen Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—President Truman said crisply and emphatically today that "as long as I am President of the United States," Dean Acheson is "going to be secretary of state."

And that, Mr. Truman said with a chuckle, may be a good while.

The President shook with laughter at newsmen's prodding inquiries as to how long a good while might be.

"Another four or five years? a reporter asked.

Direct Quotation Authorized

The newsmen would have to do their own speculating, he said.

In more serious vein, the President authorized direct quotations on part of his remarks about Acheson, thus emphasizing his determination not to yield to Republican demands that Acheson quit or be fired.

Presidential replies to news conference questions may not be quoted directly unless permission is specifically given.

On other subjects, Mr. Truman told his news conference:

1. Today's announcement that the Air Force is forming its first "pilotless bomber" squadron of guided missiles was one of the things Mr. Truman had in mind when he spoke of fantastic new weapons that could wipe out civilization.

Dewey Meeting Satisfactory

2. As to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's call for a Pacific-Far East defense pact like the North Atlantic Treaty alliance, the President said this country has always tried to strengthen its defenses in the Far East.

Mr. Truman said his meeting with Dewey at the White House this noon was most interesting and very satisfactory.

3. Llewellyn Williams was fired as secretary of Alaska because, Mr. Truman said, Williams was incompetent. No, there was no politics involved. In fact, he said, Williams is a Democrat.

4. As soon as the Japanese peace treaty is ready, Mr. Truman said, he will send it to the Senate and ask for prompt action.

Official Of Firm Refused To Seek Loan Influence

Ex-Treasurer Balked At President's Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The ex-treasurer of a St. Louis printing firm told a Senate committee today that the president of the company had pressed him to apply to the White House for help in getting a $645,000 RFC loan.

The witness was E. J. Toole, former treasurer of the American Lithofold Corporation. He testified before the Senate investigations subcommittee, which is trying to find out whether William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, used his political influence to assist in obtaining the loan.

Toole's story was told in his diary, which he has turned over to the investigators. One entry said:

"Haven't heard from RJB since last Thursday, when he was pressing, yes insisting, on having Cecil Green call the White House in an effort to get some 'high influence' used to accelerate the approval to our loan.

"I wouldn't do it, and Green agreed not to do it. As I told him, we had been receiving complete cooperation from the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) officials."

Toole identified "RJB" as R. J. Blauner, then president of the company. He has testified at a private session of the committee.

The conversation recorded in the diary took place Feb. 3, 1949, Toole said. Later that year, after the company had retained Boyle as a legal consultant, it obtained the loan upon its fourth application.

Boyle has denied any connection with the loan and has expressed his willingness to testify in the investigation.

Historic Texas Drouth Broken

DALLAS, Sept. 13. (AP)—The historic Texas heat wave and drouth was cracked in most of the state today.

Heavy rains and chill weather followed movement of a Canada-born cold front southward across the state.

The rains were mostly too late to help 1951 crops. In fact, they interfered with harvest of cotton, sorghums, corn, rice and peanuts. Some cotton will be down-graded because of rain.

But in the cities shivering citizens drew blankets around them as the cold front arrived. And in the cattle country, ranchers hoped their land would green up.

Cities began cancelling restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washing as lakes and reservoirs caught the runoff of the best rains since June.

A drouth of a year and half which had gripped the famed King Ranch in South Texas was broken as up to four inches fell.

W. & M. President Resigns In Wake Of Sports Scandal

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Sept. 13 (AP)—Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the College of William and Mary, said tonight he has submitted his resignation to the board of visitors.

Dr. Pomfret was criticized in a Sept. 8 report of the board, which is probing an athletic scandal at the college.

Dr. Pomfret said he had submitted his resignation to Oscar E. Shewmake, board rector. The text of his letter to Shewmake:

"Since it is apparent that I do not possess the confidence of the full membership of the board of visitors, I deem it in the best interest of the college for me to resign, and I herewith submit my resignation, effective immediately."

The board has spent the past several weeks probing alleged irregularities in the college's athletic department. It reported its findings only last Saturday and criticized the college administration for not handling the situation "with dispatch."

The W&M board investigation began in mid-August after initial reports of the athletic department scandal resulted in the resignations of Head Football Coach and Athletic Director R. N. McCray and Head Basketball Coach Barney Wilson.

The board said it found evidence that the athletic department under McCray altered the high school transcripts of promising athletes applying for admission to William and Mary. It said further that some athletes at the college had been granted credit for work they had not done in physical education classes

Size Of Record Fund Cut 2½% To $60 Billion

Compromise With House Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Senate passed the largest single military spending bill in history today, voting almost $60,000,000,000 for America's expanding armed forces.

Just before passage of the huge defense measure, administration leaders accepted an amendment by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) to cut the total funds by a straight 2½ per cent. At that time they stood at $61,033,856,030.

Smith and other senators estimated the last minute cut would save about $1,500,000,000, but added that this figure is subject to revision.

The final roll-call vote was 79 to 0.

Closing stages of the debate were marked by repeated efforts to reduce the size of the bill in recorded and voice votes, but Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), floor manager for the measure, beat them all off until the Smith amendment was introduced.

House Voted $56 Billions

Later, O'Mahoney told reporters the bill carried $59,508,009,630 as finally passed.

This was $3,473,292,430 more than the $56,034,717,200 voted by the House.

O'Mahoney said the secretary of defense would have authority to apply the 2½ per cent cut to selected items.

He said the entire amount, for instance, could be taken out of the $5,000,000,000 added by the Senate to expand air power.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) told the Senate the towering totals would subject the country to the risk of becoming "permanently a garrison state," while Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) contended it would give the nation "financial indigestion."

A Senate-House conference committee will adjust the differences in the two versions.

Time Spending Limit Set

Yesterday the Senate clamped a two-year limit on the authority of the Army and Air Force to spend the funds. The Navy was exempted.

The largest previous spending bill passed by Congress was a $59,034,839,673 appropriation for the Army and Air Force for the fiscal year 1944.

O'Mahoney accepted one $70,000,000 reduction in research and development funds proposed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) before agreeing to the across-the-board reduction.

Douglas won a major victory, which he estimated would save the taxpayers $100,000,000 a year, when the Senate voted 49 to 31 earlier to reduce the number of military men who get extra pay for flying.

The Republican Party leader said "I certainly would not say I was dissatisfied with the meeting," but he left to Mr. Truman to indicate whether they had agreed on Asiatic policy.

Crime Probe Fund Voted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Senate today unanimously approved a $25,000 fund to investigate crime in the District of Columbia area.

Course In Gambling Added To Army's Basic Training

CAMP ATTERBURY, Ind., Sept. 13 (AP) — The Army has added a course in gambling to its basic training at Camp Atterbury. The object is to persuade soldiers that gambling is hard on a slim pocketbook.

"The best game to play is horseshoes," the instructor, Pvt. Tim Mulroy, tells his students.

But for those who persist in gambling, Mulroy emphasizes the danger from the professional gambler.

"You can spot 'em by the way they hold the deck of cards when they are dealing," Pvt. Mulroy tells his classes in the Army's special services branch.

"A professional gambler holds his index finger on top of the deck when he deals. It's necessary for him to do this so he can deal the way he wants.

"An amateur's index finger remains at the side of the deck when he deals. It's the natural way to hold a deck."

He advises cutting a deck into three stacks — "it'll upset any set deck."

The 23-year-old private was plucked out of the ranks to teach the course because he was a professional magician and card-trick artist in civilian life.

Pushbutton War Brought Nearer By U. S. Air Force

Guided Missile Unit Will Be Organized

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Air Force today disclosed it is forming a combat unit to use guided missiles, and President Truman said this involved one of the deadly new weapons he has described as "fantastic in their operation."

The Air Force report amounted to announcement that it has reached the threshold of pushbutton warfare on the battlefield. The missiles may be able to carry atomic charges for blasting troops and fortifications in frontline areas.

Martin Co. Building "Matador"

Mr. Truman later in the day told a news conference questioner that the announcement involved the new weapons he hinted at in a speech Sept. 4 at San Francisco.

Out of a sparsely worded announcement and an official photograph of the weapon in horizontal flight, these points emerged:

1. The weapon, now in production at the Glenn L. Martin Company airplane plant in Baltimore, Md., is designated as the "Matador," B-61 "pilotless bomber."

2. The "1st Pilotless Bomber Squadron (light)" will be organized at the big USAF missile test center, Cocoa, Fla., on Oct. 1. The squadron, a part of the 6555th Guided Missile Wing of the Air Research and Development Command during its training phase, will then become a combat unit of the Tactical Air Command.

Size Of Small Plane

3. The missile is about the size of a smallish fighter plane. But compact-size atomic bombs have been developed for use in smaller aircraft.

4. Because it is equipped with radar and radio controls for guidance it also presumably can be exploded in the air over a target as well as detonated by actual impact with the target. This probably can be done by remote control firing, by the familiar proximity fuse device or by other, newer and more unconvention methods.

Chelf Would Sever Relations With Czechs

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Rep. Chelf (D-Ky) has introduced a joint resolution calling for severance of diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia until Associated Press Correspondent William N. Oatis is freed from a Prague prison.

Oatis was convicted by a Prague court of espionage and sentenced to 10 years in prison. The action has been widely denounced in the free world as farcical.

Grable In Hospital

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Sept. 13 (AP)—Betty Grable today entered St. Johns Hospital for diathermy treatments.

West's Big 3 Reach German Peace Accord

Ministers To Issue Communique Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Big Three foreign ministers reached final agreement tonight on terms of a "peace contract" proposal to bring Western Germany into the free world defense lineup.

American, British, and French high commissioners will be instructed to negotiate with the West German government to a postwar settlement which provides:

1. Virtual complete independence for the West German regime in foreign policy and domestic matters.

2. Abolition of the present Allied three power high commission and substituting ambassadors.

3. Changing the status of occupation troops to defense forces.

Communique To Be Issued

The settlement of the German question agreed to, the British, American and French foreign ministers turned to other problems.

An informed official who disclosed the Big Three agreement on Germany said a formal joint communique will be issued tomorrow to announce actions taken by the foreign ministers on Germany and other key cold war problems.

Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Minister Morrison and French Foreign Minister Schuman are to meet again tomorrow morning for the seventh time since their conference began Wednesday.

Officials described the "peace contract" as liberal, but said the Allies intend to preserve some powers.

Austrian Treaty Discussed

These would include the right to step into German affairs if Communism threatens to overthrow the new West German republic either by a domestic coup or outside aggression.

Officials who reported on discussions so far after a 90-minute night session, said the ministers also discussed these issues today:

1. Possible arrangements to speed up a peace treaty for Austria!

2. Italy's plea for drastic changes in its 1947 peace treaty to open the way for fuller rearmament.

3. American negotiations with Franco Spain which are aimed at obtaining military bases needed for Western European defense.

Lanky Langer Amuses Senate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Sen. Langer (R-ND) amused the Senate today with a rapid-fire series of amendments to the $60,000,000,000 defense bill.

All of them were quickly beaten.

First the lanky North Dakotan asked a 50 per cent cut in the bill. Vice President Barkley ruled this out of order on a motion by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

Then Langer offered cuts of 40 per cent, 30 per cent and 20 per cent. He got nowhere.

Undismayed, Langer then offered six proposals to add $5,000,000,000 to the bill to build highways, improve rural telephones, make educational loans, provide analysis of urine of all citizens, construct farm storage elevators and make loans to grain dealers.

Each was shouted down as fast as offered, with people in the public galleries joining the Senate in laughter.

Langer wanted six new four-lane transcontinental highways, three to run east and west and three north and south.

Hurricane Bulletins With Miami Dateline Opposed By Hotelmen

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 13 (AP) — A verbal storm over whether Miami datelines on hurricane stories help or hinder hotel business in this area brought a suggestion today that "Weatherville" be used instead.

Warren C. Freeman, general manager of a Miami Beach hotel, said the Miami dateline hurts business. He wrote city officials suggesting a mythical place called "Weatherville" be created from which hurricane bulletins could be issued.

"Absurd and ridiculous," said Grady Norton, chief storm forecaster at the Miami Weather Bureau.

"The hurricane warning service, under a Miami dateline, has given Miami more free publicity throughout the world than any other one thing."

Acheson Will Be Secretary Of State "As Long As I Am President," Truman Asserts

Might Be For A Good While, Newsmen Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—President Truman said crisply and emphatically today that "as long as I am President of the United States," Dean Acheson is "going to be secretary of state."

And that, Mr. Truman said with a chuckle, may be a good while.

"Another four or five years? a reporter asked.

Direct Quotation Authorized

The newsmen would have to do their own speculating, he said.

In more serious vein, the President authorized direct quotations on part of his remarks about Acheson, thus emphasizing his determination not to yield to Republican demands that Acheson quit or be fired.

Presidential replies to news conference questions may not be quoted directly unless permission is specifically given.

On other subjects, Mr. Truman told his news conference:

1. Today's announcement that the Air Force is forming its first "pilotless bomber" squadron of guided missiles was one of the things Mr. Truman had in mind when he spoke of fantastic new weapons that could wipe out civilization.

Dewey Meeting Satisfactory

2. As to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's call for a Pacific-Far East defense pact like the North Atlantic Treaty alliance, the President said this country has always tried to strengthen its defenses in the Far East.

Mr. Truman said his meeting with Dewey at the White House this noon was most interesting and very satisfactory.

3. Llewellyn Williams was fired as secretary of Alaska because, Mr. Truman said, Williams was incompetent. No, there was no politics involved. In fact, he said, Williams is a Democrat.

4. As soon as the Japanese peace treaty is ready, Mr. Truman said, he will send it to the Senate and ask for prompt action.

VISITED GROMYKO — Rev. Robert Hamill (above), Joliet, Ill., said yesterday that he had maneuvered a 15-minute "shirt sleeve" talk with Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Rev. Hamill said he had the visit with Gromyko aboard the Overland Limited of the Chicago and Northern Western Railway, en route home from the west coast. He said he simply stepped into Gromyko's bedroom and introduced himself. Rev. Hamill is pastor of the Ottawa Street Methodist Church, Joliet. (AP Wirephoto).

Official Of Firm Refused To Seek Loan Influence

Ex-Treasurer Balked At President's Plan

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The ex-treasurer of a St. Louis printing firm told a Senate committee today that the president of the company had pressed him to apply to the White House for help in getting a $645,000 RFC loan.

The witness was E. J. Toole, former treasurer of the American Lithofold Corporation. He testified before the Senate investigations subcommittee, which is trying to find out whether William M. Boyle, Jr., chairman of the Democratic National Committee, used his political influence to assist in obtaining the loan.

Toole's story was told in his diary, which he has turned over to the investigators. One entry said:

"Haven't heard from RJB since last Thursday, when he was pressing, yes insisting, on having Cecil Green call the White House in an effort to get some 'high influence' used to accelerate the approval to our loan.

"I wouldn't do it, and Green agreed not to do it. As I told him, we had been receiving complete cooperation from the RFC (Reconstruction Finance Corporation) officials."

Toole identified "RJB" as R. J. Blauner, then president of the company. He has testified at a private session of the committee.

The conversation recorded in the diary took place Feb. 3, 1949, Toole said. Later that year, after the company had retained Boyle as a legal consultant, it obtained the loan upon its fourth application.

Boyle has denied any connection with the loan and has expressed his willingness to testify in the investigation.

Historic Texas Drouth Broken

DALLAS, Sept. 13. (AP)—The historic Texas heat wave and drouth was cracked in most of the state today.

Heavy rains and chill weather followed movement of a Canada-born cold front southward across the state.

The rains were mostly too late to help 1951 crops. In fact, they interfered with harvest of cotton, sorghums, corn, rice and peanuts. Some cotton will be down-graded because of rain.

But in the cities shivering citizens drew blankets around them as the cold front arrived. And in the cattle country, ranchers hoped their land would green up.

Cities began cancelling restrictions on lawn sprinkling and car washing as lakes and reservoirs caught the runoff of the best rains since June.

A drouth of a year and half which had gripped the famed King Ranch in South Texas was broken as up to four inches fell.

W. & M. President Resigns In Wake Of Sports Scandal

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Sept. 13 (AP)—Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the College of William and Mary, said tonight he has submitted his resignation to the board of visitors.

Dr. Pomfret was criticized in a Sept. 8 report of the board, which is probing an athletic scandal at the college.

Dr. Pomfret said he had submitted his resignation to Oscar E. Shewmake, board rector. The text of his letter to Shewmake:

"Since it is apparent that I do not possess the confidence of the full membership of the board of visitors, I deem it in the best interest of the college for me to resign, and I herewith submit my resignation, effective immediately."

The board has spent the past several weeks probing alleged irregularities in the college's athletic department. It reported its findings only last Saturday and criticized the college administration for not handling the situation "with dispatch."

The W&M board investigation began in mid-August after initial reports of the athletic department scandal resulted in the resignations of Head Football Coach and Athletic Director R. N. McCray and Head Basketball Coach Barney Wilson.

The board said it found evidence that the athletic department under McCray altered the high school transcripts of promising athletes applying for admission to William and Mary. It said further that some athletes at the college had been granted credit for work they had not done in physical education classes

Size Of Record Fund Cut 2½% To $60 Billion

Compromise With House Necessary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Senate passed the largest single military spending bill in history today, voting almost $60,000,000,000 for America's expanding armed forces.

Just before passage of the huge defense measure, administration leaders accepted an amendment by Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) to cut the total funds by a straight 2½ per cent. At that time they stood at $61,033,856,030.

Smith and other senators estimated the last minute cut would save about $1,500,000,000, but added that this figure is subject to revision.

The final roll-call vote was 79 to 0.

Closing stages of the debate were marked by repeated efforts to reduce the size of the bill in recorded and voice votes, but Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo), floor manager for the measure, beat them all off until the Smith amendment was introduced.

House Voted $56 Billions

Later, O'Mahoney told reporters the bill carried $59,508,009,630 as finally passed.

This was $3,473,292,430 more than the $56,034,717,200 voted by the House.

O'Mahoney said the secretary of defense would have authority to apply the 2½ per cent cut to selected items.

He said the entire amount, for instance, could be taken out of the $5,000,000,000 added by the Senate to expand air power.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) told the Senate the towering totals would subject the country to the risk of becoming "permanently a garrison state," while Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) contended it would give the nation "financial indigestion."

A Senate-House conference committee will adjust the differences in the two versions.

Time Spending Limit Set

Yesterday the Senate clamped a two-year limit on the authority of the Army and Air Force to spend the funds. The Navy was exempted.

The largest previous spending bill passed by Congress was a $59,034,839,673 appropriation for the Army and Air Force for the fiscal year 1944.

O'Mahoney accepted one $70,000,000 reduction in research and development funds proposed by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) before agreeing to the across-the-board reduction.

Douglas won a major victory, which he estimated would save the taxpayers $100,000,000 a year, when the Senate voted 49 to 31 earlier to reduce the number of military men who get extra pay for flying.

Marine Funds Asked

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress to vote an additional $20,781,850 for housing and training facilities for the Marines

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — (INS) — Dear Europe, Asia and Africa:

Don't you think it would be a nice thing to lay off us for, say, six months and let us catch our breaths? You'd survive the perilous trip of climbing down off our back.

We've got the shorts real bad, no matter how big our Mr. Truman talked the other day when he opened the new General Accounting Office in Washington. We owe more dough than any nation in history, and we've got millions of hard-working people who wind up without a quarter at the end of every year—because they've been taking care of you. Let us up, we're smothering.

Sure wish you'd get together and say something like "Sam, you've been a real pal. You drug us out of the gutter after the war, put smoke back in the chimneys, and sent us some of your best medicine men. So knock off for six months. Blow the dough on yourself for a change. Temporarily include us out. Might do us good, learning to walk again without a helping hand."

We need a repaint job in this country, kids, even though you may look upon it as an endless fount of benevolence. Here are a few things we could do with the dough you'll cost us in the next six months:

Our highway system is every bit as deplorable as our fellow Paul Weeks Litchfield, of Goodyear, said in the big newspaper ads this week. Ever try to drive in from Allenhurst, N. J., of a Sunday night? We need an entire new national network of roads if we are to continue being the kind of nation that can run a soup kitchen for the world. And you want us to stay that way, don't you?

We've got people living in slums that would offend the sensitivities of a Congo housewife with a dried bone in her nose. We've got fellows who won the war, and kept you all out of the clutch of totalitarian terror, still living in trailers and nissen huts and flea-bag temporary homes because we've never got around to building places for them or hammering down the price of places already built.

We've got diseases like cancer, which knocks off about a quarter of a million of us every year and for which a cure depends on how much money we can dig up for research. . . . And, partially because of you, there's never enough dough.

We've still got places without schools, and other places where the schools are so overcrowded that it's a miracle that the kids absorb anything. And we've got to keep up our literacy rate if we have any hope of remaining your big brother.

We've got dope runners and racket guys and hoods young and old who can prey on decent people only because we haven't got enough cops to go around — because we haven't got enough money left, after taking care of you, to pay them.

We've got taxes, and we're going to get more, which take the starch out of a fellow, deprive him of the git-up-and-go that made us what we are, and make a fellow wonder what'll happen to the kids when he turns in his chips. You're sure expensive.

Because of the mountains of material we send you, we're short on steel and oil and doo-dads that go into this or that, so we have to pay through the nose if we want this or that—but we've got to stay a wanting nation, for that's what put us up there as your rich uncle.

We got miseries. With you on our necks—even though we love you—every day is the first of the month. We're up to our bill in bills, and we've given promissory notes well into the twenty-first century. We're picking up the tab for the tools of war you might need one of these years, and at the same time we're getting most of the check for the peace business—U. N.

I know this must be pretty distressing to you: The very suggestion that you leave us alone for six months so's we can mend our fence, catch our breath, bail ourselves out a mite. But it sure would be handsome of you if you did say, "Okay, Sam, take a breather for a bit."

I swear that if you did, we'd be so emotionally overwhelmed (as we were once when Finland paid us what she owed us) that we'd go hog-wild when we put you back on the cuff.

Yours in sport,
Bob Considine.

Germany And NATO

The talks in Washington among the American, British, and French foreign ministers are pointed toward the meeting, opening at Ottawa today, of the Council for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Central in both groups of discussions is the problem of fitting West Germany into the North Atlantic treaty.

No seperate peace with West Germany, like the separate peace signed with Japan at San Francisco on September 8, is involved. For one thing, although most Japanese evidently wanted a peace treaty even without the signatures of China and Russia, most West Germans seem opposed, at this time, to any formal peace settlement with them that perforce excludes East Germany.

Any such settlement formalized in a treaty would seem to West Germany to be accepting the present split-up of the Reich, thus weakening the chances for reunion eventually. On the other hand, new dispatches from Europe indicate that most East Germans are now cherishing little hope for reunion.

What the Ottawa meetings contemplate is a series of contractual arrangements with West Germany. Such contracts, the West Germans will be told, go far toward recognizing the sovereignty of their state. The United States has recently signed similar agreements, for mutual defense, with Japan itself, with the Philippines, and with Australia and New Zealand—sovereign states all—in the framework of pan-Pacific defense.

This issue of German sovereignty is to the forefront in West German politics. The Socialists, leading party in opposition to the Adenauer government, have taken much of an anti-rearmament position. Yet they seem to be pro-rearmament provided Germany is made an equal, rather than a subordinate, in the North Atlantic security set-up. Adenauer himself seems determined to insist almost as strongly as the Socialists on generous economic and financial concessions in return for joining that set-up. Such concessions involve, among other things, the present occupation costs and the Schuman Plan.

The political situation in West Germany was obviously in the minds of the Big Three Foreign Ministers at their meeting in New York a year ago. Their joint communique of September 19, 1950, affirmed that their governments would "treat any attack against the federal government (West Germany) from any quarter as an attack upon themselves."

Another difficulty in bringing West Germany into NATO has been the insistence of France, thrice invaded by Germany within the last 80 years, that the new German armed forces be held down to a specified maximum total. Largely to meet the French position, the Paris Conference on a European army produced last July 24 a 50-year preliminary agreement for a pooled army for the continent of Europe, with a minimum of control by any nation over its own divisions.

The agreement has no force until accepted and ratified by the participating governments. There are still disputes on many details. For instances, the Germans want national identity maintained up to the division level, with their own staff for such divisions. The French have been holding out for national identity at a much lower level. All the same, the West German and the French delegations, along with Italian, Belgian, and Luxemburg ones, joined in signing the July 24 proposal.

Pacing The Sun

The turning of the earth on its axis causes the sun to have an apparent speed of about 600 miles an hour in the mid latitudes. Pacing the sun—flying at a speed from east to west that equals the sun's—is something that has intrigued fliers, scientists and newspaper editors for decades. Within the past few years beating the sun's speed, though, has become old hat.

Chief test pilot Roland Beaumont dropped his twin-jet Canberra bomber on to the airstrip at Gander, Newfoundland, the other day after losing a race with solar time. But it didn't matter, for pacing the sun was hardly the point of the flight. The Canberra is now in the last phases of its tests. It is to be built in quantity in the United States.

The Canberra, however, broke all existing records for the Atlantic crossing from the British Isles. It's average speed for the 2,100 miles was 481 miles an hour. Beaumont bucked headwinds almost the whole way. In the latter stages of the flight they were pushing against the Canberra's sleek nose at 80 knots. The Canberra is a subsonic plane, built to operate at just under the speed of sound. In short, Beaumont could have paced the sun over a short distance had he wanted to.

On August 15, Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman flew the Navy's tiny Skyrocket to unprecedented heights—the estimate is better than 76,000 feet. The Navy's announcement on the flight said that Bridgeman was "climbing away from the earth at a speed of 1,000 miles per hour." In fact, Bridgeman had to steepen the angle of climb to save his small rocket fuel supply for climb, rather than speed. In a few years flights over long distances at this speed and better will be possible.

On the basis of these two performances it's safe to say the sun has ceased to be a suitable yardstick. What will be the next goal—the speed of light?

The "Toy" Was Mozart's

Everyone familiar with classical music knows that Franz Joseph Haydn was one of the most prolific, as well as one of the most delightful, of all composers. More than 500 compositions are attributed to his fertile imagination, among them 104 symphonies.

Now the Haydn Society which devotes itself to cataloguing and recording the master's works, says the list is actually a shade too long. It has reached the tentative conclusion that approximately 50 compositions attributed to Haydn were actually written by other men and published under his name by unscrupulous printers to insure a better sale.

Even if this "discovery" is substantiated in the long run, it will not in the least effect "Papa" Haydn's fame. The fame is securely based on reams of some of the most magical and enchanting music ever composed. Probably most of the 50 will never be missed. Excising the 50 from the list of 500 compositions to the credit of Haydn will not detract from his fame.

However, if the disclosure of the Haydn Society is of interest chiefly to professional musicologists, there is one part of the announcement that will startle nearly every child or adult who has ever studied music. That is the society's belief that the "Toy Symphony," that delightful little work designed to be played largely with children's toy instruments, was not written by Haydn but by Mozart's father.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

Lowering Blood Pressure Thru Diet

Is there a relationship between diet and high blood pressure? This question confronted physicians for generations and at present we are wrestling with the efficacy of the low sodium and rice diets. These regiments are not curealls but they seem to have a good effect in some hypertensive individuals.

Most medical authorities agree that meats, eggs, and other proteins have no effect on the blood pressure. In the past, physicians usually warned their patients not to eat these items because they were thoght to have an adverse influence upon the kidneys. This is understandable; hypertension and kidney trouble were synonymous to the old-timer. We now know that the two disorders often develop independently and in most instances the kidneys are able to handle the by-products of proteins even tho the blood pressure is up. Uremia is an exception. As a result there is no need to deny hypertensives the pleasure of ham and eggs for breakfast or a good steak at the evening meal.

Diet also enters the picture when overweight exists. Obesity aggravates high blood pressure and it is easier to bring it down to a respectable level when excess poundage is lost. However, weight reduction does not alter the original cause hence does not cure hypertension. Diets that restrict salt and other nutrients are successful in many instances. Sodium is the offender in salt but because most foods contain this substance it is difficult to eliminate it entirely from our menus.

The rice diet is the most rigid along this line and consists mainly of boiled rice, sugar, and fruit juices. Vitamins are added. The pros and cons of this treatment have been investigated in a number of medical centers thruout the country. It helps three out of four cases but is so monotonous and limited that many users find it impracticable. It is agreed generally that the percentage of sodium need not be restricted to the extent of the rice diet; there must be a middle road that will do as much good without making the patient complain that the remedy is worse than the disease.

A tremendous amount of time, money, and energy goes into the evaluation of a problem of this nature. A group of New York Ctiy specialists, for example, began such an investigation by making daily blood pressure determinations on 86 patients who agreed to stay in the hospital for three weeks on a regular hospital diet. All had high blood pressure and at the end of the survey period the average drop was 8 points in the systolic and 3 in the diastolic pressure. In addition, there was relief of shortness of breath, angina pectoris, dizziness, headache, nausea, vomiting, and swelling of the feet. This part of the study was carried on to demonstrate what ordinary bed rest would do.

Of the original group, 50 consented to remain and take the rice diet. Improvement of symptoms occurred in a far higher number and percentage of the patients on the rice diet than on the previous regimen. Both pressure dropped more than 10 points and in 13 cases there was a decrease of more than 20 points. Seven finished the experiment with pressures within normal ranges. In some, the levels failed to fall and in a few there was a slight rise. To climax the survey, capsules containing salt were administered and within a short time the pressure shot up, indicating that it was salt (sodium) restriction and not the rice, fruit, or rest that made the difference.

TYPES OF FAT

H. N. writes: How does cholestorol differ from other fats?

REPLY

Cholesterol differs from other fats in its chemical structure. It is found in the tissues of animal origin in contrast to vegetable fats such as that found in nuts, olives, peanut butter, soybean oil, cotton seed oil, and vegetable shortening. Rich sources of cholesterol are egg yolk, butter fat, milk, cheese, the fat on meat, and organ meats.

CANKER SORES

M. L. writes: Why do sores develop on my tongue every time I eat nuts?

REPLY

This is not unusual, and allergy apparently is responsible. In other individuals, canker sores follow the use of other types of food. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on these lesions.

THYROID DISORDERS

K. W. writes: What is the difference between low metabolism and goiter?

REPLY

Low metabolism means that the energy production of the body is at a low ebb. Goiter refers to enlargement of the thyroid gland. The two conditions are not necessarily related, one may be present without the other. On the other hand, hypothyroidism is associated with certain types of goiter.

Three Scientists Discover The Secret Of Sunlight; Infantry General Sees No Change In Warfare Methods; Balloon Barrage Disturbed Czech Communists

WASHINGTON—A revolutionary discovery which could make farming unnecessary has been made by three scientists at the National Institute of Health. They have discovered the secret of sunlight. This is behind the recent statement by Dr. James Conant, president of Harvard, that solar energy will surpass atomic energy in the near future.

The scientists, Dr. Dean Burk, a cancer research expert; Martin Schwartz, a biochemist, and Jerome Cornfield, a mathematician, have found an efficient way to release the energy of light in the laboratory. They are growing plant life in test tubes from light, water, carbon dioxide and one-celled algae.

This discovery, based on earlier research by the great Nobel prize winner, Dr. Emil Warburg of Germany, promises to unlock the key to these possibilities:

1, Produce plant life in "food factories" cheaper and more efficiently than present-day farming. Less than one per cent of the sun's energy is utilized now in farming and if food can now be grown by artificial sunlight, the survival problems of such crowded areas as Japan and England could be solved. Japan, with a teeming population and many mountains, has existed in the past chiefly by foreign trade and foreign conquest—though today the American people are spending one billion dollars annually to support her.

England, with an equally dense population and little sunlight, thrived through foreign trade and foreign conquest in the past—now is being subsidized by the American taxpayer.

Growing food by artificial sunlight could change all this—also alleviate the annual starvation of several million people in India.

2. Provide hydrogen gas in unlimited amounts by taking it from water by sunlight.

3. Convert sunlight into electric power. This could make Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and California the great industrial centers of the U.S.A.; could even shift the industrial population from around Pittsburgh and Chicago to the Southwest.

In fact, the discovery shortly to be announced by the National Institute of Health could be more important than that of President Truman after Hiroshima on August 6, 1945.

Kneader of Dough-Boy

Recent statements by President Truman and Senator Young of North Dakota about sensational new war weapons are in sharp contrast to earlier statements by Gen. John E. Church during a joint orientation conference at Fort Benning, Ga.

General Church commands the important Army Infantry School, and after exhibiting infantry weapons to the visiting VIPS, he was asked by Thorndike Saville, dean of engineering of New York University:

"Do you contemplate any change in warfare that might put these weapons out of date?"

"No," replied the General. "Basic warfare hasn't changed in 2,000 years."

"What about the 16-inch guns on naval vessels that never fired a shot in the last war-" pursued Dean Saville.

Church had no immediate comeback; but when asked if strategic bombing was not a basic new development of warfare, the genial General replied:

"Oh, that's just the same thing Light Horse Harry Lee did behind the lines in the Civil War."

Later when a visitor remarked that the group had been much impressed with the air force, General Church shot back: "Oh, they just kill four or five people on a raid, we're the ones who do the real job in war."

NOTE—Fellow officers of amiable Johnny Church recall that during World War I his greatest ambition was to go back to John Wanamaker's department store in Philadelphia—where he was once a packer—and become chief packer. However, he stayed on in the Army and gradually climbed the promotion ladder, though almost skipping a rung when he ordered U.S. troops out of Seoul in June, 1950, before the enemy was even near. He then had to go back and reoccupy the city, but having recovered this fumble, Church is now at Fort Benning making statements about putting the dough-boy back on foot.

"Manure" In Czechoslovakia

With the AP's William Oatis locked up in jail and with it dangerous to send other American newsmen into Czechoslovakia, it's been difficult to get accurate reaction to the barrage of friendship-freedom balloons sent across the iron curtain to the Czech people.

However, Czech Prime Minister Antonin Zapotocky tipped his hand recently with conclusive evidence that the friendship messages were hurting. He made a violent speech in parliament bitterly attacking the balloons.

"We are building our defense," he said. "We are detecting spies and assassins. We sentence them and give them the punishment they deserve (probably referring to Oatis). We will save our harvest. No American beetles will destroy it.

"Our people will be affected still less by experimental balloons filled with press manure.

"They cannot attack us openly as they have done in Korea, so they try to infect our country with rabble and filth. They smuggle saboteurs, spies, assassins and American beetles into our country—or at least balloons with propoganda leaflets.

"Everything brought to us by the Western winds is just filth and dirt. But this will not disturb us and make us panic."

Other information smuggled out by Czech refugees indicates that Communist authorities were greatly disturbed by the leaflets. A total of 14,000,000 were launched from Bavaria 10 miles from the Czech border and reports are that so many of these rained down over the big cities of Prague and Pilsen that some streets were literally white.

The most important thing the leaflets did was to remind the Czech people that they were not forgotten. Refugees I have talked to report that, in view of Moscow's propaganda pounding home the opposite, this is the most vital thing we can do.

Chinese Cloak and Dagger

The two Chinese who have been trying to clean up graft in purchasing arms by the Chinese Nationalists have received all sorts of offers of compromise if they would drop their campaign.

Col. Hsiang Wei-hsuan, who appealed to Madame Chiank Kai-shek to stop the graft, says that he received an offer of half a million dollars from an intermediary, if he would "be reasonable."

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. P. T. Mow, who is related by marriage to the Generalissimo through his first wife, was summoned to a meeting with a brother-in-law of the Generalissimo who has kept in the background in these matters for some time, but asked that General Mow meet him at a mutual friend's house.

Fearing a possible doublecross, Mow took his wife and son with him. The conversation remained guarded, however, and brought forth no offers of compromise.

NOTE—A resolution to investigate the China lobby introduced by Senators Morse of Oregon, Republican, and McMahon of Connecticut, Democrat, has been gathering dust for two months, but now may get action. If there is a real probe, two senatorial toes will get stepped on.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What should have happened a year ago has finally happened—Robert A. Lovett has been made Secretary of Defense. And what should also have happened a year ago—namely, the appointment of General Marshall to active duty as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—didn't happen then and, as a consequence, nothing has been done to reorganize the Joint Chiefs and make it as effective as the top military body of the nation ought to be.

When setting up the present structure for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Congress adopted a compromise plan that was a hodge-podge. What is urgently needed is that membership on the Joint Chiefs should be a full-time and not a part-time job. At present the heads of the three armed services have operational responsibilities in connection with their own services and are, nevertheless, looked to by the President and the Secretary of Defense and Congress to do an over-all planning job for the strategy of a future war as well as the current war in Korea.

Tried To Meet Criticism

George Marshall is a great American. Few men in the last half century have won such esteem here and such affection among people inside and outside of public life. The job of Secretary of Defense, however, was one of overwhelming responsibility on the administrative side. It is a task to which, with all due respect for the General, Mr. Lovett could bring more experience than his distinguished predecessor. But President Truman was in a political spot a year ago. Criticism of Louis Johnson, then Secretary of Defense, had become widespread, especially after the outbreak of the Korean War, and hence Mr. Truman was trying by the appointment of General Marshall to meet that criticism. An exception had to be made by Congress to the law which it had passed barring from appointment to the post of Secretary of Defense any man who had been in the regular military service during the preceding 10 years.

By amending the law a bad precedent was established. As was said then in these dispatches, General Marshall was the logical man to take over the work of coordinating the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but some man with a civilian background should have been found for the task of Secretary of Defense.

One disadvantage always was that so long as Mr. Marshall held five-star rank, it didn't matter whether he wore civilian clothes, the members of the Joint Chiefs thought of him as a military chieftain who outranked them all. General Marshall was quite aware of this and leaned over backward to avoid any appearance of imposing his military judgments on the Joint Chiefs.

While the appointment of General Marshall to the Defense post helped Mr. Truman politically, it took quite a toll from the retiring General. He should have been permitted to enjoy the retired life which he had so clearly earned by his past service to his country.

It will be recalled that Mr. Marshall has had very little rest since World War II ended in 1945. He had served as a special envoy to China in times of extraordinary trouble and difficulty, and he was then appointed Secretary of State—again a job to which he gave his best efforts but which was plainly out of his line of experience.

Owed Nation's Thanks

A military man should be permitted to stick to his last. If General Marshall had been allowed as an adviser along with other five-star generals to concentrate on strictly military phases of our postwar problems, the nation would have been benefited far more and perhaps the whole military program would have been farther ahead.

As it was, he was saddled with administrative duties and contacts with procurement and personnel problems and a thousand and one details of the job of running the biggest department in Washington.

The nation owes a debt of thanks to General Marshall for his unselfish efforts in public service, and particularly for his insistence that his term as Secretary of Defense be limited to the year or so that he specified in the first place. For now the way has been opened not only for a civilian as Secretary of Defense, but for the early reorganization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff — the most important and yet the most neglected phase of our present military program.

The Next Step

Empires expand because a political vacuum is intolerable. When an expanding empire encounters resistance, such as Napoleon's did in the march to Moscow, it must speedily divert the attention not only of its people but of its satellites from a real failure to a dramatic even if only an apparent victory. Otherwise the empire begins to suffer on its periphery from revolts, civil wars, local nationalisms. This pattern is so usual that it might be accepted as a guide to imperialistic conduct.

This is to be noted:

1. In the year 1951 thus far, with the exception of Tibet, Soviet Russia has made no gains. Between 1938 and 1951, Soviet Russia's territorial gains were rhythmically regular.

2. The program for expansion into Korea, Burma and French Indo-China has been arrested.

3. Politically, Soviet Russia has encountered among her European satellites a rising nationalism which Marxist doctrines cannot void as long as Tito stands his ground.

4. At San Francisco, Soviet Russia suffered a major diplomatic defeat, not as much because a treaty with Japan was signed by 48 nations, but because the leadership of Nehru in Asia was proved to be bankrupt, only Burma going along with India in opposition to American leadership.

The fact that Ceylon, Indonesia, and the two French Indo-Chinese nations as well as Pakistan and the Arab states signed this treaty gives evidence that the results of the tremendous labors of the Russians in Asia are unsatisfactory.

Russia must act swiftly if this defeat at San Francisco, following upon the failures in Korea and French Indo-China, is not to impress itself too vitally upon such a country as China.

Gromyko gave the show away when, in answer to a question, he said that Soviet Russia had no ambassador in Japan but a military mission. He was, of course, correct, because countries which are not sovereign do not receive ambassadors. Under the terms set forth at Potsdam (July 17-August 2, 1945) and Moscow (December 16-26, 1945), Japan was an occupied country until the signing and ratification of the San Francisco treaty.

At these conferences, the nature of the occupation was organized. A Far Eastern Commission was established consisting of the representatives of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United Kingdom, United States, China, France, the Netherlands, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, and the Philippine Commonwealth. Also an Allied Council for Japan was established consisting of the supreme commander (or his deputy), who shall be chairman and United States member; a Union of Soviet Socialist Republics member; a Chinese member; and a member representing jointly the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, and India.

The Allied Council for Japan actually occupied Japan and set up the agencies for its government under the chairmanship of General Douglas MacArthur. Member-states maintained military missions in Tokyo.

At San Francisco, both the commission and the council were abolished and Japan became a sovereign nation by the decision of 48 nations, including member-states of both the commission and council, except Russia, India and China.

China was not included because the United States could not accept Soviet China and the British would not accept Nationalist China. India operates in the diplomatic field as a Kremlin affiliate. Russia refused to sign.

The United States, however, will maintain its military mission in Tokyo by virtue of a bilateral agreement between Japan and the United States by the terms of which an American military force remains to defend Japan until that country is able to defend herself.

Under the San Francisco treaty, Russia should withdraw her military mission from Tokyo. But Russia has rejected that treaty and has fallen back on the Potsdam and Moscow agreements, which are no longer binding upon the United States, Great Britain, Japan or any other signatory of San Francisco. In terms of international law, Japan, a sovereign state, could order the Russian military mission out of its country. It could pick up that mission and dump it in Siberia.

Russia could use such an issue as a casus belli. As Japan has no military force, such a war would be against the United States. It could develop into a general war.

If Soviet Russia permits this situation to go by default, it will have to do something about its military mission in Japan, which now has no status. That mission was not designated to the Japanese government but to the Allied Council for Japan. That council is now out of existence. As Russia has no treaty with Japan, it has no right to send an ambassador to that country.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — It is going to be hard to keep the visit here next month of British Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, the Duke of Elinburgh, within the limited bounds they have requested.

Although planned only as a brief side tour after the full-dress coast-to-coast state tour that the royal couple will pay to Canada, it somehow always is compared here with the fabulous 1939 visit of the King and Queen of England.

Serving as host to VIPs from abroad has become a habit which the nation's capital adores. A bespangled tour down Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House, flanked by motorcycle cops 20 abreast from curb to curb, now is as much a welcoming badge for Uncle Sam as a New York ticker tape reception.

Washington's visitors are chiefly political, and their calls either are "informal" or state occasions. Technically, it decides the way the welcome mat is rolled out, but actually the magnitude of the personality determines the hullabaloo.

Elizabeth's visit was to be so casual, officially speaking, that President Truman sent her little more than a notice that she would be welcome, which according to diplomatic etiquette, she may never accept officially, lest that be too elaborate.

The presidential plane, Independence, probably will fetch the royal couple to Washington, where they will be Blair House guests for several days beginning Oct. 24.

Trumans Plan Dinner

A dinner for only about 20 guests will be given by the Trumans, followed by a return dinner at the Canadian embassy. Then there will be a garden party at the British embassy, which sounds prim, but could assume the proportions of a circus like that 1939 affair for the royal family.

The next scheduled full-dress state visit will be that of Holland's Juliana and her consort, Prince Bernhard, early in 1952 when the renovated White House with its new suite for national guests will be ready.

The atmosphere here usually forecasts when a visit will be unusually stirring. The excitement over Elizabeth and Philip augurs for the greatest spontaneous welcome since Gen. Douglas MacArthur's.

After visitors arrive on the scene, however, their own personalities gauge much of the response. French President Vincent Auriol and his vivacious wife were unusually charming visitors last spring.

Auriol exclaimed rapturously over every feature of his welcome, including the fact that the "Vive Le President Auriol" posters pictured him in the very tie he wore that particular day!

Other Visitors Come

Hardly having caught its breath after Auriol, Washington greeted in quick succession Chile's samba-dancing international supersalesman, President Gonzales Videla, and Ecuador's United States born football-playing and bull-fighting President Galo Plaza Lasso.

Other visitors this year included Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha of Norway, who made a quiet, dignified impression; Belgium's Premier Joseph Pholien and his wife, and the Liaquat Ali Khan, prime minister of Pakistan.

Last year's star, of course, was the Shah of Iran, who as an eligible bachelor wowed the younger social set, although the diplomatic heavy artillery boomed for President Eurico Gaspar Dutra of Brazil and touchy Prime Minister Nehru of India.

The capital's nervous and volatile population never seems to tire of hailing indiscriminately each newcomer, and only Britain's Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery has in recent years received a welcome that might be described as cool.

All-in-all, it makes for a never-ending pageant, a kind of international magic carpet that Washington never lets get threadbare.

Germany And NATO

The talks in Washington among the American, British, and French foreign ministers are pointed toward the meeting, opening at Ottawa today, of the Council for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. Central in both groups of discussions is the problem of fitting West Germany into the North Atlantic treaty.

No seperate peace with West Germany, like the separate peace signed with Japan at San Francisco on September 8, is involved. For one thing, although most Japanese evidently wanted a peace treaty even without the signatures of China and Russia, most West Germans seem opposed, at this time, to any formal peace settlement with them that perforce excludes East Germany.

Any such settlement formalized in a treaty would seem to West Germany to be accepting the present split-up of the Reich, thus weakening the chances for reunion eventually. On the other hand, new dispatches from Europe indicate that most East Germans are now cherishing little hope for reunion.

What the Ottawa meetings contemplate is a series of contractual arrangements with West Germany. Such contracts, the West Germans will be told, go far toward recognizing the sovereignty of their state. The United States has recently signed similar agreements, for mutual defense, with Japan itself, with the Philippines, and with Australia and New Zealand—sovereign states all—in the framework of pan-Pacific defense.

This issue of German sovereignty is to the forefront in West German politics. The Socialists, leading party in opposition to the Adenauer government, have taken much of an anti-rearmament position. Yet they seem to be pro-rearmament provided Germany is made an equal, rather than a subordinate, in the North Atlantic security set-up. Adenauer himself seems determined to insist almost as strongly as the Socialists on generous economic and financial concessions in return for joining that set-up. Such concessions involve, among other things, the present occupation costs and the Schuman Plan.

The political situation in West Germany was obviously in the minds of the Big Three Foreign Ministers at their meeting in New York a year ago. Their joint communique of September 19, 1950, affirmed that their governments would "treat any attack against the federal government (West Germany) from any quarter as an attack upon themselves."

Another difficulty in bringing West Germany into NATO has been the insistence of France, thrice invaded by Germany within the last 80 years, that the new German armed forces be held down to a specified maximum total. Largely to meet the French position, the Paris Conference on a European army produced last July 24 a 50-year preliminary agreement for a pooled army for the continent of Europe, with a minimum of control by any nation over its own divisions.

The agreement has no force until accepted and ratified by the participating governments. There are still disputes on many details. For instances, the Germans want national identity maintained up to the division level, with their own staff for such divisions. The French have been holding out for national identity at a much lower level. All the same, the West German and the French delegations, along with Italian, Belgian, and Luxemburg ones, joined in signing the July 24 proposal.

Pacing The Sun

The turning of the earth on its axis causes the sun to have an apparent speed of about 600 miles an hour in the mid latitudes. Pacing the sun—flying at a speed from east to west that equals the sun's—is something that has intrigued fliers, scientists and newspaper editors for decades. Within the past few years beating the sun's speed, though, has become old hat.

Chief test pilot Roland Beaumont dropped his twin-jet Canberra bomber on to the airstrip at Gander, Newfoundland, the other day after losing a race with solar time. But it didn't matter, for pacing the sun was hardly the point of the flight. The Canberra is now in the last phases of its tests. It is to be built in quantity in the United States.

The Canberra, however, broke all existing records for the Atlantic crossing from the British Isles. It's average speed for the 2,100 miles was 481 miles an hour. Beaumont bucked headwinds almost the whole way. In the latter stages of the flight they were pushing against the Canberra's sleek nose at 80 knots. The Canberra is a subsonic plane, built to operate at just under the speed of sound. In short, Beaumont could have paced the sun over a short distance had he wanted to.

On August 15, Douglas test pilot Bill Bridgeman flew the Navy's tiny Skyrocket to unprecedented heights—the estimate is better than 76,000 feet. The Navy's announcement on the flight said that Bridgeman was "climbing away from the earth at a speed of 1,000 miles per hour." In fact, Bridgeman had to steepen the angle of climb to save his small rocket fuel supply for climb, rather than speed. In a few years flights over long distances at this speed and better will be possible.

On the basis of these two performances it's safe to say the sun has ceased to be a suitable yardstick. What will be the next goal—the speed of light?

The "Toy" Was Mozart's

Everyone familiar with classical music knows that Franz Joseph Haydn was one of the most prolific, as well as one of the most delightful, of all composers. More than 500 compositions are attributed to his fertile imagination, among them 104 symphonies.

Now the Haydn Society which devotes itself to cataloguing and recording the master's works, says the list is actually a shade too long. It has reached the tentative conclusion that approximately 50 compositions attributed to Haydn were actually written by other men and published under his name by unscrupulous printers to insure a better sale.

Even if this "discovery" is substantiated in the long run, it will not in the least effect "Papa" Haydn's fame. The fame is securely based on reams of some of the most magical and enchanting music ever composed. Probably most of the 50 will never be missed. Excising the 50 from the list of 500 compositions to the credit of Haydn will not detract from his fame.

However, if the disclosure of the Haydn Society is of interest chiefly to professional musicologists, there is one part of the announcement that will startle nearly every child or adult who has ever studied music. That is the society's belief that the "Toy Symphony," that delightful little work designed to be played largely with children's toy instruments, was not written by Haydn but by Mozart's father.

How To Keep Well

Lowering Blood Pressure Thru Diet

Is there a relationship between diet and high blood pressure? This question confronted physicians for generations and at present we are wrestling with the efficacy of the low sodium and rice diets. These regiments are not cureails but they seem to have a good effect in some hypertensive individuals.

Most medical authorities agree that meats, eggs, and other proteins have no effect on the blood pressure. In the past, physicians usually warned their patients not to eat these items because they were thoght to have an adverse influence upon the kidneys. This is understandable; hypertension and kidney trouble were synonymous to the oldtimer. We now know that the two disorders often develop independently and in most instances the kidneys are able to handle the byproducts of proteins even tho the blood pressure is up. Uremia is an exception. As a result there is no need to deny hypertensives the pleasure of ham and eggs for breakfast or a good steak at the evening meal.

Diet also enters the picture when overweight exists. Obesity aggravates high blood pressure and it is easier to bring it down to a respectable level when excess poundage is lost. However, weight reduction does not alter the original cause hence does not cure hypertension. Diets that restrict salt and other nutrients are successful in many instances. Sodium is the offender in salt but because most foods contain this substance it is difficult to eliminate it entirely from our menus.

The rice diet is the most rigid along this line and consists mainly of boiled rice, sugar, and fruit juices. Vitamins are added. The pros and cons of this treatment have been investigated in a number of medical centers thruout the country. It helps three out of four cases but is so monotonous and limited that many users find it impracticable. It is agreed generally that the percentage of sodium need not be restricted to the extent of the rice diet; there must be a middle road that will do as much good without making the patient complain that the remedy is worse than the disease.

A tremendous amount of time, money, and energy goes into the evaluation of a problem of this nature. A group of New York Ctiy specialists, for example, began such an investigation by making daily blood pressure determinations on 86 patients who agreed to stay in the hospital for three weeks on a regular hospital diet. All had high blood pressure and at the end of the survey period the average drop was 8 points in the systolic and 3 in the diastolic pressure. In addition, there was relief of shortness of breath, angina pectoris, dizziness, headache, nausea, vomiting, and swelling of the feet. This part of the study was carried on to demonstrate what ordinary bed rest would do.

Of the original group, 50 consented to remain and take the rice diet. Improvement of symptoms occurred in a far higher number and percentage of the patients on the rice diet than on the previous regimen. Both pressure dropped more than 10 points and in 13 cases there was a decrease of more than 20 points. Seven finished the experiment with pressures within normal ranges. In some, the levels failed to fall and in a few there was a slight rise. To climax the survey, capsules containing salt were administered and within a short time the pressure shot up, indicating that it was salt (sodium) restriction and not the rice, fruit, or rest that made the difference.

TYPES OF FAT

H. N. writes: How does cholestorol differ from other fats?

REPLY

Cholesterol differs from other fats in its chemical structure. It is found in the tissues of animal origin in contrast to vegetable fats such as that found in nuts, olives, peanut butter, soybean oil, cotton seed oil, and vegetable shortening. Rich sources of cholesterol are egg yolk, butter fat, milk, cheese, the fat on meat, and organ meats.

CANKER SORES

M. L. writes: Why do sores develop on my tongue every time I eat nuts?

REPLY

This is not unusual, and allergy apparently is responsible. In other individuals, canker sores follow the use of other types of food. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on these lesions.

THYROID DISORDERS

K. W. writes: What is the difference between low metabolism and goiter?

REPLY

Low metabolism means that the energy production of the body is at a low ebb. Goiter refers to enlargement of the thyroid gland. The two conditions are not necessarily related, one may be present without the other. On the other hand, hypothyroidism is associated with certain types of goiter.

Three Scientists Discover The Secret Of Sunlight; Infantry General Sees No Change In Warfare Methods; Balloon Barrage Disturbed Czech Communists

WASHINGTON—A revolutionary discovery which could make farming unnecessary has been made by three scientists at the National Institute of Health. They have discovered the secret of sunlight. This is behind the recent statement by Dr. James Conant, president of Harvard, that solar energy will surpass atomic energy in the near future.

The scientists, Dr. Dean Burk, a cancer research expert; Martin Schwartz, a biochemist, and Jerome Cornfield, a mathematician, have found an efficient way to release the energy of light in the laboratory. They are growing plant life in test tubes from light, water, carbon dioxide and one-celled algae.

This discovery, based on earlier research by the great Nobel prize winner, Dr. Emil Warburg of Germany, promises to unlock the key to these possibilities:

1. Produce plant life in "food factories" cheaper and more efficiently than present-day farming. Less than one per cent of the sun's energy is utilized now in farming and if food can now be grown by artificial sunlight, the survival problems of such crowded areas as Japan and England could be solved. Japan, with a teeming population and many mountains, has existed in the past chiefly by foreign trade and foreign conquest—though today the American people are spending one billion dollars annually to support her.

England, with an equally dense population and little sunlight, thrived through foreign trade and foreign conquest in the past—now is being subsidized by the American taxpayer.

Growing food by artificial sunlight could change all this—also alleviate the annual starvation of several million people in India.

2. Provide hydrogen gas in unlimited amounts by taking it from water by sunlight.

3. Convert sunlight into electric power. This could make Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and California the great industrial centers of the U.S.A.; could even shift the industrial population from around Pittsburgh and Chicago to the Southwest.

In fact, the discovery shortly to be announced by the National Institute of Health could be more important than that of President Truman after Hiroshima on August 6, 1945.

Kneader of Dough-Boy

Recent statements by President Truman and Senator Young of North Dakota about sensational new war weapons are in sharp contrast to earlier statements by Gen. John E. Church during a joint orientation conference at Fort Benning, Ga.

General Church commands the important Army Infantry School, and after exhibiting infantry weapons to the visiting VIPS, he was asked by Thorndike Saville, dean of engineering of New York University:

"Do you contemplate any change in warfare that might put these weapons out of date?"

"No," replied the General. "Basic warfare hasn't changed in 2,000 years."

"What about the 16-inch guns on naval vessels that never fired a shot in the last war-" pursued Dean Saville.

Church had no immediate comeback; but when asked if strategic bombing was not a basic new development of warfare, the genial General replied:

"Oh, that's just the same thing Light Horse Harry Lee did behind the lines in the Civil War."

Later when a visitor remarked that the group had been much impressed with the air force, General Church shot back: "Oh, they just kill four or five people on a raid, we're the ones who do the real job in war."

NOTE—Fellow officers of amiable Johnny Church recall that during World War I his greatest ambition was to go back to John Wanamaker's department store in Philadelphia—where he was once a packer—and become chief packer. However, he stayed on in the Army and gradually climbed the promotion ladder, though almost skipping a rung when he ordered U.S. troops out of Seoul in June, 1950, before the enemy was even near. He then had to go back and reoccupy the city, but having recovered this fumble, Church is now at Fort Benning making statements about putting the dough-boy back on foot.

"Manure" In Czechoslovakia

With the AP's William Oatis locked up in jail and with it dangerous to send other American newsmen into Czechoslovakia, it's been difficult to get accurate reaction to the barrage of friendship-freedom balloons sent across the iron curtain to the Czech people.

However, Czech Prime Minister Antonin Zapotocky tipped his hand recently with conclusive evidence that the friendship messages were hurting. He made a violent speech in parliament bitterly attacking the balloons.

"We are building our defense," he said. "We are detecting spies and assassins. We sentence them and give them the punishment they deserve (probably referring to Oatis). We will save our harvest. No American beetles will destroy it.

"Our people will be affected still less by experimental balloons filled with press manure.

"They cannot attack us openly as they have done in Korea, so they try to infect our country with rabble and filth. They smuggle saboteurs, spies, assassins and American beetles into our country—or at least balloons with propoganda leaflets.

"Everything brought to us by the Western winds is just filth and dirt. But this will not disturb us and make us panic."

Other information smuggled out by Czech refugees indicates that Communist authorities were greatly disturbed by the leaflets. A total of 14,000,000 were launched from Bavaria 10 miles from the Czech border and reports are that so many of these rained down over the big cities of Prague and Pilsen that some streets were literally white.

The most important thing the leaflets did was to remind the Czech people that they were not forgotten. Refugees I have talked to report that, in view of Moscow's propaganda pounding home the opposite, this is the most vital thing we can do.

The two Chinese who have been trying to clean up graft in purchasing arms by the Chinese Nationalists have received all sorts of offers of compromise if they would drop their campaign.

Col. Hsiang Wei-hsuan, who appealed to Madame Chiank Kai-shek to stop the graft, says that he received an offer of half a million dollars from an intermediary, if he would "be reasonable."

Meanwhile, Lt. Gen. P. T. Mow, who is related by marriage to the Generalissimo through his first wife, was summoned to a meeting with a brother-in-law of the Generalissimo who has kept in the background in these matters for some time, but asked that General Mow meet him at a mutual friend's house.

Fearing a possible doublecross, Mow took his wife and son with him. The conversation remained guarded, however, and brought forth no offers of compromise.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What should have happened a year ago has finally happened—Robert A. Lovett has been made Secretary of Defense. And what should also have happened a year ago—namely, the appointment of General Marshall to active duty as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—didn't happen then and, as a consequence, nothing has been done to reorganize the Joint Chiefs and make it as effective as the top military body of the nation ought to be.

When setting up the present structure for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Congress adopted a compromise plan that was a hodge-podge. At present the heads of the three armed services have operational responsibilities in connection with their own services and are, nevertheless, looked to by the President and the Secretary of Defense and Congress to do an over-all planning job for the strategy of a future war as well as the current war in Korea.

Tried To Meet Criticism

George Marshall is a great American. Few men in the last half century have won such esteem here and such affection among people inside and outside of public life. The job of Secretary of Defense, however, was one of overwhelming responsibility on the administrative side. It is a task to which, with all due respect for the General, Mr. Lovett could bring more experience than his distinguished predecessor. But President Truman was in a political spot a year ago. Criticism of Louis Johnson, then Secretary of Defense, had become widespread, especially after the outbreak of the Korean War, and hence Mr. Truman was trying by the appointment of General Marshall to meet that criticism. An exception had to be made by Congress to the law which it had passed barring from appointment to the post of Secretary of Defense any man who had been in the regular military service during the preceding 10 years.

By amending the law a bad precedent was established. As was said then in these dispatches, General Marshall was the logical man to take over the work of coordinating the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but some man with a civilian background should have been found for the task of Secretary of Defense.

One disadvantage always was that so long as Mr. Marshall held five-star rank, it didn't matter whether he wore civilian clothes, the members of the Joint Chiefs thought of him as a military chieftain who outranked them all. General Marshall was quite aware of this and leaned over backward to avoid any appearance of imposing his military judgments on the Joint Chiefs.

While the appointment of General Marshall to the Defense post helped Mr. Truman politically, it took quite a toll from the retiring General. He should have been permitted to enjoy the retired life which he had so clearly earned by his past service to his country.

It will be recalled that Mr. Marshall has had very little rest since World War II ended in 1945. He had served as a special envoy to China in times of extraordinary trouble and difficulty, and he was then appointed Secretary of State—again a job to which he gave his best efforts but which was plainly out of his line of experience.

Owed Nation's Thanks

A military man should be permitted to stick to his last. If General Marshall had been allowed as an adviser along with other five-star generals to concentrate on strictly military phases of our postwar problems, the nation would have been benefited far more and perhaps the whole military program would have been farther ahead.

As it was, he was saddled with administrative duties and contacts with procurement and personnel problems and a thousand and one details of the job of running the biggest department in Washington.

The nation owes a debt of thanks to General Marshall for his unselfish efforts in public service, and particularly for his insistence that his term as Secretary of Defense be limited to the year or so that he specified in the first place. For now the way has been opened not only for a civilian as Secretary of Defense, but for the early reorganization of the Joint Chiefs of Staff — the most important and yet the most neglected phase of our present military program.

These Days

The Next Step

Empires expand because a political vacuum is intolerable. When an expanding empire encounters resistance, such as Napoleon's did in the march to Moscow, it must speedily divert the attention not only of its people but of its satellites from a real failure to a dramatic even if only an apparent victory. Otherwise the empire begins to suffer on its periphery from revolts, civil wars, local nationalisms. This pattern is so usual that it might be accepted as a guide to imperialistic conduct.

This is to be noted:

1. In the year 1951 thus far, with the exception of Tibet, Soviet Russia has made no gains. Between 1938 and 1951, Soviet Russia's territorial gains were rhythmically regular.

2. The program for expansion into Korea, Burma and French Indo-China has been arrested.

3. Politically, Soviet Russia has encountered among her European satellites a rising nationalism which Marxist doctrines cannot void as long as Tito stands his ground.

4. At San Francisco, Soviet Russia suffered a major diplomatic defeat, not as much because a treaty with Japan was signed by 48 nations, but because the leadership of Nehru in Asia was proved to be bankrupt, only Burma going along with India in opposition to American leadership.

The fact that Ceylon, Indonesia, and the two French Indo-Chinese nations as well as Pakistan and the Arab states signed this treaty gives evidence that the results of the tremendous labors of the Russians in Asia are unsatisfactory.

Russia must act swiftly if this defeat at San Francisco, following upon the failures in Korea and French Indo-China, is not to impress itself too vitally upon such a country as China.

Gromyko gave the show away when, in answer to a question, he said that Soviet Russia had no ambassador in Japan but a military mission. He was, of course, correct, because countries which are not sovereign do not receive ambassadors. Under the terms set forth at Potsdam (July 17-August 2, 1945) and Moscow (December 16-26, 1945), Japan was an occupied country until the signing and ratification of the San Francisco treaty.

At these conferences, the nature of the occupation was organized. A Far Eastern Commission was established consisting of the representatives of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, United Kingdom, United States, China, France, the Netherlands, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, and the Philippine Commonwealth. Also an Allied Council for Japan was established consisting of the supreme commander (or his deputy), who shall be chairman and United States member; a Union of Soviet Socialist Republics member; a Chinese member; and a member representing jointly the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, and India.

The Allied Council for Japan actually occupied Japan and set up the agencies for its government under the chairmanship of General Douglas MacArthur. Member-states maintained military missions in Tokyo.

At San Francisco, both the commission and the council were abolished and Japan became a sovereign nation by the decision of 48 nations, including member-states of both the commission and council, except Russia, India and China.

China was not included because the United States could not accept Soviet China and the British would not accept Nationalist China. India operates in the diplomatic field as a Kremlin affiliate. Russia refused to sign.

The United States, however, will maintain its military mission in Tokyo by virtue of a bilateral agreement between Japan and the United States by the terms of which an American military force remains to defend Japan until that country is able to defend herself.

Under the San Francisco treaty, Russia should withdraw her military mission from Tokyo. But Russia has rejected that treaty and has fallen back on the Potsdam and Moscow agreements, which are no longer binding upon the United States, Great Britain, Japan or any other signatory of San Francisco. In terms of international law, Japan, a sovereign state, could order the Russian military mission out of its country. It could pick up that mission and dump it in Siberia.

Russia could use such an issue as a casus belli. As Japan has no military force, such a war would be against the United States. It could develop into a general war.

If Soviet Russia permits this situation to go by default, it will have to do something about its military mission in Japan, which now has no status. That mission was not designated to the Japanese government but to the Allied Council for Japan. That council is now out of existence. As Russia has no treaty with Japan, it has no right to send an ambassador to that country.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON — It is going to be hard to keep the visit here next month of British Princess Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, the Duke of Elinburgh, within the limited bounds they have requested.

Although planned only as a brief side tour after the full-dress coast-to-coast state tour that the royal couple will pay to Canada, it somehow always is compared here with the fabulous 1939 visit of the King and Queen of England.

Serving as host to VIPs from abroad has become a habit which the nation's capital adores. A bespangled tour down Pennsylvania Avenue toward the White House, flanked by motorcycle cops 20 abreast from curb to curb, now is as much a welcoming badge for Uncle Sam as a New York ticker tape reception.

Washington's visitors are chiefly political, and their calls either are "informal" or state occasions. Technically, it decides the way the welcome mat is rolled out, but actually the magnitude of the personality determines the hullabaloo.

Elizabeth's visit was to be so casual, officially speaking, that President Truman sent her little more than a notice that she would be welcome, which according to diplomatic etiquette, she may never accept officially, lest that be too elaborate.

The presidential plane, Independence, probably will fetch the royal couple to Washington, where they will be Blair House guests for several days beginning Oct. 24.

Trumans Plan Dinner

A dinner for only about 20 guests will be given by the Trumans, followed by a return dinner at the Canadian embassy. Then there will be a garden party at the British embassy, which sounds prim, but could assume the proportions of a circus like that 1939 affair for the royal family.

The next scheduled full-dress state visit will be that of Holland's Juliana and her consort, Prince Bernhard, early in 1952 when the renovated White House with its new suite for national guests will be ready.

The atmosphere here usually forecasts when a visit will be unusually stirring. The excitement over Elizabeth and Philip augurs for the greatest spontaneous welcome since Gen. Douglas MacArthur's.

After visitors arrive on the scene, however, their own personalities gauge much of the response. French President Vincent Auriol and his vivacious wife were unusually charming visitors last spring.

Auriol exclaimed rapturously over every feature of his welcome, including the fact that the "Vive Le President Auriol" posters pictured him in the very tie he wore that particular day!

Other Visitors Come

Hardly having caught its breath after Auriol, Washington greeted in quick succession Chile's samba-dancing international supersalesman, President Gonzales Videla, and Ecuador's United States born football-playing and bull-fighting President Galo Plaza Lasso.

Other visitors this year included Crown Prince Olaf and Princess Martha of Norway, who made a quiet, dignified impression; Belgium's Premier Joseph Pholien and his wife, and the Liaquat Ali Khan, prime minister of Pakistan.

Last year's star, of course, was the Shah of Iran, who as an eligible bachelor wowed the younger social set, although the diplomatic heavy artillery boomed for President Eurico Gaspar Dutra of Brazil and touchy Prime Minister Nehru of India.

The capital's nervous and volatile population never seems to tire of hailing indiscriminately each newcomer, and only Britain's Field Marshal Bernard L. Montgomery has in recent years received a welcome that might be described as cool.

All-in-all, it makes for a never-ending pageant, a kind of international magic carpet that Washington never lets get threadbare.

"Tinless" Tin Can Developed

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13. (AP)—A man sat at his desk, toying with a thin, shiny sheet of metal. Idly, he rolled the sheet into a cylinder. Suddenly he sat upright and said:

"My gosh! I've got it."

And that, J. Louis Reynolds said today, was how he happened upon the idea of the "tinless" tin can—a new light container for food and other products. It's made of aluminum coated with a plastic.

W. Stuart Symington, chief of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, made the first announcement at Washington of the new product developed by Reynolds Metals Company. The government's interest stems from the fact that the price of tin imported by the U. S. since the start of the war in Korea has skyrocketed by about 500 per cent.

The RFC director, who controls all tin imports which come mainly from Bolivia and Malaya, said the new combination of aluminum and plastic could be as important as the development of synthetic rubber during World War 2. And, as a competitive product, it might tend to soften the world price of tin.

The process consists of coating aluminum sheets with plastic and bonding them under pressure and heat. The thickness is a matter of choice, depending upon the product to be canned. Extra layers of aluminum and plastic for stronger containers, fewer for thinner ones.

Negro, 59, May Stand Trial For 1933 Slaying

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 13 (AP) — An aging negro accused in 1933 of a murder with musical accompaniment may stand trial at last.

Patrick Diggs, 59, is in Anne Arundel County jail.

He disappeared 18 years ago after the pistol slaying of one Mack Cooper, who also went by the name of Jenkins. The victim was shot as he played his guitar in a now tumbledown farm house near Glen Burnie.

The sheriff's docket reports Diggs was "presented with the murder" by a grand jury in 1933. About the same time he disappeared.

Diggs was all but a forgotten man when he got in trouble again in 1947. He was arrested and sentenced to four years in Philadelphia for burglary. Fingerprint records labeled him a fugitive. Maryland filed a detainer against him. He was brought back to Annapolis two months ago today.

Police Capt. Wilbur Wade and Sgt. John Praley renewed the probe of Cooper's murder.

170,000 East Germans Purged By Communists

BERLIN, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Russian zone's "thought police" have finished a six months housecleaning job which has cost 170,000 East Germans their membership in the ruling Socialist Unity (Communist) Party.

Party circles disclosed the total today. The membership now totals 1,600,000, a 10 to 12 per cent drop from a year ago.

Pure Moscow disciples handled the purge through commissions which examined every member.

The test for each member was how much he knew about Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin and how well he showed that he believed in the Red scheme of things. Examinations were oral and the commissions reached their conclusions on the basis of what they thought the members thought.

Oldtimers Leave Erie, Pa., On Fifth Leg Of Auto Race

ERIE, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—Two oldtimers, still trying to decide whether a gasoline or steam driven auto is the fastest, pulled out of Erie tonight in a blinding rainstorm on the fifth leg of a Chicago-to-New York race.

Rube De Launty, 70, driving a 1911 Stoddard Dayton, led the race by approximately 45 minutes of elapsed time as he headed for Buffalo, N. Y., about 90 miles away.

Jack Brause, 76, operator of a 1913 Stanley Steamer, complained he's losing time because service stations aren't geared to handle his car. They can't pump enough water into the steam tank, he says.

Alaska Bombers, Unit Grounded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Navy has grounded one of its patrol bomber squadrons on the Alaskan military frontier with Russia, as the aftermath of recent crashes.

Patrol Squadron 9 was ordered out of the air temporarily for "morale reasons," Francis P. Whitehair, undersecretary of the Navy, said in a letter today to Rep. Mitchell (D-Wash).

The Squadron was hit by three of the four crashes of Navy Privateer bombers which have cost 45 lives in the Alaska area during recent weeks.

A special board of inquiry is investigating the "baffling" and "distressing" accidents, Whitehair said. Mitchell had requested the grounding of all naval Privateers until circumstances of the tragedies have been explored.

Bank Cashier Held For Embezzling $550,000

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13 (AP)—FBI agents today arrested the 60-year-old assistant cashier of the First National Bank of New Kensington, charging him with embezzling about $550,000 from the bank in the last 22 years.

The defendant is William Paul Smeltzer, who had been employed in the bank in the nearby Western Pennsylvania community since 1927.

It was the second major bank defalcation charged in the town in recent weeks. Ludwig Schlekat, president of the Parnassus National Bank at New Kensington, was released on $50,000 bond only a few days ago on charges of embezzling $600,000.

Czech Flights Over West Germany Barred

FRANKFURT, Germany, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Western Allies have forbidden further flights across West Germany by the government air line of Communist Czechoslovakia, which is at odds with them over the Oatis case and other issues.

The air ban went into effect without publicity at midnight Tuesday, it was confirmed today. Czech planes must make long detours over the Soviet occupation zone to the Baltic if they attempt to continue flying to Western capitals such as Brussels and Amsterdam.

Whether they will make the attempt was not clear. The scheduled flight of a Czech plane to Amsterdam today was cancelled.

The first steel from Venezuelan sponge iron was produced by a Canadian company in Montreal in May, 1951.

U. S. Or Jap Recognition Of Peiping Opposed By Senators, Truman Told

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Fifty-six senators, both Democrats and Republicans, told President Truman today they are opposed to either the U. S. or Japan recognizing Communist China or Japan making a treaty with the Chinese Reds.

"As members of the United States Senate," said a joint letter to the President and released by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), "we are opposed to the recognition of Communist China by the government of the United States or its admission into the United Nations."

Knowland told a news conference he began circulating the letter among senators at noon yesterday and that all of the 55 he asked to sign it with him did so.

"I wanted to get the letter to the White House while the Big 3 foreign ministers are meeting here," Knowland said. "Lack of time prevented me from putting the letter before additional senators."

British Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman are here discussing European problems with Secretary of State Acheson.

"Prior to the submission of the Japanese treaty to the Senate," the letter stated in reference to Japan, "we desire to make it clear that we would consider the recognition of Communist China by Japan or the negotiating of a bilateral treaty with the Communist Chinese regime to be averse to the best interests of the people of both Japan and the United States."

3-State Defense Pact Backed By Virginia

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 13 (AP)—The attorney-general's office revealed today that Virginia has given "tentative approval" to a mutual civil defense pact with Maryland, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

The pact will not be legally binding until approved by the legislatures of the states involved.

Senate Unit Approves Lovett's Nomination

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—Robert A. Lovett's nomination as secretary of defense was swiftly approved by the Senate Armed Forces Committee today.

Sen: Flanders (R-Vt), emerging from a private session of the committee, reported the vote was unanimous. He said no one voiced any criticism of the 56-year-old former banker, or of his actions as a government official.

President Truman named Lovett yesterday to succeed Gen. George C. Marshall, who, at the age of 70, is retiring to his home in Virginia. Lovett has been serving as Marshall's deputy.

Melon Without Seeds Developed

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 13 (AP)—Soon you can sink your teeth into a refrigerator-size watermelon without bothering about all those pesky seeds.

Purdue University has developed such a melon. Commercial seedsmen will have it next year.

The new melon has only two or three seeds. It's round and weighs eight to ten pounds.

Grady Gore May Seek O'Conor's Senate Seat

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13. (AP)—H Grady Gore, Montgomery County businessman, tonight announced he is a "probable" candidate for the Republican national nomination to the U. S. Senate next year.

He told the Alexander Hamilton Republican Club here he would remain a "probable" candidate until he completed a survey of the state "to be sure there is a definite demand" for his candidacy.

The six-year term of Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor, Democrat, expires next year.

Helen Heuer Is Honored At Luncheon And Shower

Is Fiancee Of Robert E. Moore

Miss Kitty Weber and Miss Louise Wilson entertained in compliment to Miss Helen Heuer, yesterday. A luncheon was held at the Ali Ghan Country Club, followed by a surprise miscellaneous shower.

Miss Heuer, daughter of Mrs. Paul Heuer, 811 Bedford Street, and the late Mr. Heuer, is the fiancee of Robert E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene V. Moore, Celina, Ohio. Their wedding is to be solemnized September 22.

The hostesses yesterday carried out the bridal motif in their decorations, with the bridal party represented in flowers. A bridal bouquet was at the head of the table with pastel streamers and miniature corsages in series of two extending the length of the table.

A flower basket trimmed in blossoms contained the shower gifts.

Guests were Mrs. Charles Nuzum, Mrs. Robert King, Mrs. James Avirett, Mrs. John Cupler, II, Mrs. George Young, Mrs. John McClure, Jr., Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, Mrs. John McAlpine, Mrs. James Black, Mrs. John Hafer, Mrs. Robert Mann, Mrs. Lloyd Buchanan, Mrs. Myron Landis, Mrs. James Stafford, Mrs. Howard Hoyle, Mrs. James White, Mrs. Dolly Smith, Mrs. John Botzum, Mrs. William Zollinger, Mrs. W. Earle Cobey and Mrs. Kenneth Morgan.

Elliott Memorial WSCS Has Hat Sale

Mrs. Rowena Hall was hostess to members of Elliott Memorial Woman's Society of Christian Service at the parsonage, last evening. Following a short business meeting a hat sale was held. Pictures were taken of the members modeling the hats they bought.

Devotionals were led by Mrs. Mildred Kirby, who used as her topic, "Membership." For the Scripture reading she used the ninth chapter of Matthew and the sixth chapter of Isiah. She closed with the 145th Psalm of Prayer.

Miss Ilda Leasure, Missionary secretary, directed a short playlet entitled, "Cast Thy Bread." Those taking part were Miss Georgia Flora, Miss Betty Drake, Mrs. Dorothy Wilson, and Mrs. Margaret Flora. The hymn, "Cast Thy Bread upon the Waters," was read by Miss Leasure.

Following the business session games were played under the direction of Mrs. Mary Stewart.

Others present were Mrs. Alice Yeider, Mrs. Myrtha Ryan, Mrs. Edith Flora, Mrs. Sophia Miller, Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle, Mrs. Lottie Leasure, Mrs. Jean Baird and Mrs. Mary Stewart.

Louisiana, in 1922, became the first state in the Union to recognize a bird officially. It included a brown pelican on its seal.

Snowflakes can be four inches in diameter.

Returning to Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., for their senior year are two Cumberland students; Miss Carolyn Bowie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Bowie, 723 Washington Street; and Miss Elizabeth Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shriver, Hill Crest Drive.

Stephens is opening for its 119th Fall term, September 17.

Circle Sends Gift Box, Plans Party

Members of the Catherine Eye Circle of Melvin Methodist Church brought articles to send to the George O. Robinson Home, Puerto Rico, at the back-to-school picnic, recently in the recreation hall.

Plans were formulated for a Halloween party. It will be held October 25 at 7 p. m., in the recreation hall. Saving coins for the church building fund was selected for the monthly project. The next meeting will be October 4, at 7 p. m., at the hall with Mary and Carol Newman co-hostesses. Roll call will be a story or work of Christ's healing.

Carol Newman presided. The worship theme was "Why Should I go to Church?" Scripture reading and prayer were by Mary Newman. "For the Beauty of the Earth," "The Church's One Foundation," and "I'll Go Where You Want Me To Go," were sung by the group.

Others present were Anna Zais, Marjory Hardinger, Arlene Hardinger, Donna Willison, Martha Rice, Louise Perdew, Edith Streett, Sharon Day, Ruth Ann Souders, Donna Northcraft, Nancy Curry, Betty Ferguson, Olive Stewart, Melva Eckers, Regina Eyler and two visitors, Nancy Stewart and Twilla Acres.

Allegany NAA Homecoming To Be Oct. 13

Benefit Dance Planned For Nov.

The Allegany Hospital Nurses Alumnae Association formulated plans for the biennial homecoming and a benefit dance at the first meeting after the Summer recess, held Wednesday evening at the nurses' home. Mrs. Grace Moore presided.

Final plans were formulated for the fourth biennial Homecoming celebration. It will be held October 13, beginning with a buffet supper at 6 p. m., October 13.

Every nurse graduated from Allegany Hospital School of Nursing is invited to attend.

A special program is to be presented and Miss Anna Ketzner was named chairman of the Program committee. She is to be assisted by Miss Genevieve Hogan, Mrs. Alice Stakem, Mrs. Catherine Rhoe, Mrs. Stella Sell, Mrs. Alice Deffenbaugh, Mrs. Carmelita Fleming, Mrs. Grace Moore and Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis.

A committee meeting will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Sell, 600 Linden Street.

It was decided to give a Fall benefit dance, sometime in November, instead of having the usual Halloween party.

Mrs. Sell was appointed to the regular Program committee of the association, replacing Mrs. Rose Marie Harbaugh Miller, who moved from the city.

Routine business was transacted and a letter of appreciation from the candidate for the nurse's scholarship, was read.

For the first time in the history of the association an entire class joined the association, when every member of the class of 1951 enrolled.

A social hour concluded the meeting and refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be October 10.

Gleaners Class Meets

The Gleaners Class of the Oldtown Methodist Sunday School began its Fall and Winter program at a meeting earlier in the week at the church. Roll call was answered with members giving suggestions for "A Way To Make Our Sunday School and Church Grow."

A worship service was conducted by Mrs. Kathleen Summers, teacher. She used as her theme, John, 12 Chapter 32 verse, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." Mrs. Leo Keyser and Mrs. Charles Hymes read the Scripture, John 12 Chapter. Prayer was by Mrs. Arge Crabtree, reading, "Do I take so much time making a living that I do not have time to make a life?"

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Summers, October 8, at 7:30 p. m.

Others attending were Mrs. Mary Dolan, Mrs. John Zimmerman, Mrs. Helen Roberson, Mrs. Ella Alderton, Mrs. Lee Schaidt, Mrs. Lester Hough, Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. Littlefield Nixon, Mrs. Minnie Lewis, and Mrs. Dorothy Devore.

White, president of Lodge 267; Barnard Savage, Baltimore, regional counsel; C. L. Nichols, Cleveland, Ohio, general chairman; Mrs. C. T. Williams, C. T. Williams, superintendent of Cumberland division, John J. Long, commissioner of Police and Fire; and Mrs. Long. Retired members were among the honor guests and the grand Lodge 55 year pin was presented to E. A. Kelley, Keyser.

Mary Riggleman Is Honored Guest At Pre-Nuptial Party

Is Fiancee Of Pvt. R. L. Frye

The last of the pre-nuptial parties in compliment to Miss Mary Riggleman, was given by Miss Louise Cessna and Miss Kathleen Dougherty, Wednesday evening. It was held at Miss Cessna's home, Shade's Lane, in the form of a surprise miscellaneous shower.

Miss Riggleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip L. Riggleman, 33 Potomac Street, Ridgeley, is the fiancee of Pvt. Robert Lee Frye, Camp Breckenridge, Ky., son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Frye, 223 Arch Street. She will become his bride tomorrow evening with the wedding ceremony being solemnized in Centre Street Methodist Church.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out in the party decorations with two large pink crepe paper hearts as the central decoration. The same motif was repeated in the pink heart, inscribed with PE in recognition with the bride-elect being an employe of the company. Pink and white streamers extended the length of the table and the shower gifts were arranged around the heart.

Canasta and informal entertainment featured the evening.

Guests were Miss Sadie McIntosh, Miss Patricia Lynch, Miss Norma Wilson, Miss Lenore Cross, Miss Patricia Carney, Mrs. Mary Hensel, Miss Louise Morris, Miss Anna May Youngblood, Miss Marian Spies, Miss Jacqueline Breedlove, Mrs. Cullen McGady and Mrs. L. C. Cessna.

SS. Peter And Paul PTA To Install Officers

SS. Peter and Paul School Parent-Teacher Association will resume activities after the Summer recess, meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the hall meeting room.

Edward Brookman will preside and with the other new officers will be installed. Committees are to be named and plans outlined for the year.

A social hour will conclude the meeting and refreshments are to be served.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Harrison, 15 North Johnson Street; Miss Rose Schmutz, 415½ Washington Street; Harold Harrison, Hannibal, Ohio; and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Blackburn, 413½ Washington Street have returned after a vacation to Williamsburg, Va., and the Eastern Shore.

Marriage Is Announced

Miss Erma Washington Valentine, daughter of William T. Valentine, 1115 Bedford Street, became the bride of Kermit Robert Andrews, 424 North Mechanic Street, son of John Andrews, 412 Walnut Street, September 8.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized by Rev. George A. Baughman in his home in LaVale. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Elliott were their attendants.

The bride was attired in a blue dress with which she wore matching accessories. Her matron of honor wore a cocoa brown costume.

Both the bride and bridegroom graduated from Union Street School. Until her resignation, the bride was employed by the Sterling Electric Company. The bridegroom is employed on the flood project by George and Lynch Company. Mr. and Mrs. Andrews are residing with her father.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

If that half-million dollar bribe case the FBI's been checking on is presented to the federal grand jury in your nation's capital, it'll make more of a stink than any mink, more of a sneeze than any deep freeze, more of a boil than Boyle's RFC stew.

AUSTINE

Even in depressing Moscow love found a way . . . And U. S. ambassador to the Kremlin, Alan G. Kirk, gave the bride away . . . It was the mating season for two of his embassy's staff, Miss Jane Breckenbridge and Commander Edwin Edwards, the assistant Naval attache . . . Without much splash, they plunged into matrimony in an embassy ceremony just a few days ago.

Two private palaces built in the golden era of entertainment, within two blocks of each other, will soon step out together, all fancied up with new paint, plaster and decorations . . . The carpenters move out and the club members move in . . . The Washington Club for women into Eleanor Medill Patterson's duPont Circle mansion, and intellectual men's Cosmos Club into the late Mrs. Sumner Welles' . . . Pretty soon the White House will be the only white elephant left with a family living in it . . . Incidentally, the Truman family plans to sepnd Christmas in the renovated mansion . . . Naturally, administration supporters think it's fitting and proper that the First Lady should be doing most of the decorating for their living quarters and her boudoir, but some Republican meanies are muttering against it . . . One GOP senator even said, "That First Lady is an elderly Cinderella who finds herself in the White House due to the waving of a political wand by a Prince Pendergast."

Anyhow, as mistress of the White House, Bess Truman's household bills cost $2,600,000 of the taxpayers' money . . . The White House costs four times as much to run as when the Roosevelt family lived there . . . Eleanor's budget leaped from over $300,000 to almost $600,000 . . . Now Bess spends 2 million more than that.

Still on the Trumans—when plump Mrs. came back to Blair House with a box of candy the other day, Secret Service men had a conniption . . . Each year it seems the Secret Service checks every store in the Capital where the Presidential family has ever shopped, or might shop . . . They check entrances, exits, employes, and in stores that handle perishables or food of any kind, the Secret Service meticulously watches to be sure no poisoned bonbons or bombs slip into packages.

After these checks the Secret Service prepares highly confidential lists of the places where it's "safe" for the Presidential family to shop . . . And Mrs. Truman had bought her candy in a confectionery store not on the approved list.

From Secret Service to T-Men—A Special Treasury Department guard tails Henry Morgenthau, Jr., whenever he comes to town to chin with the last remaining old New Dealers . . . He requests, and gets, a special courtesy bodyguard even though he no longer handles our money as Secretary of the Treasury . . . And what is he doing here anyway?

Whenever United Automobile Workers' Walter Reuther visits Capital Hill (which is seldom enough) he gets a special guide and sidekick . . . Senator Blair Moody hurries to pal with the union boss, almost as fast as Southern senators hurry to the floor when they hear cotton's to be debated.

Several members of Congress from the South and far West have been using their free mailing privileges to send laundry and summer clothes back to their home towns . . . At least, so bitterly complain some of the postmasters in the Senate and House postoffices.

The pin-neat, cherub-cheerful daughter of a Baptist minister, Mrs. Omar Burleson, planked down $1,500 for a luncheon the other week, including Mrs. Harry Truman and Mrs. Alben Barkley . . . Mrs. Burleson didn't bat one of her pretty brown eyes . . . Picking up checks is her pleasure . . . And though she admits it's a lot of fun entertaining on such a large scale, she has some higher mathematics to deal with . . . For, as treasurer for the Congressional Club, composed of wives of past and present members of Congress, Mrs. Burleson (wife of a Texas congressman herself) has been paying the club bills successfully for the past five months.

But even rarer than a lady who balances her accounts, Mrs. Burleson is also a licensed lady embalmer! . . . One of the few female undertakers in America, she carefully renews her license each year!

Which just goes to prove what I've always said: If you're from Texas, and a minister's daughter, and cheerful, and a lady embalmer, and the wife of a congressman—you can become treasurer of the Congressional Club!

To achieve fall's new shape smoothly and swiftly get yourself fitted with one of the new waistline cinchers!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

Something old has been added to the fashion picture, and it's the newest thing a-going! A waist-nipping cincher!

The cinched waistline is the one thing that all new fashions have in common. Suits are cut to nip the waist. Dresses are snugly girdled, belted, or corseletted. And the dark horse of the season is a coat that is decidedly fitted to the waistline.

Especially For You

Unless you have a handspan waist (and who has in this day and age?) you'll want an assist in that area to simulate tininess and to help your figure flow smoothly under your new bell-shaped clothes. Whatever your girth may be, you'll find the corsetiers have already anticipated your problem.

If you boast the waist divine, one of the new waist cinchers will turn the trick for you. The type for which the Powers Girls report preference is a combination girdle and cinch built of very light-weight elastic, that provides hip and diaphragm control along with the waist trimming.

For the slim or average figure to wear under evening clothes, decollete tops with bouffant skirts, there are cinchers equipped with a bra and garters. But as a word to the wise, have yours fitted so that it does not squeeze the breath out of you!

New, Efficient Construction

For the less-than-slight figure, there are high-built girdles worn with long-line brassieres, or all-in-ones with extra reinforcement at the waistline. Take your choice. To get your share of the new comfort and greater ease of movement built into some of them, look for those with a minimum of boning. In the best designs, boning has been replaced by stitched or elastic bands so strategically inset that they do a skillful job of attenuating all of the figure lines.

If you are a bit girthier than you could wish, hie yourself to your corsetiere and inquire about the full treatment. You'll be delighted with the transformation an expertly selected garment can make in your figure.

In any case, you will only have to glance at the delicate-looking, feminine materials and trims in which these new restrainers are made to understand why they are the exactly right underscoring for the feminine, wedding-band waists!

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.—Adv.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

If that half-million dollar bribe case the FBI's been checking on is presented to the federal grand jury in your nation's capital, it'll make more of a stink than any mink, more of a sneeze than any deep freeze, more of a boil than Boyle's RFC stew.

AUSTINE

Even in depressing Moscow love found a way . . . And U. S. ambassador to the Kremlin, Alan G. Kirk, gave the bride away . . . It was the mating season for two of his embassy's staff, Miss Jane Breckenbridge and Commander Edwin Edwards, the assistant Naval attache . . . Without much splash, they plunged into matrimony in an embassy ceremony just a few days ago.

Two private palaces built in the golden era of entertainment, within two blocks of each other, will soon step out together, all fancied up with new paint, plaster and decorations . . . The carpenters move out and the club members move in . . . The Washington Club for women into Eleanor Medill Patterson's duPont Circle mansion, and intellectual men's Cosmos Club into the late Mrs. Sumner Welles' . . . Pretty soon the White House will be the only white elephant left with a family living in it . . . Incidentally, the Truman family plans to sepnd Christmas in the renovated mansion . . . Naturally, administration supporters think it's fitting and proper that the First Lady should be doing most of the decorating for their living quarters and her boudoir, but some Republican meanies are muttering against it . . . One GOP senator even said, "That First Lady is an elderly Cinderella who finds herself in the White House due to the waving of a political wand by a Prince Pendergast."

Anyhow, as mistress of the White House, Bess Truman's household bills cost $2,600,000 of the taxpayers' money . . . The White House costs four times as much to run as when the Roosevelt family lived there . . . Eleanor's budget leaped from over $300,000 to almost $600,000 . . . Now Bess spends 2 million more than that.

Still on the Trumans—when plump Mrs. came back to Blair House with a box of candy the other day, Secret Service men had a conniption . . . Each year it seems the Secret Service checks every store in the Capital where the Presidential family has ever shopped, or might shop . . . They check entrances, exits, employes, and in stores that handle perishables or food of any kind, the Secret Service meticulously watches to be sure no poisoned bonbons or bombs slip into packages.

After these checks the Secret Service prepares highly confidential lists of the places where it's "safe" for the Presidential family to shop . . . And Mrs. Truman had bought her candy in a confectionery store not on the approved list.

From Secret Service to T-Men—A Special Treasury Department guard tails Henry Morgenthau, Jr., whenever he comes to town to chin with the last remaining old New Dealers . . . He requests, and gets, a special courtesy bodyguard even though he no longer handles our money as Secretary of the Treasury . . . And what is he doing here anyway?

Whenever United Automobile Workers' Walter Reuther visits Capital Hill (which is seldom enough) he gets a special guide and sidekick . . . Senator Blair Moody hurries to pal with the union boss, almost as fast as Southern senators hurry to the floor when they hear cotton's to be debated.

Several members of Congress from the South and far West have been using their free mailing privileges to send laundry and summer clothes back to their home towns . . . At least, so bitterly complain some of the postmasters in the Senate and House postoffices.

The pin-neat, cherub-cheerful daughter of a Baptist minister, Mrs. Omar Burleson, planked down $1,500 for a luncheon the other week, including Mrs. Harry Truman and Mrs. Alben Barkley . . . Mrs. Burleson didn't bat one of her pretty brown eyes . . . Picking up checks is her pleasure . . . And though she admits it's a lot of fun entertaining on such a large scale, she has some higher mathematics to deal with . . . Soliciting forces for the section are organized into ten zones or areas of the community with a leader for each zone. Zones are divided into districts headed by captains who are to enlist sufficient team members to permit personal calls upon each prospect within the assigned area.

Mrs. Barnes has named an advisory committee to assist in planning and organizing of the section. Members are Mrs. William A. Douglas, Mrs. H. W. Eliason, Mrs. Emma Everstine and Mrs. John Robinson all of whom have previously headed the Residential Section of the Chest campaign.

Cumberland, like 1,300 other American communities, has a great responsibility this fall," stated Mrs. Barnes. "In addition to the increased needs placed upon our regular Red Feather agencies, Chests very generally have included the quota for the United Defense Fund (USO) in the annual budget appeal. This is the most practical way of helping those serving in the armed forces and we have many from Cumberland who will be helped in this manner."

Erie, Pa. Minister Assigned To Ridgeley

The Rev. John H. Clark has been assigned to assist the Rev. Julian E. McDonald, pastor, in the United Evengelistic Advance program at Calvary Methodist Church of Ridgeley.

Rev. Mr. Clark is the pastor of the Henderson Memorial Methodist Church of Erie, Pa. He attended Edinboro State Teachers College; Taylor University, Upland, Ind., and Asbury Theological Seminary, Wilmore, Ky.

Local church committees are preparing lists of prospects for church membership and plans are under way for visiting these people.

Services will be held in the Calvary Methodist Church beginning Sunday, September 23, at which time the Rev. Mr. Clark will speak.

ership position taken by Mrs. H. W. Eliason in last year's campaign when the Residential Section reported a total of $4,893.43 from 1,554 contributors.

Soliciting forces for the section are organized into ten zones or areas of the community with a leader for each zone. Zones are divided into districts headed by captains who are to enlist sufficient team members to permit personal calls upon each prospect within the assigned area.

Mrs. Barnes has named an advisory committee to assist in planning and organizing of the section. Members are Mrs. William A. Douglas, Mrs. H. W. Eliason, Mrs. Emma Everstine and Mrs. John Robinson all of whom have previously headed the Residential Section of the Chest campaign.

Cumberland, like 1,300 other American communities, has a great responsibility this fall," stated Mrs. Barnes. "In addition to the increased needs placed upon our regular Red Feather agencies, Chests very generally have included the quota for the United Defense Fund (USO) in the annual budget appeal. This is the most practical way of helping those serving in the armed forces and we have many from Cumberland who will be helped in this manner."

"The Authority on Authorities"

DON'T RUFF THAT TRICK

TOWARD the close of the play, a defender may lead to you a card which you are able to ruff. But if taking that trick would necessitate your then leading a suit in which you have a tenace honor or honors—such as an ace-queen or guarded king—you may wish you had not trumped the preceding trick. Letting the defender hold the ruffable trick, discarding some sure loser from your hand, may compel the opposition to lead the tenace suit to you and thus build a trick for you.

South played so as to afford himself a number of chances to make his contract, and one of them hatched out. He ruffed the diamond K lead with the spade 2, led to the spade Q and ruffed the diamond 4 with the spade 5. For safety sake he now cashed the spade A and K, then finessed the heart J. He ruffed the diamond 5 with the spade 10, but when that still left the A out, he saw that the J would not establish. Now he led the heart 6 to the A in the hope that the K might fall and establish the Q, but this didn't occur.

Here was where South made his really canny play. He led the diamond J, discarding on it his last heart, the Q. West won with the A and then laid down his heart K. South could have ruffed that with his last trump, but then would have had to lead a club. East could have won a low one with the J and then returned a club through the K to West's A-Q to beat the contract. But South didn't ruff the heart K. Instead he discarded the club 2. This left West in a jam. With only three clubs left, he had to lead one of them and thus assure a trick for South's K.

So West scored the club A and then led the 10 to the K. South's last trump, the J, then took the final trick.

Rails Take Lead As Stock Market Hits New 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP) — Another new 1951 high was chalked up today by the stock market with the railroads taking the lead.

Carriers were backed up solidly by the metals and oils. There was only scattered help from the rest of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents at $100.20, the highest point since Sept. 19, 1930.

The industrial component was up 80 cents and railroads up 20 cents while utilities lost 20 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,340,000 shares, the fourth straight day that it has been above the two-million-mark. Yesterday it was 2,170,000.

There were 1,173 individual issues traded of which 557 advanced and 351 declined with 90 new highs and nine new lows for the year.

Canadian Pacific headed the most active list up 1⅛ at 32. It was followed by Armour & Co. up ⅝ at 10⅝, Climax Molybdenum up 2⅛ at 40⅞, American Airlines up ¼ at 15⅞, New York Central up ⅝ at 19¼, and American Zinc up 3¼ at 24.

Also higher were Denver & Rio Grande 2⅛ at 65⅛, Texas Co. 1½ at 59½, Sinclair Oil ½ at 44⅞, Standard Oil of Indiana 3 at 76⅜, Houston Oil 2⅞ at 74, Kennecott Copper 1⅜ at 83⅝, American Smelting 3¾ at 96½, Aluminum Ltd. 5¾ at 102¾, Climax Molybdenum 2⅛ at 40⅞, McIntyre-Porcupine 3½ at 71, U. Rails Take Lead As Stock Market Hits New 1951 High

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP) — Another new 1951 high was chalked up today by the stock market with the railroads taking the lead.

Carriers were backed up solidly by the metals and oils. There was only scattered help from the rest of the market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 30 cents at $100.20, the highest point since Sept. 19, 1930.

The industrial component was up 80 cents and railroads up 20 cents while utilities lost 20 cents.

Volume amounted to 2,340,000 shares, the fourth straight day that it has been above the two-million-mark. Yesterday it was 2,170,000.

There were 1,173 individual issues traded of which 557 advanced and 351 declined with 90 new highs and nine new lows for the year.

Canadian Pacific headed the most active list up 1⅛ at 32. It was followed by Armour & Co. up ⅝ at 10⅝, Climax Molybdenum up 2⅛ at 40⅞, American Airlines up ¼ at 15⅞, New York Central up ⅝ at 19¼, and American Zinc up 3¼ at 24.

Also higher were Denver & Rio Grande 2⅛ at 65⅛, Texas Co. 1½ at 59½, Sinclair Oil ½ at 44⅞, Standard Oil of Indiana 3 at 76⅜, Houston Oil 2⅞ at 74, Kennecott Copper 1⅜ at 83⅝, American Smelting 3¾ at 96½, Aluminum Ltd. 5¾ at 102¾, Climax Molybdenum 2⅛ at 40⅞, McIntyre-Porcupine 3½ at 71, U. S. Steel ⅜ at 45¼, Chrysler ½ at 71¾, Willys-Overland ⅛ at 10, and Douglas Aircraft 1¼ at 59⅛.

Reward Being Offered In Airport Vandalism

A reward of $25 has been posted for information leading to the apprehension of those responsible for vandalism and theft at Cumberland Municipal Airport, according to Charles F. Heller, superintendent.

Heller said guard rails have been broken down and a hay stack carried away. Lights at the end of the runway and city arclights on the road leading to the airport have been smashed.

Spring Gap Club Honors Maude A. Bean

The Sprng Gap Homemakers Club entertained with a farewell luncheon in honor of Miss Maude A. Bean, yesterday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Steger.

Miss Bean retires October 31 after completing 30 years service as home demonstration agent. A native of Nebraska, Miss Bean came to Allegany county May 15, 1925, when there were only four Homemakers clubs here. The enrollment then was 47 women. There are more than 30 clubs now with over 1,000 members.

"Honoring a Queen for a Day" was the theme of the party. Golden crowns decorated the place cards and the souvenir program repeated the theme. It also contained an original poem praising Miss Bean. A large golden crown centered the table, filled with assorted flowers. Candelabra of golden tapers were at either end of the table.

A farewell token was presented to Miss Bean and roll call was answered with each member telling something indicating what Miss Bean means to them.

Mrs. Irene MacDonald was a guest and told of her trip to the national convention in Lansing, Mich.

Miss Maude A. Bean

Mrs. Steger spoke of the club's theme booth, "Gateway to Better Living." A demonstration on flower arrangements was given by Miss Alma Taschenberger.

Miss Bean announced that an aluminum tray training course will be given September 21 at the fairgrounds. Mrs. Steger and Mrs. Francis Wheeler will represent the club, she also spoke of Achievement Day observance October 9 in Centre Street Church social hall.

Mrs. Steger, Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Mary MacKenzie were hostesses for the meeting. Miss Thelma Allin, a guest, and 20 members attended.

Lilya To Speak To Underwriters

Det. Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, Cumberland Police Department, will be guest speaker at the monthly membership meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association next Friday, September 21, at Central YMCA.

Lt. Lilya will discuss "The Experiences and Problems of a Detective," at the noon session. New officers will report at the luncheon meeting.

Ray F. Hamner is president of the group; Joseph Graham, first vice president; Ralph Frantz, second vice president; Albert H. Macy, secretary; and L. M. Roberson, treasurer.

who ride school buses which come under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education are required to wait for a second trip by the bus.

In concluding his remarks, Davis stressed that the company finally is in the "black" financially and he intends to keep it that way through business-like operation.

To call out a driver to handle a special bus from school, costs two hours work at $1.61 an hour, or a total of $3.22, the company president stated. The shuttle bus from Fort Hill High School will haul about 50 children during its three trips at 5 cents each, or a total of $2.50. In addition to the driver's pay, Davis said, he must also consider insurance, depreciation, gasoline and tires in figuring expenses for running the bus.

Reward Being Offered In Airport Vandalism

A reward of $25 has been posted for information leading to the apprehension of those responsible for vandalism and theft at Cumberland Municipal Airport, according to Charles F. Heller, superintendent.

Heller said guard rails have been broken down and a hay stack carried away. Lights at the end of the runway and city arclights on the road leading to the airport have been smashed.

Urges Proper Cattle Food

Diet Determines Milk Production

The cheapest source of feed for dairy cows is good pasture —but high producing cows can't consume enough pasture to meet all requirements for body maintenance and milk production. As a result, says J. W. Pou, head of the University of Maryland Dairy Department, they need additional nutrients in the form of concentrates or grain mixtures or they may lose weight and milk production will suffer.

With quality pasture, supplemented by some hay or silage feeding during hit dry spells when the pasture growth is short, cows will produce as well on a properly formulated mixture of home-grown grains as they will on some of the more expensive and more complex mixtures.

The principal concern in making a grain ration with home-grown grains is to obtain the percentage of protein that most economically fills the cow's needs. The amount of protein needed in the grain ration will vary with the kind and quality of grazing available. If very good pasture is available, the grain ration needs to contain only 12 to 14 per cent protein to take care of the cow's needs for body maintainence and milk production. By very good pasture, we mean pasture that is young and succulent, and is abundant enough that cows can graze their fill in about an hour and a half. They will graze their fill several times daily.

With average to good pasture the grain ration should contain about 16 per cent protein. Average to good pasture is considered pasture that is either somewhat short or of rather mature growth. This pasture, because of its lack in either abundance or palatability, will require three hours for cows to graze their fill several times a day.

Maryland Agricultural Extension Leaflet No. 6 contains a number of suggested concentrate mixtures that can be made easily from home-grown grains. These leaflets can be secured from the local County Agent.

Rice Butterscotch Dessert With Nut Sauce

It has to be good . . . for there are so many good things in it! Yes, Rice Butterscotch with Nut Sauce is a delicious dessert you will be proud to serve. It is a dessert you can make up the day before your party . . . and dismiss from your mind with the assurance that it will make a splendid appearance and will enhance your reputation as a good cook.

Rice butterscotch with nut sauce may be served in small portions as it is rich and satisfying.

When you are preparing the fluffy rice for this dessert . . . don't forget to make a little more than you need . . . keep it in a covered dish in the refrigerator. It will work into future menus to great advantage.

Ingredients

2 tablespoons gelatin
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups scalded milk
1 cup cooked rice
1 cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon vanilla.

Ingredients for Sauce

2 cups brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup salted pecans or other salted nut meats, chopped.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups cold water and 1 teaspoon salt in a two-quart sauce pan and cover with a tight fitting lid. Bring to a vigorous boil. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and steam for 14 minutes or until all the water is absorbed, leaving the separate rice grains with their full nutritional value. (If you prefer more tender rice grains, add ⅓ cup more water and increase the slow cooking time 4 or 5 minutes.) Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Never stir rice; lift gently with a fork. Makes approximately 3 cups fluffy rice.

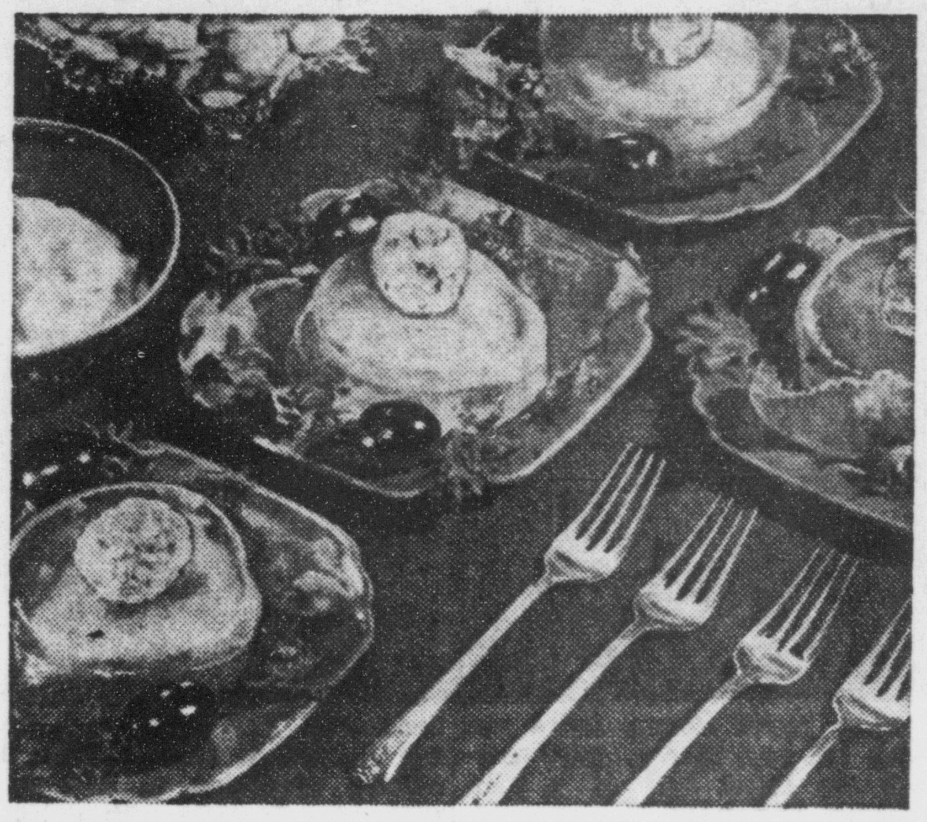
Method: Soak the gelatin in the cold water. In the meantime, melt the butter or margarine in a sauce pan and stir in the brown sugar; cook slowly until well blended, add 2 cups scalded milk and cook until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. While the mixture is very hot, add the gelatin and stir it until it is dissolved. Cool and when the mixture begins to congeal, add 1 cup cooked rice and 1 cup whipped cream. Flavor with vanilla. Pour into a mold and let chill until thoroughly firm. Serve with salted nut meat sauce.

To make sauce: In a sauce pan mix brown sugar, flour, butter or margarine and the cold water. Cook until thick syrup is obtained, remove from heat, flavor with vanilla and add the salted nut meats. Cool and serve on pudding. Serves 6.

LORD CALVERT COFFEE

Next time you buy coffee, ask for Lord Calvert. It has the quality and flavor to please the most particular coffee drinker.

Combine Pears, Ginger Ale Flavor



The delicate flavor of pears blends with the tang of ginger ale in a delicious molded salad which might be a main luncheon or supper course. Tiny bits of preserved ginger add to the piquancy of the salad.

You can made the salad in a large mold, or in individual molds. Small pie tins are fine for this particular salad, since the pear halves lie flat in them. Served on a bed of crisp greens with a ball of cream cheese rolled in chopped nutmeats, and garnished with ripe olives for color contrast, this salad is sure to please the appitite as well as the eye.

Ginger Pear Salad

Canned pear halves
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold pear syrup
½ cup hot pear syrup
1¼ cups ginger ale
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Preserved ginger.

Drain pears; reserve syrup. Soften gelatine in ¼ cup cold syrup. Heat ½ cup pear syrup to boiling; add to gelatine; stir until dissolved. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Place 1 pear half, cut side up, in each of 4 individual pie pans, 6 inches in diameter. Sprinkle four or five tiny bits of preserved ginger over each pear. Fill pans with gelatine mixture. Chill until set. Unmold on salad greens. Garnish with balls of cream cheese and chopped walnuts and two ripe olives. Serve with mayonnaise or a cream dressing. Makes 6 servings.

Gumbo With Rice

With cool fall days ahead, we are looking for tasty sturdy foods such as this Gumbo with Rice . . . a steaming luscious mixture of chicken and ham with tomatoes, onions and okra . . . served with a generous mound of fluffy white rice!

When preparing the rice for this Gumbo and Rice meal be sure to have plenty of it. It is the large mound of fluffy rice in the center of the soup bowl which carries the flavors of all the other foods in the gumbo . . . and gives the right texture to the almost complete meal.

INGREDIENTS

- 6 cups hot cooked rice
- 1 slice ham, diced
- 1 large stewing hen
- 2 tablespoons ham fat
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 small onion, minced
- 1 sprig thyme or parsley, minced
- 1 No. 2 can tomatoes
- 4 okra pods, sliced
- 2 quarts boiling water
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 1 bay leaf

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 6 generous cups of rice, put 2 cups of uncooked rice, 4 cups of cold water and 2 teaspoons salt in a large saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid. Bring to a vigorous boil. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and steam for 14 minutes or until all the water is absorbed, leaving the separate rice grains with their full nutritional value. This makes very firm rice grains. (If you prefer more tender rice grains, add ⅔ cup more water and increase the slow cooking time 4 or 5 minutes). Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Never stir rice; lift rice gently with a fork.

METHOD: Cut up the chicken and season with salt and pepper. Heat fat in soup kettle. Add chicken and ham, cover and let simmer for ten minutes. Then add onion, pepper and thyme, tomatoes and sliced okra pods. Now add the boiling water and let simmer for two hours. Serve in a tureen. Accompany with a bowl of hot rice. Or serve in soup bowls with a generous mound of hot rice.

Chicken Rice Timbales Variations

Chicken Rice Timbales, always a good dish for invalids and children, has great possibilities for variation. Add a little more onion if you especially like it . . . and 2 tablespoons of chopped pimentos for color and flavor. Too, a sauce of thickened and seasoned chicken broth may be served over the timbales although this is not necessary as they are delicious without gravy.

Chicken Rice Timbales are good for party luncheons . . . are attractive served with wedges of tomato, a green vegetable such as broccoli or asparagus . . . and a hot roll.

For a larger group, Chicken Rice Timbales may be made in a flat square or oblong baking pan and cut into squres. This saves time in preparing them as well as in serving them. Remember, dishes such as this, made with eggs, must be served immediately . . . right from the oven!

Ingredients

- 1½ cups diced cooked rice
- 1½ cups diced cooked chicken
- 1 tablespoons finely diced onion
- 2 eggs, beaten.
- 1 cup milk
- ⅛ cup chicken broth or milk
- ½ teaspoon salt

Preparing the fluffy white rice: Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon salt in a two-quart saucepan and cover with a tight-fitting lid.

Bring to a vigorous boil. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and steam for 14 minutes or until all the water is absorbed leaving the separate rice grains with their full nutritional value. This makes very firm rice grains. (If you prefer more tender rice grains, add ⅓ cup more water and increase the slow cooking time 4 or 5 minutes.) Remove the lid, permit the rice to steam dry to the desired consistency and the grains will be separate and fluffy. Never stir rice, lift gently with a fork. Makes 3 generous cups of fluffy rice. Keep left over rice in a covered bowl in the refrigerator.

Method: Mix all ingredients together. Divide the mixture among greased custard cups or individual baking dishes. Place cups in pan of very hot water and bake in a moderate over 350° F. for 30 minutes or until a knife inserted in the center of timbale comes out clean. Note: Gravy or sauce may be made of additional broth and served over timbales. Serves 6.

Here's Recipe To Kindle Interest

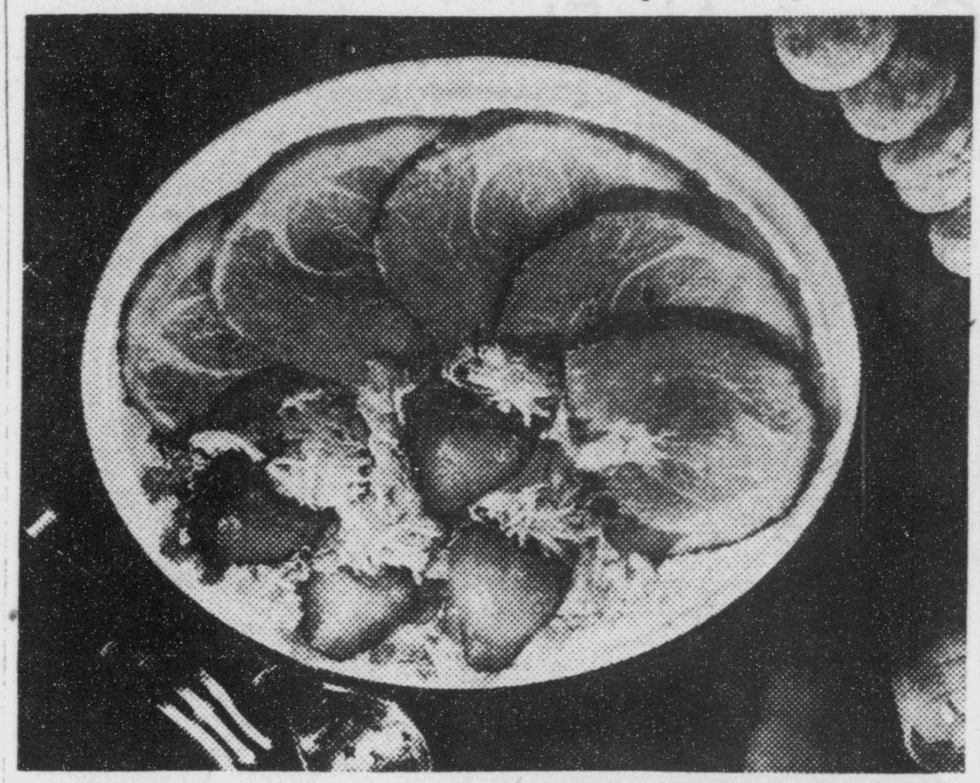
If your family seems a little disinterested in meals these days, here's an unusual combination that's sure to kindle renewed interest. It's Chinese Pepper Steak. Since the meat is cut into narrow strips, cooking time is cut to around 30 minutes, points out Reba Staggs, home economist. Be sure to serve this gay combination on a bed of fluffy white rice for platter attractiveness.

Chinese Pepper Steak With Rice

- 1 pound beef chuck cut into thin strips
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 2 tablespoons minced onion
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 large green peppers, cut into strips
- ½ cup celery, sliced crosswise
- 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, if desired
- ½ cup consomme or stock salt Pepper
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- 3 cups cooked rice

Melt lard or drippings. Add beef and brown slowly over a low heat. Add the onion, garlic, green peppers, celery and pimiento. Add consomme or stock. Season with salt and pepper. Cover and simmer 20 minutes. Thicken with cornstarch blended with water and soy sauce. Simmer five minutes. Serve hot with freshly cooked rice. 4 servings.

Shank Ham Thrifty Buy



When you're looking for a real value for your money, don't overlook the shank half of a ham. Whether you choose regular smoked ham or ready-to-eat ham, it's a thrifty buy for the small family any way you look at it. The shank half weighs 6-8 pounds and usually costs a few cents less per pound than the butt half, yet carves more easily and can be used down to the last tidbit.

A fine way to get the most out of a shank half of ham is to cut it into two pieces before you start using it. Just turn the shank with cut surface flat against the cutting board, cut through the ham lengthwise — letting the knife hug the bone all the way—clear through to the bottom. This gives you a boneless cushion of meat to slice for broiling or frying as well as a solid, bone-in piece with a lot of fine meat left on it. The bone-in piece can be simmered in water for an hour and a half and the stock in which it cooks will make a fine broth for soup or in which to cook vegetables. The meat from the bone goes into your favorite ham casseroles, loaf, or croquettes.

If you prefer, you can, of course, bake the shank half and then cut it in two. The boneless cushion can then be sliced for cold or hot platters.

To bake the regular smoked or uncooked shank half of a ham wrap it loosely in heavy paper and place it cut side down on a rack in a shallow, uncovered baking pan. Bake it at 325° F. allowing 25 to 27 minutes per pound for a 6-8 pound shank.

Remember, all hams, including the larger canned hams, need to be refrigerated both before and after cooking.

For a tempting cold supper or buffet, we suggest slices of baked ham arranged on a chop platter with minted pears and grated cheese.

To make the minted pears, just heat contents of a jar of mint jelly. Add pear halves and simmer 20 minutes. Allow to cool in the syrup. Remove and chill. Fill centers with mayonnaise, press 2 halves together and sprinkle tops with grated Miss Wisconsin Cheddar cheese. Serve on lettuce.

Bakers' Sponge Cake Makes Peach Shortcake

During the season of fresh peaches, a rich, delectable peach shortcake is a dessert that bears repeating. To make it, cut bakers' sponge cake in serving squares and top with sweetened fresh, sliced peaches. For extra richness top each serving with whipped cream.

Here Are Two Favorites For Lunch Box

Lunch box toters, whether school-age or adults, both need and appreciate the little extra thought that puts a spotlight on their noon meal. And, when it comes to supplying certain basic food needs, the lunch box should stack up with breakfast and dinner, whether eaten at home or away.

When variety is offered in the bread, you can use just a butter or margarine spread, or try cream cheese. With such a full-flavored loaf as this one made with bran, raisins, and nuts, you can afford to spend less time on the filling.

In baking nut breads, it's a good idea to place another pan over your bread the first 20 minutes of baking, so the loaf won't crack on top. Nut breads are best when wrapped in waxed paper or aluminum foil and allowed to stand about 24 hours. They're easier to cut, and the flavor is heightened.

Cereal Nutrition

When you do use breakfast cereal products, such as the whole bran in this recipe, you're helping lunch pack the wallop of a good breakfast. Quickly available food energy is one of the gifts of breakfast cereal. Other contributions are important B vitamins, essential minerals, and protein.

Another breakfast cereal favorite for Dad to take to work or the kids to eat at school is an oatmeal cooky. Peanut Daisies give a double peanut flavor, with peanut butter inside and peanut halves on top.

RAISIN BRAN BREAD

1 egg, well beaten
1¼ cups milk
⅓ cup light molasses
1½ cups whole bran
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1 cup seedless raisins

Combine egg, milk molasses, and bran. Sift together flour, sugar, salt, baking powder, and soda; add nuts and rasins. Add to bran mixture and stir only until just blended. Turn into greased and floured 9x5x3 inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (350°-375° F.) about 1 hour or until done. Yield: 1 loaf.

PEANUT DAISIES

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 cups rolled oats, uncooked
¼ cup fat
½ cup peanut butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ cup milk
Salted peanuts

Sift together flour baking powder, salt, and cinnamon; add rolled oats. Cream together thoroughly fat and peanut butter, adding sugar gradually. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour alternately with milk, mixing well. Let stand 1 hour before baking. Then drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cooky sheet. Top each cooky with 5 salted peanut halves arranged to resemble a daisy. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 15 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

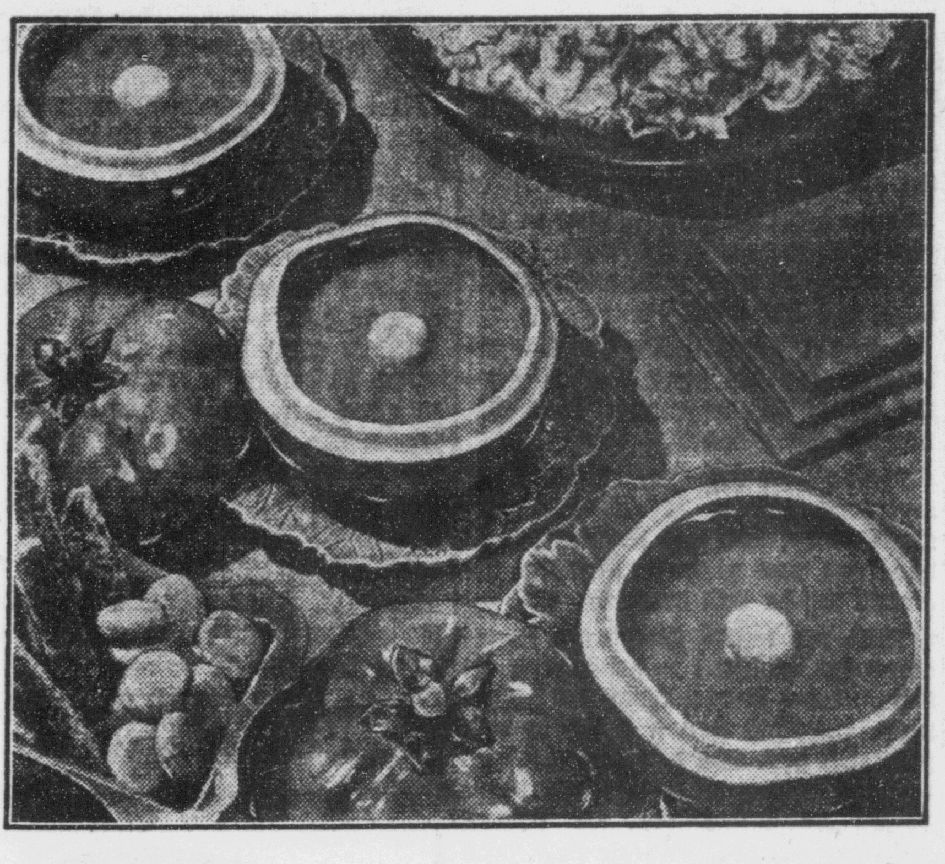
Tomato Is Tops In Soup



ROSY tomato soup is a heartwarming dish for lunch when fall days grow cool. Toast sticks spread with poppy-seed butter and button-size biscuits are grand with soup. Have tuna salad also.

First place among soups belongs to the rosy red tomato kind. It's the soup that "most folks like best."

Select tomato soup as the main meal feature and all kinds of menu combinations suggest themselves. For instance, take tomato soup with sandwishes—most any sandwich is a good "soup-mate." Or introduce a fresh new note at each serving of soup by sprinkling on a different garnish or tidbit. Combinations—tomato with another soup—are good for a change also.

Sandwiches that make enticing eating with tomato soup are bubbly grilled cheese-wiches or juicy hamburgers with tasty trimmings. Another favorite with soup is a rich peanut butter sandwich with a crisp topper like cole slaw or shredded carrots.

Tomato soup combination can give you that "something different" to serve as a special treat for supper now and then. Just blend together one can of the tomato with one can of another soup; then add liquid as directed. Sure winners among combinations are tomato with any of the following—cream of celery, clam chowder, chicken gumbo, and beef noodle.

For garnishes and snack-bites to go with tomato soup, you can "shoot the works." 'Make your own or take advantage of all the "crunchables" at the grocery store. A sprinkle of popcorn, crisp little corn chips, a crisp or a puffed cereal is a happy surprise on a bowl of soup.

Croutons and toast sticks also have many possibilities. These tidbits are magical mouthfuls that you can make so easily from dry bread. Just mix a flavorful ingredient like garlic salt into butter or margarine; spread mixture on both sides of dry bread. Cut into strips or dice-size squares; then toast bread in a moderate oven about 15 minutes.

Here Are Two Favorites For Lunch Box

Lunch box toters, whether school-age or adults, both need and appreciate the little extra thought that puts a spotlight on their noon meal. And, when it comes to supplying certain basic food needs, the lunch box should stack up with breakfast and dinner, whether eaten at home or away.

When variety is offered in the bread, you can use just a butter or margarine spread, or try cream cheese. With such a full-flavored loaf as this one made with bran, raisins, and nuts, you can afford to spend less time on the filling.

In baking nut breads, it's a good idea to place another pan over your bread the first 20 minutes of baking, so the loaf won't crack on top. Nut breads are best when wrapped in waxed paper or aluminum foil and allowed to stand about 24 hours. They're easier to cut, and the flavor is heightened.

Cereal Nutrition

When you do use breakfast cereal products, such as the whole bran in this recipe, you're helping lunch pack the wallop of a good breakfast. Quickly available food energy is one of the gifts of breakfast cereal. Other contributions are important B vitamins, essential minerals, and protein.

Another breakfast cereal favorite for Dad to take to work or the kids to eat at school is an oatmeal cooky. Peanut Daisies give a double peanut flavor, with peanut butter inside and peanut halves on top.

RAISIN BRAN BREAD

1	egg, well beaten
1¼	cups milk
⅓	cup light molasses
1½	cups whole bran
2	cups sifted all-purpose flour
½	cup sugar
1½	teaspoons salt
3	teaspoons baking powder
1	teaspoon soda
1	cup coarsely chopped walnuts
1	cup seedless raisins

Combine egg, milk molasses, and bran. Sift together flour, sugar, salt, baking powder, and soda; add nuts and rasins. Add to bran mixture and stir only until just blended. Turn into greased and floured 9x5x3 inch loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (350°-375° F.) about 1 hour or until done. Yield: 1 loaf.

PEANUT DAISIES

1½	cups sifted all-purpose flour
2	teaspoons baking powder
½	teaspoon salt
½	teaspoon cinnamon
2	cups rolled oats, uncooked
¼	cup fat
½	cup peanut butter
1	cup sugar
2	eggs
½	cup milk
	Salted peanuts

Sift together flour baking powder, salt, and cinnamon; add rolled oats. Cream together thoroughly fat and peanut butter, adding sugar gradually. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour alternately with milk, mixing well. Let stand 1 hour before baking. Then drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cooky sheet. Top each cooky with 5 salted peanut halves arranged to resemble a daisy. Bake in moderate oven (375° F.) about 15 minutes. Yield: 3 dozen cookies.

The Old Second Guesser

An Old Man's "Darling?"

He has been a friend of mine for many years, and we will call him Harry, because that is not his name. He lives in a small town near New York and probably has $200,000 well invested. He is now 76. His wife died three or four years ago, and he was left alone with lots of time on his hands. He used to do both and have art exhibits of his own, but his paints are now covered with dust and his easel has long been dry.

John Wheeler

For a year, he wandered along aimlessly, lonely and unhappy. Occasionally he was asked out for dinner by old friends or those of his wife, but there was not a person in the world who really cared. Then along came Caroline which is not her name either and how he met her I don't know. She is a little this side of 40, but has a lot of the habits of a kitten. Shortly, she had him arching his neck like a colt and running a fever about her. She would visit him for the weekend, and he would plan things for days ahead. She always brought along a chaperone.

Harry had never driven a car—his wife did that, and he had never been on a horse as far as I know except for a $2 bet at Belmont. She taught him how to steer an automobile and had him boosted up on the back of one of the old hacks at the local riding stable. He would have tried to ride an elephant if she had told him to. He felt young again. He took his first trip in an airplane. They came over to my house one night, and my friend was beaming but sat down very gingerly.

"What's the matter, Harry?" I asked him thinking it the stiffness of age.

"We were horseback riding this afternoon," he said proudly, "and my horse galloped."

It was two months before she let him kiss her, and that night he asked her to marry him, being an honorable man. She refused. He still went to bed happy, sure, now that the ice was broken, she would realize her mistake and change her mind. He had no heirs, but several close friends, who became closer, had been casting eyes at his savings and asking about his health. One day he spoke to her.

"Caroline," he began, "I have been thinking about us. I have decided to draw a new will and make you my sole heir."

She didn't seem surprised.

"If you hadn't done it pretty soon, I would have had to get out my mother's 12-guage shotgun," she answered.

No time was lost in going to the lawyer's office, and, meanwhile, the news of his decision leaked out. Wives gathered in groups and pairs to whisper behind their hands about the old man.

"Bess must be turning over in her grave," said one. "I think it's a crying shame so soon after she's gone." Bess was his wife.

I would argue with them—contending if the arrangement gave the fellow any happiness what difference did it make.

"There's no fool like an old fool," answered one as if she had just made it up, and the implication in her tone and manner was she included me in this category, too.

Then my friend discovered something by accident — something he should have known from the beginning. Caroline had a lover—a tall, youngish guy. She had brought him to the house a couple of times before he found out. Of course, he was plunged into despair, and considered suicide. After a bitter scene, he told her he was going to cut her out of his will.

"Do as you wish," she answered. "You ought to know you are too old for me anyway."

He was a frustrated, lonely aged man, and he seemed to shrink more. He told me about it.

"What the hell do you care?" I said. "She was bound to cheat. If you like her and she gives you any fun, call her up and put her back in your will."

That's what he did. He is not as happy as before, because he thought he loved her, but he has her companionship, and she leaves the other guy at home, if she still sees him. And I got denounced by the wives' union at the last meeting.

Carnegie Talks Praise City

That Cumberland has much more to commend than to criticize was the theme of 75 per cent of the talks given by members of Allegany Chapter of the Dale Carnegie Clubs International, W. Addison Rinker, president of the club, said yesterday.

Speaking on "Civic Betterment" at a meeting at the Happy Hills Restaurant nearly all of the members stressed the city's recreation program, school system and its other advantages, Rinker said.

One of the requirements of chapter membership is that all members must make a talk at each meeting, and the trend of last night's discussions emphasized that Cumberlanders can help their city more by boosting its assets rather than touching on its problems with day to day complaints.

The club maintains a pool of more than two score speakers who are available to make talks before organizations on various subjects. It was announced last night that William E. Lawyer, vice president, who is also president of the Gephart School Parent-Teacher Association, has been assigned to make a talk of interest to parents of school children at the Hyndman School P-TA meeting Thursday, September 20.

The club also accepted an invitation to furnish speakers for an important campaign to be conducted in the Cumberland Tri-State Area later this month.

The Old Second Guesser

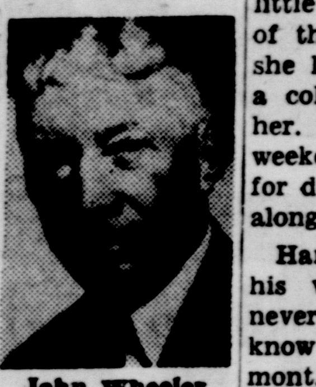
An Old Man's "Darling?"



John Wheeler

He has been a friend of mine for many years, and we will call him Harry, because that is not his name. He lives in a small town near New York and probably has $200,000 well invested. He is now 76. His wife died three or four years ago, and he was left alone with lots of time on his hands. He used to do both and have art exhibits of his own, but his paints are now covered with dust and his easel has long been dry.

For a year, he wandered along aimlessly, lonely and unhappy. Occasionally he was asked out for dinner by old friends or those of his wife, but there was not a person in the world who really cared. Then along came Caroline which is not her name either and how he met her I don't know. She is a little this side of 40, but has a lot of the habits of a kitten. Shortly, she had him arching his neck like a colt and running a fever about her. She would visit him for the weekend, and he would plan things for days ahead. She always brought along a chaperone.

Harry had never driven a car—his wife did that, and he had never been on a horse as far as I know except for a $2 bet at Belmont. She taught him how to steer an automobile and had him boosted up on the back of one of the old hacks at the local riding stable. He would have tried to ride an elephant if she had told him to. He felt young again. He took his first trip in an airplane. They came over to my house one night, and my friend was beaming but sat down very gingerly.

"What's the matter, Harry?" I asked him thinking it the stiffness of age.

"We were horseback riding this afternoon," he said proudly, "and my horse galloped."

It was two months before she let him kiss her, and that night he asked her to marry him, being an honorable man. She refused. He still went to bed happy, sure, now that the ice was broken, she would realize her mistake and change her mind. He had no heirs, but several close friends, who became closer, had been casting eyes at his savings and asking about his health. One day he spoke to her.

"Caroline," he began, "I have been thinking about us. I have decided to draw a new will and make you my sole heir."

She didn't seem surprised.

"If you hadn't done it pretty soon, I would have had to get out my mother's 12-guage shotgun," she answered.

No time was lost in going to the lawyer's office, and, meanwhile, the news of his decision leaked out. Wives gathered in groups and pairs to whisper behind their hands about the old man.

"Bess must be turning over in her grave," said one. "I think it's a crying shame so soon after she's gone." Bess was his wife.

I would argue with them—contending if the arrangement gave the fellow any happiness what difference did it make.

"There's no fool like an old fool," answered one as if she had just made it up, and the implication in her tone and manner was she included me in this category, too.

Then my friend discovered something by accident — something he should have known from the beginning. Caroline had a lover—a tall, youngish guy. She had brought him to the house a couple of times before he found out. Of course, he was plunged into despair, and considered suicide. After a bitter scene, he told her he was going to cut her out of his will.

"Do as you wish," she answered. "You ought to know you are too old for me anyway."

He was a frustrated, lonely aged man, and he seemed to shrink more. He told me about it.

"What the hell do you care?" I said. "She was bound to cheat. If you like her and she gives you any fun, call her up and put her back in your will."

That's what he did. He is not as happy as before, because he thought he loved her, but he has her companionship, and she leaves the other guy at home, if she still sees him. And I got denounced by the wives' union at the last meeting.

Carnegie Talks Praise City

That Cumberland has much more to commend than to criticize was the theme of 75 per cent of the talks given by members of Allegany Chapter of the Dale Carnegie Clubs International, W. Addison Rinker, president of the club, said yesterday.

Speaking on "Civic Betterment" at a meeting at the Happy Hills Restaurant nearly all of the members stressed the city's recreation program, school system and its other advantages, Rinker said.

One of the requirements of chapter membership is that all members must make a talk at each meeting, and the trend of last night's discussions emphasized that Cumberlanders can help their city more by boosting its assets rather than touching on its problems with day to day complaints.

The club maintains a pool of more than two score speakers who are available to make talks before organizations on various subjects. It was announced last night that William E. Lawyer, vice president, who is also president of the Gephart School Parent-Teacher Association, has been assigned to make a talk of interest to parents of school children at the Hyndman School P-TA meeting Thursday, September 20.

The club also accepted an invitation to furnish speakers for an important campaign to be conducted in the Cumberland Tri-State Area later this month.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

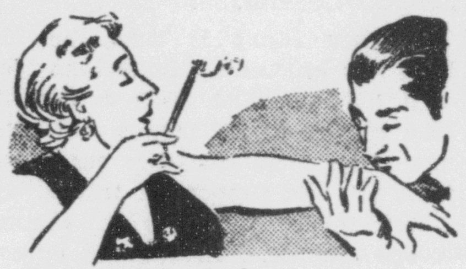
By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Will a woman "tell on herself"?

Answer: In a mixture of self-punishment and exhibitionism, a good many women have set out to reveal their deepest, most humiliating secrets. But however honest they have tried to be, they have inevitably been the victims of unconscious self-deception, since you cannot see yourself as you are except in the mental "mirror" of a mind other than your own. A truly unusual book, therefore, is "Fight Against Fears," in which Lucy Freeman reveals her true self as seen in the course of psychoanalytic treatment. Here are the real workings of a woman's mind, although in some ways the mind of a far from "average" woman.

Are wartime college students "nervous"?

Answer: They are more prone to "nervous habits" than in peacetime, reports Dr. Florene M. Young of the University of Georgia in the Journal of Personality. Dr. Young made a comparative study of the pre of such habits (involv mouth, nose, hair and college students and in school and kindergarten children. She found that in normal times the students seemed to have outgrown the more infantile habits (such as pulling at their hair) but that under the stresses of wartime, they regressed toward the pre-school level. Nervous tension and anxiety tend to make us all revert to childhood.



Does "poise" show you are well-adjusted?

Answer: Normally, yes. There is no better evidence of mental health than reacting to each situation with no more emotion than it deserves—for example, not exaggerating the importance or the difficulty of making a good impression when you meet new people. The poised, well-adjusted person takes such meetings in his stride because he realizes it is not a matter of life and death that everyone he meets should like him. But there is a kind of false "poise" which is the result of such intense fear of emotion that the person will not let himself feel at all. Real poise does not mean indifference or lack of interest.

In 60 seconds you'll learn which whiskey you really like best !

1. Take ¼ oz. of Calvert in one glass and the same amount of any other whiskey in another — without knowing which is which.

2. Sniff one brand for aroma. Taste it critically for smoothness. Swallow carefully to judge its freedom from harshness.

3. Taste the other whiskey in the same analytical way—then pick the one that really tastes better to you.

WHISKIES DIFFER GREATLY IN TASTE, SO . . .

Be your own whiskey expert! Make a simple, "showdown" taste test between Calvert Reserve and any other whiskey. It will pay you to learn which brand gives you the greatest enjoyment and satisfaction . . . which is smoother, mellower, free from bite, burn or sting.

Naturally, we believe you'll choose Calvert, because it is blended to a taste determined by a "Consumer Jury" of thousands of folks like you. But if you still prefer another brand, then stick with it. Fair enough?

Use Of Proximity Fuse Comes Into Being In Korean Warfare

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12— (AP) — This is the intriguing story of a super-secret weapon developed in World War Two that became so enmeshed in military secrecy few people knew how to use it effectively when the Korean War broke out.

The curiosity of a civilian scientist at the Pentagon finally broke the bonds of secrecy and increased the use of the killer-gadget in Korea to the point that it may be a decisive weapon in turning back any new Red offensive against United Nation forces.

This weapon today—due largely to one man—is one of the most important in the U.N. arsenal and reports show it has been responsible for much of the slaughter of Chinese troops.

The scientist in the case is Dr. Louis N. Ridenour, Jr., a 40-year-old physicist who served as a radar expert under the combined chiefs of staff during the last war. He now is in the office of the air force deputy chief of staff for development.

The weapon which he pulled out of mothballs is the proximity fuse—the electronic gadget that can cause artillery and anti-aircraft shells, rockets or bombs to explode within a few feet of their target.

For example, the fuse is screwed into the nose of a bomb. When the bomb is dropped, a tiny radio in the fuse sends out waves which bounce back from a target to a receiver. As the bomb nears its target, the echo-waves "trigger" the bomb to explode in the proximity of the target.

In this manner, shells, rockets or bombs may be exploded over the heads of enemy troops, showering them with deadly slugs of shrapnel from which an uncovered foxhole is no protection.

Here is the story as told by military men who have watched Ridenour's first moves develop into a large-scale use of the proximity fuse in Korea:

Last fall, Ridenour was curious as to why the armed forces were not using more proximity fuses in the shelling and bombing of enemy troops. There was a large stockpile of the fuses in the Far East. They were a potentially potent anti-personnel weapon. But few were being used.

He doubted the claims of some people that they weren't needed or that they were ineffective. He didn't believe they were not suited for use in mountainous country, and that the use of the fuse in Korea would be too great a drain on the supply.

As an immediate result of Ridenour's curiosity, a joint mission was sent to Korea last December to study the problems. The air force was represented by Col. John J. Driscoll and the Army by Col. C.H.M. Roberts, both ordnance ex[illegible]

[illegible]is mission discovered the fuse had remained such a secret that airmen, artillerymen and others didn't realize its effectiveness as an anti-personnel weapon — although the fuse had been a deadly weapon in the Battle of the Bulge in World War Two.

One officer said: "Some artillerymen didn't even know the fuse could be used in certain shells."

The major reason given was that comparatively few people had been trained in the use of the fuse—and until recently only a handful of Air Force men had been "cleared" for security to work with the fuse.

A top-level order had placed responsibility for security with the Army and Navy before the Air Force became an independent arm of the services. Not until recent months was this order revoked, one source said, to give the Air Force equal freedom in adapting the weapon to Air Force tactics.

The Ridenour mission did find that some of the fuses were bad. There were some malfunctions that "scared hell out of people."

"This was due primarily to a misunderstanding of the weapon," one officer said. "It's true you may get a premature explosion if you don't know how to use them."

The mission stayed in Korea and Japan for more than two months briefing all the services on the potential value of the fuse as a killer of enemy troops.

The result: The Army now is using 17 times as many proximity fused shells as before. The Air Force which had used none is now using hundreds of them in anti-personnel bombs.

Another result is that the big B-29 has become an important tactical aircraft. The B-29 can carry 2000 pounds of AP bombs and with new radar techniques has been used even in close support of troops.

Remember the story of ground troops finding hundreds of enemy dead littering the hills after an air strike last spring?

The Air Force says this was done by B-29's dropping the proximity fused bombs on Red troop concentrations.

"Our best anti-personnel weapon now is probably the B-29, one airman said. "If you study the enemy casualties in the last six months, you'll find that these strategic bombers accounted for a big share."

The fuse has been so effective, this officer said, that the Far Eastern air command is "screaming for more" of them.

School Lunches In County Remain Same Price As 1950

The school lunch program of the Allegany County Board of Education started the first full day of school, with no increase in the price of the Type A balanced lunch.

William P. Cooper, director of cafeterias in county schools, said that while there will be no jump in the cost of the Type A meal with white milk, for the present.

The Board of Education has granted an increase of at least 10 per cent in the salaries of all the cafeteria workers.

This is the third straight year that there has been no hike in the cost, $1.15 per week or 25 cents per meal, Cooper pointed out, although there has been a substantial boost in the price of food.

Last year, 1,800,000 lunches were served, an average of 10,000 per day. The program is operated on a non-profit basis.

In the 1950-51 school year, $98,000 was spent for milk; $81,000 for meat, meat products, fish and poultry, and $30,000 for bread and bread products.

The labor cost for each lunch, Cooper said, last year was seven and one-half cents per meal, while the increase in pay for the cafeteria workers will bring this figure to eight cents.

The cost of the lunch can be held at the same price only if the volume of student participation in the program remains large and purchases can be made efficiently.

Tri-Towns Chamber Probes Terrorism

The Tri Towns Chamber of Commerce has gone on record expressing serious concern over the wave of vandalism that has swept the Piedmont, W. Va., and Westernport, Md., areas in recent months.

At a meeting in the office of Dr. James H. Wolverton, Piedmont, members agreed to offer authorities any cooperation possible in preventing this vandalism and apprehending the culprits.

Homer Farrell and Walter Croan, technical advisors of the Upper Potomac Television Company whose radio tower was badly damaged by fire, Monday, also attended the meeting.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce strongly urge that any persons who have information which might lead to the arrest of those responsible for the wave of arson and terroism in the area, contact authorities.

Flood Work Shows Progress; Many Streets To Open Soon

The current phase of the Cumberland flood control project is progressing to the extent that within a short time a number of streets which had been torn up will be paved and opened to traffic.

John Coleman, liaison engineer for the flood control project, said the Cumberland Contracting Company will probably start next week repaving Valley Street from North Mechanic to a point near the B. and O. Railroad crossing.

Sidewalks Being Placed

Curbing and sidewalks are being placed on Valley Street and after the work on the west side of the railroad crossing is completed the section of Valley Street between Henderson Avenue and Furnace Street will be repaved. Some work will also be done at the park bounded by Valley and Furnace Streets.

On Monday a temporary surfacing will be placed on Frederick Street from North Centre to a point several hundred feet east. A short section on Williams Street between Mechanic and South Centre was paved last week after having been partially blocked for many months.

Greene Street will probably be opened to traffic the week of September 24, according to Coleman. The C. and A. Gas Company is laying gas lines from near the Coca Cola plant to Paw Paw alley.

It is expected that the Valley Street crossing of the B. and O. Railroad will be opened shortly after the paving work on that street is completed. There is some discussion on the level of the tracks and when this is decided the work will be done.

Henry Street To Start

Work will also be started on the conduit work on Henry Street this week. This will be the last part of the current phase of the flood control project, according to Coleman.

Phase No. 3 of the work will consist of channel improvements on Wills Creek. This work is not expected to start until next spring.

Flood control officials said that traffic will not be hampered too much longer as work is going ahead at this time speedily. Thomas Earl and Sons, subcontractor on the Frederick Street section of the project, is ahead of schedule in its work and it is believed the Frederick Street crossing of the B. and O. Railroad will not be closed any great length of time.

A point near Gibraltar, Spain, is farther south than any other point on the mainland of Europe.

Motorists Warned Big Drop Due In Gas Octane Rating

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., (AP) — American motorists soon may be limited to gasoline with "unsatisfactory performance."

This warning came from C. E. Davis, director of the refining division, Petroleum Administration for Defense, in an address to the National Petroleum Association.

Davis predicted a drastic curtailment of tetraethel lead for motor gasoline, unless the refining industry gets more allocated primary lead and more lead scrap.

New allocations, he said, will reduce the lead available for motor gasoline to 47 per cent of the August level.

"This would result in a three-octane number reduction on an average basis across the board," he added. Such a drastic reduction would mean severe hardship to all refiners and marketeers and also would result in very unsatisfactory performance in a large segment of the automotive fleet of the nation."

A three-octane drop would be about half the difference between regular and premium gasoline now.

Davis said the National Production Authority had given tetraethel manufacturers a September allocation of only 40 per cent of their requested total. This struck PAD like a "bombshell," he added.

Celanese Worker Given Award

Francis L. Bareis, 525 Fayette Street has been presented a wrist watch on the completion of 25 years employment at the Celanese plant. The award was made by Harrison C. Givens, Jr., plant manager.

Bareis was employed September 13, 1926, as a laboratory assistant and is a chemist in the Analytical Laboratory. He is one of only three persons who have been advanced to the position of chemist without a college education. He is a graduate of LaSalle Institute and has also completed various night classes and correspondence courses in chemistry.

He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, the Fourth Degree of the same order and Cumberland Lodge No. 63, B.P.O. Elks.

Jaycees Seek Auto Escorts

Thirty persons have volunteered to aid the Junior Association of Commerce in escorting the antique automobiles participating in the Glidden Tour into Cumberland from Clarysville.

Officials of the Jaycee welcome committee said yesterday about 30 more are needed and ask anyone desirous of aiding them to phone or write to the Jaycee office, Liberty Trust Building. A Hazen Road resident sent the committee a card stating he would be only too pleased to help from 12 noon until midnight on September 23 the day the antiquated cars will enter the Queen City.

The caravan is expected to make its appearance at Clarysville about noon and should be coming along the highway up until 5 p. m. Information desired includes name, address of driver and the hours during which he can furnish escort services to the local garage to which the antique car will be assigned.

Members of the tour will then be escorted to the hotel where reservations have been made. All of the 100 vehicles making the tours are more than 25 years old.

Owners include Edward A. Catlett, of Sacramento, Calif., who will drive a 1912 Kissell Kar the entire route, and William Harrah, of Reno, Nev., who has a 1907 Thomas model.

The tour will get underway September 22 in Pittsburgh and end September 27. Cumberland is one of three overnight stops.

Jaycees Seek Auto Escorts

Thirty persons have volunteered to aid the Junior Association of Commerce in escorting the antique automobiles participating in the Glidden Tour into Cumberland from Clarysville.

Officials of the Jaycee welcome committee said yesterday about 30 more are needed and ask anyone desirous of aiding them to phone or write to the Jaycee office, Liberty Trust Building. A Hazen Road resident sent the committee a card stating he would be only too pleased to help from 12 noon until midnight on September 23 the day the antiquated cars will enter the Queen City.

The caravan is expected to make its appearance at Clarysville about noon and should be coming along the highway up until 5 p. m. Information desired includes name, address of driver and the hours during which he can furnish escort services to the local garage to which the antique car will be assigned.

Members of the tour will then be escorted to the hotel where reservations have been made. All of the 100 vehicles making the tours are more than 25 years old.

Owners include Edward A. Catlett, of Sacramento, Calif., who will drive a 1912 Kissell Kar the entire route, and William Harrah, of Reno, Nev., who has a 1907 Thomas model.

The tour will get underway September 22 in Pittsburgh and end September 27. Cumberland is one of three overnight stops.

Church To Mark Anniversary Sunday, Sept. 23

Frostburg Group Plans Rededication

FROSTBURG—St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Main and Water Streets, will observe its 139th anniversary on Sunday morning, Sept. 23, at 10:45. This service will also mark the formal rededication of the recent extensive redecoration.

The Lutheran church of Frostburg is the pioneer church of the community, having been started in 1812. While the congregation has seen the rise and fall of several edifices the present building was dedicated in 1879 after a fire which occurred in 1874.

The congregation has been blessed through the years by unusual pastoral leadership of the Lutheran denomination. Some of the church's pastors left this field of labor and engaged in serving some of the large and influential churches of the United Lutheran Church in America, others were called to the general work of the Church and still others to particular educational institutions.

Pastors who have served the congregation are: Rev. John George Butler, D. D., 1812-1816; Rev. C. F. Heyer, D.O., LL.D., 1819-1825; Rev. N. B. Little, 1826-1828; Rev. Henry Haverstick, 1829-1832; Rev. John Kehler, 1833-1841; Rev. Jesse Winecoff, 1842-1843; Rev. Christian Lepley, D. D., 1844-1855; Rev. Jesse Winecoff, 1856-1858; Rev. Frederick Benedict, 1859-1860; Rev. A. H. Aughe, 1861-1866; Rev. Henry Bishop, 1867-1870; Rev. David L. MacKenzie, D. D., 1871-1878; Rev. Paul L. Harrison, 1879-1883; Rev. William A. Shipman, D. D., 1884-1887; Rev. E. C. Jessup, 1888-1889; Rev. W. H. Jordy, 1890; Rev. Charles A. Britt, 1890-1898; Rev. Samuel G. Heffelbower, D. D., Ph. D., LL.D., 1899-1901; Rev. Frederick Wagner, D. D., 1901-1910; Rev. F. H. Crissman, 1911-1914; Rev. Harry Hursh Beidelman, D. D., 1915-1922; Rev. Paul A. Weidley, D. D., 1923-1930; Rev. Walter V. Simon, 1931-1945; Rev. Justus Liesmann, 1945-1948; and Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, 1948 to the present.

12 Frostburg State Teachers' Instructors Work For Degrees

FROSTBURG — Twelve instructors at Frostburg State Teachers College and at the laboratory school are doing summer work toward degrees, Miss Lillian C. Compton, college president, announced yesterday.

They are:

Mrs. Mary Ainslie, summer session at Columbia University.

Kenneth Babcock, summer session at University of Maryland toward doctor of education degree.

Mrs. Lucille Clay, year of 1950-51 and summer session at University of Kentucky toward degree.

Robert Elderdice, 1949-50 part-time teaching and part-time study, 1950-51 part time teaching and part-time study, summer session studying for doctor's degree.

Miss Margaret Hamilton, summer session at Penn State College, completing her work for master's degree.

Joseph Kohout, half year, 1950-51, full year 1951-52 and summer session at George Peabody College, Nashville, toward degree.

Walter Rissler, summer session at Columbia University toward doctor of education degree.

Miss Betty Roemmelmeyer, summer session at Columbia University to complete work for master's degree.

Miss Leila Stevens, summer session at University of Wisconsin toward degree.

Miss Ruth Sherman taught at University of Maryland during the summer session, and Alfred Taylor at Radford College.

Central Juniors Pick Committees

LONACONING — Entertainment and decoration committees for the Junior Class at Central High School were appointed recently by James Foote, president.

Heading the entertainment committee are Laura Louise Dilfer, Helen Crable, Mary Lou Dawson and Marlene Wilson.

Barton PTA Will Buy Patrol Raincoats

BARTON — The Barton PTA decided to purchase raincoats for members of the Safety Patrol at its last meeting, at which President James Chappell appointed committees for the new school year.

Committee appointments:

Membership, Mrs. Jerald Derham; program, Mrs. Doris Mitchell; publicity, Cecil Metz; hospitality, Miss Martha McDonaldson and health, June Mowbray.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Nov. 6. It will feature a covered dish supper, starting at 6 p. m. Sixth grade won the attendance award with seven members present.

Lonaconing Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Tony Perricelli, Baden, Pa., were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Reed, St. Mary's Terrace.

Mrs. Ralph Reed will return with her husband to reside for several months at Ambridge, Pa.

Mrs. Charles W. Bogan, Washington, D. C., is visiting her son, Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Parents Face Fine If Junior Blows Horn Too Much

KEYSER, W. Va.—Parents of boys who blow their bike horns unnecessarily will face legal action, State Police said yesterday.

The officers pointed out that horns are intended for use only as warning devices when bikes are in operation.

Police said several Keyser residents have complained that boys collect in groups, stand by their bicycles and blow long continuous blasts on their horns. Others ride down the street, horns blowing wildly.

Fines are in store for parents of violators, said police. They also warned that more serious penalties are provided for second offenses.

Ministers Meet In Frostburg

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Ministerial Association resumed monthly meetings Monday morning at the Lutheran parsonage.

Officers elected to serve for the ensuing year are president, Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of the First Methodist Church; vice-president, Rev. J. Bodies Of Four Tri-State Korean Dead Returned

The bodies of four area soldiers who lost their lives in the Korean war arrived Wednesday in San Francisco aboard the Valdosta Victory.

Among 604 dead heroes returned to the United States for reburial were:

Warrant Officer (jg) Ralph E. Wilson, Jr., husband of Mrs. Mabel S. Wilson, Mt. Savage; Pfc. Max W. Liller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Errice L. Liller, Mt. Lake Park; Cpl. Stanley A. Blye, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Blye, 41 East Harrison Street, Piedmont, W. Va., and Cpl. Benjamin F. Smith, son of Mrs. Alice Mowery, Route 2, Everett, Pa.

Dies In Hospital

WO Wilson died January 15 in a hospital in Japan from wounds received January 7 near Wonju while serving with a medical unit attached to the Second Infantry Division.

A 1935 graduate of Mt. Savage High School, he attended Catherman's Business School here and later accepted a position with R. D. Wilson and Sons, Clarksburg, W. Va.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Wilson, Sr., he entered service in May, 1942, and served three years in Germany. While home on furlough last summer, he was ordered to report to Fort Lewis, Wash., for assignment to Korea in July.

Besides his wife and parents, Wilson is survived by three children.

Reported Missing

Pfc. Liller previously was reported missing in action.

Cpl. Blye, who was killed April 9, attended Piedmont Elementary School and worked at the B. and O. car shops in Keyser, W. Va., for 30 months before enlisting in the Army February 27, 1948, at Westernport. His enlistment terminated last February but the Korean war necessitated his remaining in Japan.

A member of the Third Combat Engineers, 24th Infantry Division, Cpl. Blye was awarded the Bronze Star medal January 2, 1951, for outstanding duty in action. In Korea since July 1950, he returned home once from Japan on emergency leave due to the serious illness of his mother.

Church To Mark Anniversary Sunday, Sept. 23

Frostburg Group Plans Rededication

FROSTBURG—St. Paul's Lutheran Church, West Main and Water Streets, will observe its 139th anniversary on Sunday morning, Sept. 23, at 10:45. This service will also mark the formal rededication of the recent extensive redecoration.

The Lutheran church of Frostburg is the pioneer church of the community, having been started in 1812. While the congregation has seen the rise and fall of several edifices the present building was dedicated in 1879 after a fire which occurred in 1874.

The congregation has been blessed through the years by unusual pastoral leadership of the Lutheran denomination. Some of the church's pastors left this field of labor and engaged in serving some of the large and influential churches of the United Lutheran Church in America, others were called to the general work of the Church and still others to particular educational institutions.

Pastors who have served the congregation are: Rev. John George Butler, D. D., 1812-1816; Rev. C. F. Heyer, D.O., LL.D., 1819-1825; Rev. N. B. Little, 1826-1828; Rev. Henry Haverstick, 1829-1832; Rev. John Kehler, 1833-1841; Rev. Jesse Winecoff, 1842-1843; Rev. Christian Lepley, D. D., 1844-1855; Rev. Jesse Winecoff, 1856-1858; Rev. Frederick Benedict, 1859-1860; Rev. A. H. Aughe, 1861-1866; Rev. Henry Bishop, 1867-1870; Rev. David L. MacKenzie, D. D., 1871-1878; Rev. Paul L. Harrison, 1879-1883; Rev. William A. Shipman, D. D., 1884-1887; Rev. E. C. Jessup, 1888-1889; Rev. W. H. Jordy, 1890; Rev. Charles A. Britt, 1890-1898; Rev. Samuel G. Heffelbower, D. D., Ph. D., LL.D., 1899-1901; Rev. Frederick Wagner, D. D., 1901-1910; Rev. F. H. Crissman, 1911-1914; Rev. Harry Hursh Beidelman, D. D., 1915-1922; Rev. Paul A. Weidley, D. D., 1923-1930; Rev. Walter V. Simon, 1931-1945; Rev. Justus Liesmann, 1945-1948; and Rev. Harold R. Stoudt, 1948 to the present.

Condition "Chaotic" At Oakland High

OAKLAND — Garrett County schools this year have an enrollment of 4,627, including 1,656 in high schools and 2,971 in the lower grades.

The situation at Oakland High was described as "chaotic" the first day, with 818 students jammed into the building. The seventh grade class, removed this year from the elementary school, took up residence briefly in the auditorium.

Friday, quarters were found for the newcomers in other parts of the city. The 7A group, taught by Mrs. Geraldine Wright, is being housed in the basement of St. Mark's Lutheran Church. Carmen Monda's 7B section is holding classes in the Episcopal Parish House and the 7C section taught by Miss Madeline McDowell is on the second floor of the City Hall.

Four new temporary classrooms are being constructed on the high school athletic field, and when completed the seventh grade classes, and one eighth grade section now holding classes on the stage of the school auditorium, will be housed there.

It was pointed out that holding classes in buildings other than schools is not new, since Grantsville and Kitzmiller have used other buildings for several years.

About 35 years ago, when the Oakland school was damaged by wind, classes were held in the First National Bank building and above the Maryland Theatre.

Tentative enrollment at the Elementary School has been listed by Edwin Elias, principal, as about 450. A few more are expected there. This represents a drop of about 50 students from last year, due to the removal of the seventh grade to the high school.

At Oakland High, the enrollment by grades was given as seventh grade, 96; eighth grade, 205; ninth grade, 187; tenth grade, 113; eleventh grade, 115; twelfth grade, 82. Last year's enrollment was 636 without the extra grade.

There are 38 faculty members this year, compared with 31 the year before.

Enrollment in the top seven grades at other schools was listed as: Friendsville, 212; Accident, 192; Grantsville, 307; Kitzmiller, 127.

St. Peter's School in Oakland reported an enrollment of 85.

AIDS CAMPAIGN — Mrs. Thelma Brand Loudin of Fairmont, W. Va., has been named associate chairman of the $1,000,000 statewide campaign to finance the development of the West Virginia FFA-FHA Camp and Conference Center near Ripley. The new associate chairman is vice-president of the State Board of Education, the first woman ever to hold that position with the board. She was appointed to the board in 1941. Following a legislative reorganization in 1947, she was renamed to an eight-year term.

Kiwanis Holds Charter Night

KEYSER, W. Va.—Charter night was observed by Keyser Kiwanis Club at its regular meeting Wednesday evening with a satirical representation of the activities of the charter presentation a year ago.

Members represented individuals who attended the initial meeting, some of the visitors being state district and division officers and official representatives of the Cumberland and Charles Town clubs which sponsored the Keyser unit.

A skit was staged in which the various persons in official capacity performed the rites of bringing birth to the Keyser club. The first anniversary of the inaugural meeting of the local unit will be observed in a few weeks at which time there will be visitors from other clubs in attendance.

At the conclusion of the presentation of the founding skit, President James Handlan, Jr., told the members that in finishing his year as first executive, he believed that the toddling youngster is ready to be started out in the world as a healthy youngster who is already showing an ambitious spirit.

Woman Hears Husband From Pusan, Korea

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mrs. Allen Hodges, 38 South Mineral Street had a pleasant fifth wedding anniversary present Wednesday when her husband called her from Korea.

Capt. Hodges talked with his wife by wireless telephone combination from Pusan, in South Korea Mrs. Hodges, who was mightily pleased with her anniversary present, said there was no interference. Capt. Hodges left Keyser January 22 and soon afterwards was sent to Korea with other reservists.

Dr. Davis Will Aid In Keyser Church Program

Methodist Evangelism Event Set Sept. 21-30

KEYSER, W. Va. — Dr. L. G. Davis has been assigned to assist Rev. Lloyd Myers, pastor of the Grace Methodist Church, Keyser, in the United Evangelistic Advance program which is getting underway in the entire West Virginia Conference.

Dr. Davis represents the General Board of Evangelism, Nashville, Tenn., and is serving as associate director in the conference during the first phase of the program giving instruction in pulpit evangelism in the Moorefield District School of Evangelism, here, September 21-30. He will also direct the second phase.

Dr. Davis was educated in the public schools of Wooster, Ohio. He received his A. B. and D. D. degrees from Taylor University, Upland, Ind. He is a member of the Indiana Annual Conference, Conference Relations Committee, Board of Missions and Church Extension, Commission of World Service and Finance, treasurer of the conference, Conference secretary of Evangelism, and was district superintendent for six years in the Muncie District. He is also a member of the Jurisdictional Conference in Minneapolis.

Dr. Davis is married and has two sons.

Lists of prospects for church membership are being prepared, Rev. Myers said, and plans are under way for making visits to these people.

Special preaching services will be held in Grace Methodist Church, South Mineral Street, beginning Sunday, September 23, at which time Dr. Jacobs will deliver the sermons.

Keyser Odd Fellows Will Honor Rice

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Decoration of Chivalry will be conferred on Raymond Rice, in the Keyser High School gymnasium at 8 p. m. Saturday by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. This is the highest honor that can be bestowed by the order on an individual.

Rice is not the first citizen of Keyser to receive the honor, but this will be the first time this decoration has been conferred in this city. The public is permitted to attend the ceremony, when Brig. Gen. Fred L. Morgan, Charleston, confers the decoration. He will be assisted by Canton Tucker No. 1 and Mary Ervin Auxiliary No. 7, both of Keyser.

For the occasion, there will be uniformed Chevaliers and ladies from other parts of West Virginia, as well as from adjoining states.

Driver Fined In Hit-Skip Road Mishap

West Virginia State Police Wednesday arrested the driver of the truck involved in a hit-run accident Sunday at Wiley Ford in which G. Wilson Altizer, 36, of Route 5, city, was injured.

The driver, Edward Leroy Potter, 23, of Romney, pleaded guilty to a motor vehicle charge Wednesday night before Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle. He was fined $10 and ordered to pay court costs of $5.70.

Altizer is a patient in Memorial Hospital suffering a fracture of the left leg. Attaches yesterday morning reported him in "good" condition. He was changing a tire at the time of the mishap.

Altizer, formerly associated with the Department of Internal Revnue in Uniontown, Pa., is now employed as deputy collector with the revenue department in Cumberland. He was assigned to the Uniontown office until several months ago when he was transferred to the branch here.

State Librarians Meet At Oakland

OAKLAND — County and municipal librarians of Maryland met yesterday in the Ruth Enlow Library here.

Some 30 persons attended the meetings, including several members of the Division of Library Extension of the State Department of Education.

The meeting began with an afternoon session at 1:30 o'clock. The group held a dinner meeting last night at the William James Hotel with the Board of Trustees of the Ruth Enlow Library. After dinner there was another session at the library.

Final session this morning will be followed by a tour of some of Garrett County's scenic areas. A late afternoon picnic at Swallow Falls is planned if the weather is suitable.

Rubber Workers To Act On New Wage Boost

Negotiators Reach Pay Agreement

Members of Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union of America, CIO, will meet Sunday at 2:30 p.m. in the union hall on South Mechanic Street to act on ratification of a new wage agreement with the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, according to Raymond C. Burkhart, union president.

Negotiations were held during the past two weeks and Burkhart said the agreement was reached amicably. Neither the union nor company would comment on the amount of wage increase offered, but indications are that the settlement is on the same basis as that reached by the "Big Four" rubber companies, Goodyear, Firestone, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber.

The "Big Four" has agreed to a 13-cent an hour wage increase which would be subject to approval of the Wage Stabilization Board. Terms of the "Big Four" agreement provided for one cent to be used for intraplant inequities.

The Kelly local had announced prior to opening of negotiations that it would ask for a flat pay hike and something to correct intraplant inequities. The present wage scale averages $1.62 an hour.

Burkhart also announced at Sunday's meeting the membership will hear recommendations of the Executive Board and Building Committee on the proposed purchase of the Cook building on North Mechanic Street as a union office headquarters.

The two-story structure was built recently by John S. Cook, local contractor, and is suitable for various offices and contains a meeting room. Burkhart said at times when large general membership meetings are necessary the State Armory can be used.

The present offices are on the third floor of the I.O.O.F. building on South Mechanic Street.

Burkhart said three members of Local 26 are on their way to Long Beach, Calif., as delegates to the international convention which opens Monday. They are Stanley Zorick, union treasurer; Patrick Atkinson, union secretary and Earl Harrison, union member.

William Baker Heads Playground Group

Other officers inclde Kirk Twigg, vice president; Mrs. Rosella Landis, secretary, and Pete King, treasurer.

The playground group will hold a festival Saturday from noon to 9:30 p. m. at the playground. Refreshment will be available and entertainment will be provided.

Police Continue Probe Of Mystery Explosion

State and county authorities are continuing their investigation of a mysterious explosion and fire which demolished a small tool and powder shed at the Campbell Coal Company's Hampshire Mine near Barton Tuesday.

Arson is suspected, but police said the blast and fire covered up any possible clues. The explosion was the 11th case of suspected arson at the mines in less than three years. Damage was estimated at $200.

Detroit Tigers Belt New York

Yankees Suffer 3rd Successive Loss, 9-2

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The pennant hopes of the New York Yankees sunk to a low ebb today as the Detroit Tigers whomped them, 9-2, to drop the defending champions a game and a half behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians with only 16 games left to play.

It was New York's third straight defeat by a second division club and followed on the heels of Tuesday's double setback at the hands of the tail-end St. Louis Browns.

The loss also imperiled the Yankees' hold on second place as it cut their margin over the surging Boston Red Sox to only two and a half games. The Red Sox, who nipped the Browns, 5-4, meet the Yankees eight more times this month.

A seven-run fifth inning by the Tigers, featured by Vic Wertz's tremendous homer into the centerfield bleachers, was the crusher for the Yankees. The locals contributed to the barrage with some loose fielding that has marked their play in recent days. The Yankees made four errors today to increase their total to nine in their last three games.

Ed Lopat, seeking his 20th victory, was shelled out in the fifth before he could retire a batter and went down to his eighth setback. Tom Morgan also received a pasting before giving way to Bob Hogue in the eighth.

Virgil Trucks went the distance for the Tigers, coasting along behind his big lead and giving up seven hits. It was the 10th victory of the season for the righthander and the 100th of his major league career which began with Detroit in 1941. Box:

New York at Chicago—Hearn (14-8) vs Rush (9-9).

Brooklyn at Pittsburgh—(night)—Roe (19-2) vs Dickson (18-13).

Philadelphia at Cincinnati—(night)—Church (13-10) or Johnson (5-6) vs Ramsdell (9-15).

Boston Red Sox Beat Garver, 5-4

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Dom DiMaggio's triple and Johnny Pesky's infield hit with two out in the 10th inning today enabled the Boston Red Sox to bolster their pennant hopes with a 5-4 victory over Ned Garver, the St. Louis Browns' pitching ace.

The second extra-inning triumph in two days moved the Red Sox to within two and a half games of the second-place New York Yankees, who bowed to the Detroit Tigers. The front-running Cleveland Indians took a game and a half lead into a night engagement in Washington.

Mel Parnell, the Boston starter, was replaced by Ellis Kinder when Wood clouted his 14th four-bagger after Earl Rapp had singled. And that rubber-armed relief specialist went on to gain his 10th win against two losses while keeping the opposition hitless for two and a third innings. It was his 57th mound appearance, all but two in relief. Box:

Score Six In Second To Whip Sal Maglie

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Sporting seven lefthand hitters in a row, the St. Louis Cardinals kayoed Sal Maglie in the second inning today and went on to beat New York 6-4 — setting the second-place Giants six full lengths behind the idle Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Brooks have 17 more games to play against only 13 for the Giants.

Today's contest was the opener of a mixed doubleheader, something which hasn't been done in the majors since the 1880s. The Redbirds meet the Boston Braves in the finale tonight.

All six Cardinal runs were scored in the second inning of the afternoon contest. Six singles, a couple of walks, a sacrifice, an error and a fly ball lost in the sun accounted for the tallies.

The outburst forced Maglie out of the game and he was relieved by Montia Kennedy.

Tom Poholsky, who started for the Redbirds, was forced out of the game during the scoring spree in the second with a cut right leg. He suffered the injury while sliding into home.

Dick Bokelmann relieved him and got credit for the triumph, his third aganst as many defeats. Maglie, who was trying for his 21st victory, was the loser. Box:

Cleveland Bows To Porterfield

Nat Twirler Blanks League Leaders, 1-0

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—Washington's Bob Porterfield pitched a brilliant three-hitter tonight to defeat Cleveland, 1-0, and keep the American League pennant race in a feverish state. The Indians' loss enabled the New York Yankees, beaten today by Detroit, to remain one game back of Cleveland, which holds a 3½-game edge over Boston.

Beaten 18 straight times by the league's top three clubs and whipped in nine of their last 19 games, the Senators produced their only run off Bob Lemon in the third inning as the result of a two-base error by second baseman Bobby Avila.

Avila permitted Irv Noren's hard grounder to get between his legs and when the ball trickled into centerfield Noren legged it safely to second. Mickey Vernon, who accounted for three of Washington's 10 hits off Lemon, singled to left, scoring Noren. Score:

British Writers Back Referee For Stopping Fight

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Boxing writers for all three of the London afternoon newspapers today backed Referee Ruby Goldstein for stopping the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight in the tenth round at New York's Polo Grounds last night.

Goldstein stopped the bout at 2:52 of the tenth as Robinson battered the 23-year-old Englishman who was pinned to the ropes.

The British writers' comments, cabled from New York, served to calm down some of the bitter rooters who let loose with the British equivalent of "We Wuz Robbed."

Turpin's comment that "it shouldn't have been stopped, there was only eight seconds to go," brought to mind the Gus Lesnevich-Freddie Mills light heavyweight championship bout in Earls Court Arena, May 14, 1946.

Lesnevich, the champion from Cliffside, N. J., was awarded a technical knockout over Britain's Freddie with four seconds to go in the 10th round. The referee was Eugene Henderson who handled the first Turpin-Robinson bout in London, July 10.

This didn't lessen the gloom that hung over England, however, especially in Leamington Spa, Randy's hometown.

Hercules Powder Company Wins Softball Tournament

Tops C. & P. Telephone In Final Game, 7 To 4

Hercules Powder Company won the first annual Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament last night by defeating the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 7-4.

In the 7th and final game of the 4-day tournament, directed by Edmund F. Hoey, of the City Recreation Department, Frank Toler emerged the victor over Hayden Phillips. Both teams played in the Industrial League this season. Other clubs competing in the tourney were from the Rocking Chair League, the County League and the Men's Division of the City Rec League.

Hercules advanced to the finals by defeating Cunningham's Grocery, 2-1, and the B.P.O. Elks, 9-1. The Phonemen knocked off the Amvets of the Rec League, 12-2, and the Eagles, champions of the Rocking Chair League, 5-0 before being defeated last night.

The Powder Company tossers collected 10 hits, six of which were shared by Johnny Cox, Donald Whiteman and Cunningham. Ted Durbin's rapped a homer and two singles to pace the C. & P. hitters while Phillips smacked two singles.

C. & P. took a 1-0 lead on Durbin's 4-bagger in the first inning, Hercules knotted the count at 1-1 in the second and sewed up the game with three-run rallies in the third and fifth stanzas.

Phillips, losing pitcher, fanned eight and yielded 10 hits. Toler

Lions Defeat B'nai B'rith For Title, 4-2

Dawson Fans Dozen, Landis Hits 3-Run Triple In First

Bobby Dawson scattered six hits and fired the third strike past an even dozen batsmen last night as the Cumberland Lions Club defeated B'nai B'rith by the score of 4-2 in the third and deciding game of the series for the championship of the Hot Stove Baseball League before approximately 1,000 persons at Penn Avenue Field.

All three games in the series were close. B'nai B'rith won the opener, 4-3, in 11 innings, and the Lions captured the second game, 3-2.

The big blow was struck in the very first inning when Jerry Landis, Lions' catcher, hammered a triple with the bases full. B'nai B'rith was unable to overcome this lead.

Widdows, Landis and Dawson collected two hits each for the Lions from the offerings of Conway, the starting and losing pitcher, and Kline who finished on the mound for B'nai B'rith. McKenzie and Allen shared hitting honors for the losing nine, each getting two safeties.

The Lions, pennant winners, during the regular season, were managed by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board of Allegany County Commissioners and one-time F. O. Eagles, Potomac Edison and Cumberland Legion hurler. His assistants were his son, "Jimmie" and his cousin "Bill" Stevenson, well known sandlot pitcher of recent years.

Last night's game marked the lowering of the curtain on the first season for the Hot Stove League. Box:

Detroit Tigers Belt New York

Yankees Suffer 3rd Successive Loss, 9-2

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—The pennant hopes of the New York Yankees sunk to a low ebb today as the Detroit Tigers whomped them, 9-2, to drop the defending champions a game and a half behind the league-leading Cleveland Indians with only 16 games left to play.

It was New York's third straight defeat by a second division club and followed on the heels of Tuesday's double setback at the hands of the tail-end St. Louis Browns.

The loss also imperiled the Yankees' hold on second place as it cut their margin over the surging Boston Red Sox to only two and a half games. The Red Sox, who nipped the Browns, 5-4, meet the Yankees eight more times this month.

A seven-run fifth inning by the Tigers, featured by Vic Wertz's tremendous homer into the centerfield bleachers, was the crusher for the Yankees. The locals contributed to the barrage with some loose fielding that has marked their play in recent days. The Yankees made four errors today to increase their total to nine in their last three games.

Ed Lopat, seeking his 20th victory, was shelled out in the fifth before he could retire a batter and went down to his eighth setback. Tom Morgan also received a pasting before giving way to Bob Hogue in the eighth.

Virgil Trucks went the distance for the Tigers, coasting along behind his big lead and giving up seven hits. It was the 10th victory of the season for the righthander and the 100th of his major league career which began with Detroit in 1941. Box:

Boston Red Sox Beat Garver, 5-4

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Dom DiMaggio's triple and Johnny Pesky's infield hit with two out in the 10th inning today enabled the Boston Red Sox to bolster their pennant hopes with a 5-4 victory over Ned Garver, the St. Louis Browns' pitching ace.

The second extra-inning triumph in two days moved the Red Sox to within two and a half games of the second-place New York Yankees, who bowed to the Detroit Tigers. The front-running Cleveland Indians took a game and a half lead into a night engagement in Washington.

Mel Parnell, the Boston starter, was replaced by Ellis Kinder when Wood clouted his 14th four-bagger after Earl Rapp had singled. And that rubber-armed relief specialist went on to gain his 10th win against two losses while keeping the opposition hitless for two and a third innings. It was his 57th mound appearance, all but two in relief. Box:

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 13 (AP) — Pronto Don from the Hayes Fair Acres Stable of Duquoin, Ill., rushed up in the stretch tonight to win the $50,000 Roosevelt two-mile trot at Roosevelt Raceway and set a new world record of 4:10 4-5.

Cleveland Bows To Porterfield

Nat Twirler Blanks League Leaders, 1-0

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13. (AP)—Washington's Bob Porterfield pitched a brilliant three-hitter tonight to defeat Cleveland, 1-0, and keep the American League pennant race in a feverish state. The Indians' loss enabled the New York Yankees, beaten today by Detroit, to remain one game back of Cleveland, which holds a 3½-game edge over Boston.

Beaten 18 straight times by the league's top three clubs and whipped in nine of their last 19 games, the Senators produced their only run off Bob Lemon in the third inning as the result of a two-base error by second baseman Bobby Avila.

Avila permitted Irv Noren's hard grounder to get between his legs and when the ball trickled into centerfield Noren legged it safely to second. Mickey Vernon, who accounted for three of Washington's 10 hits off Lemon, singled to left, scoring Noren. Score:

British Writers Back Referee For Stopping Fight

LONDON, Sept. 13 (AP) — Boxing writers for all three of the London afternoon newspapers today backed Referee Ruby Goldstein for stopping the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin middleweight title fight in the tenth round at New York's Polo Grounds last night.

Goldstein stopped the bout at 2:52 of the tenth as Robinson battered the 23-year-old Englishman who was pinned to the ropes.

The British writers' comments, cabled from New York, served to calm down some of the bitter rooters who let loose with the British equivalent of "We Wuz Robbed."

Turpin's comment that "it shouldn't have been stopped, there was only eight seconds to go," brought to mind the Gus Lesnevich-Freddie Mills light heavyweight championship bout in Earls Court Arena, May 14, 1946.

Lesnevich, the champion from Cliffside, N. J., was awarded a technical knockout over Britain's Freddie with four seconds to go in the 10th round. The referee was Eugene Henderson who handled the first Turpin-Robinson bout in London, July 10.

This didn't lessen the gloom that hung over England, however, especially in Leamington Spa, Randy's hometown.

Widdows is fullback, and tips the beam at 178 while Robeson is a tackle and weighs 196. Both players are seniors.

Hercules Powder Company Wins Softball Tournament

Tops C. & P. Telephone In Final Game, 7 To 4

Hercules Powder Company won the first annual Western Maryland Invitational Softball Tournament last night by defeating the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company at Penn Avenue Field by the score of 7-4.

In the 7th and final game of the 4-day tournament, directed by Edmund F. Hoey, of the City Recreation Department, Frank Toler emerged the victor over Hayden Phillips. Both teams played in the Industrial League this season. Other clubs competing in the tourney were from the Rocking Chair League, the County League and the Men's Division of the City Rec League.

Hercules advanced to the finals by defeating Cunningham's Grocery, 2-1, and the B.P.O. Elks, 9-1. The Phonemen knocked off the Amvets of the Rec League, 12-2, and the Eagles, champions of the Rocking Chair League, 5-0 before being defeated last night.

The Powder Company tossers collected 10 hits, six of which were shared by Johnny Cox, Donald Whiteman and Cunningham. Ted Durbin's rapped a homer and two singles to pace the C. & P. hitters while Phillips smacked two singles.

C. & P. took a 1-0 lead on Durbin's 4-bagger in the first inning, Hercules knotted the count at 1-1 in the second and sewed up the game with three-run rallies in the third and fifth stanzas.

Phillips, losing pitcher, fanned eight and yielded 10 hits. Toler

Sportsman's Loop Receives $484.65 From Tournament

Gate receipts of the first annual Western Maryland Invitational Tournament of seven games and the Lions-B'nai B'rith Hot Stove League championship contest amounted to $484.65 which will go toward the formation of the "Sportsman's League" — a baseball circuit for 15 and 16 year old boys — next season.

Edmund F. Hoey, director of the softball tourney, reported that 820 persons paid $242.55 to witness last night's twin bill between Hercules Powder and C. & P. Telephone Company and the Lions and B'nai B'rith.

Tourney receipts were $116.25 Wednesday, $73.80 Tuesday and $52.05 Monday.

Spahn Hurls 1-Hitter, Boston Tops Cards, 2-0

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 13 (AP)—Southpaw Warren Spahn stole the show in the St. Louis Cardinals' unorthodox doubleheader attraction tonight by defeating the Cards 2-0 for the Boston Braves with a one-hit pitching performance for his 20th victory of the season. In an afternoon game the Cardinals defeated the New York Giants, 6-4. Score:

Lions Defeat B'nai B'rith For Title, 4-2

Dawson Fans Dozen, Landis Hits 3-Run Triple In First

Bobby Dawson scattered six hits and fired the third strike past an even dozen batsmen last night at the Cumberland Lions Club defeated B'nai B'rith by the score of 4-2 in the third and deciding game of the series for the championship of the Hot Stove Baseball League before approximately 1,000 persons at Penn Avenue Field.

All three games in the series were close. B'nai B'rith won the opener, 4-3, in 11 innings, and the Lions captured the second game, 3-2.

The big blow was struck in the very first inning when Jerry Landis, Lions' catcher, hammered a triple with the bases full. B'nai B'rith was unable to overcome this lead.

Widdows, Landis and Dawson collected two hits each for the Lions from the offerings of Conway, the starting and losing pitcher, and Kline who finished on the mound for B'nai B'rith. McKenzie and Allen shared hitting honors for the losing nine, each getting two safeties.

The Lions, pennant winners, during the regular season, were managed by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the board of Allegany County Commissioners and one-time F. O. Eagles, Potomac Edison and Cumberland Legion hurler. His assistants were his son, "Jimmie" and his cousin "Bill" Stevenson, well known sandlot pitcher of recent years.

Last night's game marked the lowering of the curtain on the first season for the Hot Stove League. Box:

Upsets Continue To Mark National Amateur Tourney

Tommy Jacobs, Jr., 16, Is Victor; Coe Beaten

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 13—(AP)—Tommy Jacobs, Jr., a fuzz-faced lad of 16 from the public links of Montebello, Calif., shot his way into the semi-finals of the National Amateur Golf Tournament today to complete about the most nondescript round of four imaginable.

Advancing with him in the wake of staggering upsets that eliminated every titan of American amateur golf were Joe Gagliardi, 39-year-old Mamaroneck, N, Y., lawyer; Jack Benson, big Pittsburgh realtor who hits the ball a country mile, and Billy Maxwell, 22-year-old collegian from Odessa, Tex.

Gagliardi, who has five little Gagliardis back home in Westchester County, continued his giant-killing role when he ousted Oklahoma City's Charles Coe, 1949 U. S. champion two up. He put out defending champion Sam Urzetta yesterday.

Benson, sighting his shots through thick spectacles, took the measure of Harold Paddock, Walker cup member from Aurora, Ill., in the morning before disposing of Jim Frisina of Springfield, Ill., 4 and 3 in the afternoon.

But is was Jacobs, the youngest player in 47 years to make such a challenge in this 51-year-old championship, who captured the imagination of the gallery as he cut down two opponents to move into tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals.

The 145-pound west coast lad, completely unawed by his first appearance in a major men's tournament, defeated 19-year-old Billy Picard of Charleston, S. C., one up, and then conquered Edward Martin of Winchester, Mass., the champion of his state, 4 and 2.

He and Maxwell will carry the banners of youth against age in tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals over the 6,797-yard, par 71 Saucon Valley Country club course.

The stocky, deliberate Maxwell, a student at North Texas State, eliminated a teammate, Laur Crannell of Dallas, in the morning, one up on 19 holes and then he was carried 20 holes in the afternoon to overcome Arnold Blum, Southern champion from Macon, Ga.

Jacobs plays Gagliardi and Benson opposes Maxwell to see who will fight it out for the championship Saturday.

Jacob's triumphs sent historians thumbing through the record books and they found that not even Atlanta's "wonder boy," Bobby Jones, matched this early pace in his youth.

Bobby was 14 when he qualified and won two rounds at Merion in 1916 but he was 17 when he gained the finals at Oakmont in 1919, losing to S. Davidson Herron. Jones won his first amateur championship in 1924 at Merion.

You have to go all the way back to 1904 to find another 16-year-old making a similar bold bid for the amateur crown. Fred Herreshoff was just that age when he lost to Chandler Egan in the finals at Baltusrol.

Bob Doerr Can't Play Regularly With Boston Sox

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Red Sox today disclosed second baseman Bobby Doerr can not play regularly any more, at least this season, on recommendation of physicians.

Doerr has been bothered by a back injury and two Lahey Clinic physicians described the veteran ball player's disability as a "facet syndrome."

That means unusual mobility of the joints of the lower spine, it was explained by the clinic which added, many years of stooping and bending caused a "mild local reaction."

Any quick or sudden movement, it was explained further, results in spasms of the back muscles.

Surgery is not necessary the club was told and Doerr's ability to play next season will be determined by tests and examination after the current season.

this season and he is confident the 1951 squad will better the 2-8 record of last year's eleven.

Coach Ralph Poling of Ridgeley announces that Albert Decker fullback, will be the 1951 captain of the Blackhawks. Ronald Abe, end, will be captain for today's opener which will be refereed by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh.

Ridgeley's starting lineup will find Robert Bradley and Ronald Abe at ends; Eddie Moore and Forrest Taylor, tackles; Wayne Magruder and Andrew White, guards; Lowell Loy, quarterback; Howard Maiers and Burke Baker, halfbacks, and Albert Decker, fullback.

"Ace" Comer and Don Blankenship will captain the Alumni team which has been working out with the varsity for the past two weeks.

Hahn Names Officials

Coach William P. Hahn of Fort Hill announced last night that officials for the game between Linsly Military Institute of Wheeling and Fort Hill here Saturday night at 8 o'clock will be C. William Spangler, referee; John Shelton, umpire; John Blough, head linesman, and William Orndorff, field judge.

Hahn is expecting a tough tussle from the Wheeling eleven which has retained seven regulars from the 1950 squad that won seven and lost two.

The local mentor expects to start John Farris at quarterback in place of Cage and Alderton will be at center in place of Shore who suffered a leg injury.

Fort Hill will play West Fairmont High at Fairmont Friday night, Sept. 21 instead of Saturday, September 22, as previously announced.

Quiet Cops $10,000 Feature At Aqueduct

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Closing with a tremendous rush along the inside, Mrs. R. G. Woolfe's Quiet won the 30th running of the $10,000 added Bushwick Hurdle Handicap at Aqueduct Race Track in near record time today.

The gelded six-year-old son of Pilate-Composure, ably handled by Frank D. (Dooley) Adams, was timed in the two mile grind through the field in 3:48, a fifth off the track mark set by Enon on June 29, 1950.

Quiet won by a neck over William M. Duryea's Halley, who was a neck to the van of Bayard Tuckerman Jr.'s Quaker Miss. Sanford Stud Farms' Fulton, the favorite, loaded down with 160 pounds, eight over scale, wilted badly in the stretch after leading most of the way, and finished fourth.

Legislators Protest Fight Blackout On TV

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The television blackout to home-side fans on the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin prize fight stirred congressional protests today.

Rep. Sutton (D-Tenn) proposed investigating theater "monopolies" on televised sporting events.

Dates Announced For Golf Matches

The Presidents and Vice-Presidents golf match between teams captained by William A. Douglas and Albert W. Keight will be played over the Cumberland Country Club course Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

A dinner will be held for both teams Wednesday, September 26.

The annual golf match between Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and Celanese Corporation of America will be staged Saturday, September 29 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Smith Is Leader In Eastern Open

Virginian Posts 67 For Opening Round

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Al Smith, who "just came up from Danville, Va., for a little vacation," went out in front in the $15,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament today with 67, five under par and two over the course record.

The closest more illustrious names of the game could come to Smith was two strokes. Three of the field of 146, including Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C. tied for second place at 69.

Four more were tied at 70, and among seven bunched at 71 was Lloyd Mangrum, winner of last year's inaugural eastern open and this year's leading money winner.

Another area golfer who sticks close to home, Andy Gibson of Towson, Md., also had an exceptional round of 69. It was matched by Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., who is the ninth biggest money winner so far this year although still without a tourney victory.

Tied at 70 were Al Beselink of Mt. Clemens, Mich., Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., Mike Rooney of Wrightsville, Pa., and Fred Haas. Also ahead of par at 71 each were Wally Ulrich of St. Paul, Minn., Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Cal., Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. Y., Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., Fred Hawkins of El Paso and Mangrum.

Romney Scores Over Berkeley

Two Fourth Quarter TDs Win Opener, 12-7

Romney High School scored two touchdowns in the final period to come from behind and defeat Berkeley Springs High School in the opening game for both teams yesterday at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. The score was 12-7.

The Indians scored a touchdown in the first period and were leading 7-0 when Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee's Pioneers exploded.

Several nice runs by Joe Ely paved the way for Romney's first score which was registered by Roger Parker on an off tackle play from two yards out. A "sleeper" play executed by Orville "Teenie" Payne and David Heare netted the winning score. Payne passed to Heare for a 30-yard gain and touchdown. Two plays were run off before the final whistle.

Payne missed both kicks for extra points.

Joe Ely made a 20-yard return of a punt and Payne galloped 25 yards on the first play of the second half.

It was the first game of the Potomac Valley Conference season.

Romney plays at Charles Town next Friday.

Oakland Will Open Title Series With Terra Alta Sunday

Oakland's Amvets and Terra Alta will open their best-of-three series for the championship of the Mountain Top Baseball League on Sunday at 2:30 p.m., EST, at Terra Alta.

The second game of the series is set for Sunday, Sept. 23, at Oakland.

Terra Alta won the first half race with a 9-0 record and Oakland annexed second half honors with seven wins and one loss.

Each team will have eleven players available for the series.

Babe Zaharias' 70 Leads Open

ATLANTA, Sept. 13 (INS) — Babe Zaharias, leading title-holder of the feminine golfing world, clipped four strokes off par on the second nine today to lead the field through the initial round of the sixth Women's National Open Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Zaharias, defending champion in the open, toured the rugged Druid Hills course at Atlanta in par 36 going out. She came in with a sparkling four-under 34 for a low for the day of 70.

Polly Riley, the Fort Worth, Tex., amateur, led an impressive field of simon-pures with a 34-38—72.

LaVale To Play Corriganville In Series Opener

LaVale and Corriganville will clash today in the opener of their best-of-five games series for the championship of the County Softball League.

Corriganville will be the scene of action and the starting time will be 6 p.m.

LaVale eliminated Ellerslie from the playoffs, two games to one, while Corriganville scored two straight wins over Potomac Valley to reach the finals.

Corriganville won the pennant during the regular season.

Sedgman, Flam Win On Coast

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 13 (AP)—Former U. S. singles champion Art Larsen threw a scare into Frank Sedgman late today but Australia's number one tennis star rallied to win a place in the semi-finals of the Pacific Southwest tournament with a 6-1, 5-7, 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 triumph.

Sedgman, Australian and successor to Larsen for the American title this year, will meet Herb Flam of Los Angeles in the semi-final match Saturday.

Flam earlier today scored an upset victory over Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, 8-6, 4-6, 8-6, 2-6, 8-6.

Amvets Square League Series

Beat Cunningham's In Second Game, 5-3

The Amvets squared their series with Cunningham's Grocery for the championship of the Men's Division of the City Recreation Softball League by winning last night at Penn Avenue Field, 5 to 3.

Each team has won one game in the playoff series. Cunningham's won the opener 7 to 6.

Upsets Continue To Mark National Amateur Tourney

Tommy Jacobs, Jr., 16, Is Victor; Coe Beaten

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 13—(AP)—Tommy Jacobs, Jr., a fuzz-faced lad of 16 from the public links of Montebello, Calif., shot his way into the semi-finals of the National Amateur Golf Tournament today to complete about the most nondescript round of four imaginable.

Advancing with him in the wake of staggering upsets that eliminated every titan of American amateur golf were Joe Gagliardi, 39-year-old Mamaroneck, N. Y., lawyer; Jack Benson, big Pittsburgh realtor who hits the ball a country mile, and Billy Maxwell, 22-year-old collegian from Odessa, Tex.

Gagliardi, who has five little Gagliardis back home in Westchester County, continued his giant-killing role when he ousted Oklahoma City's Charles Coe, 1949 U. S. champion two up. He put out defending champion Sam Urzetta yesterday.

Benson, sighting his shots through thick spectacles, took the measure of Harold Paddock, Walker cup member from Aurora, Ill., in the morning before disposing of Jim Frisina of Springfield, Ill., 4 and 3 in the afternoon.

But is was Jacobs, the youngest player in 47 years to make such a challenge in this 51-year-old championship, who captured the imagination of the gallery as he cut down two opponents to move into tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals.

The 145-pound west coast lad, completely unawed by his first appearance in a major men's tournament, defeated 19-year-old Billy Picard of Charleston, S. C., one up, and then conquered Edward Martin of Winchester, Mass., the champion of his state, 4 and 2.

He and Maxwell will carry the banners of youth against age in tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals over the 6,797-yard, par 71 Saucon Valley Country club course.

The stocky, deliberate Maxwell, a student at North Texas State, eliminated a teammate, Laur Crannell of Dallas, in the morning, one up on 19 holes and then he was carried 20 holes in the afternoon to overcome Arnold Blum, Southern champion from Macon, Ga.

Jacobs plays Gagliardi and Benson opposes Maxwell to see who will fight it out for the championship Saturday.

Jacob's triumphs sent historians thumbing through the record books and they found that not even Atlanta's "wonder boy," Bobby Jones, matched this early pace in his youth.

Bobby was 14 when he qualified and won two rounds at Merion in 1916 but he was 17 when he gained the finals at Oakmont in 1919, losing to S. Davidson Herron. Jones won his first amateur championship in 1924 at Merion.

You have to go all the way back to 1904 to find another 16-year-old making a similar bold bid for the amateur crown. Fred Herreshoff was just that age when he lost to Chandler Egan in the finals at Baltusrol.

Bob Doerr Can't Play Regularly With Boston Sox

BOSTON, Sept. 13 (AP) — The Red Sox today disclosed second baseman Bobby Doerr can not play regularly any more, at least this season, on recommendation of physicians.

Doerr has been bothered by a back injury and two Lahey Clinic physicians described the veteran ball player's disability as a "facet syndrome."

That means unusual mobility of the joints of the lower spine, it was explained by the clinic which added, many years of stooping and bending caused a "mild local reaction."

Any quick or sudden movement, it was explained further, results in spasms of the back muscles.

Surgery is not necessary the club was told and Doerr's ability to play next season will be determined by tests and examination after the current season.

this season and he is confident the 1951 squad will better the 2-8 record of last year's eleven.

Coach Ralph Poling of Ridgeley announces that Albert Decker fullback, will be the 1951 captain of the Blackhawks. Ronald Abe, end, will be captain for today's opener which will be refereed by John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh.

Ridgeley's starting lineup will find Robert Bradley and Ronald Abe at ends; Eddie Moore and Forrest Taylor, tackles; Wayne Magruder and Andrew White, guards; Lowell Loy, quarterback; Howard Maiers and Burke Baker, halfbacks, and Albert Decker, fullback.

"Ace" Comer and Don Blankenship will captain the Alumni team which has been working out with the varsity for the past two weeks.

Hahn Names Officials

Coach William P. Hahn of Fort Hill announced last night that officials for the game between Linsly Military Institute of Wheeling and Fort Hill here Saturday night at 8 o'clock will be C. William Spangler, referee; John Shelton, umpire; John Blough, head linesman, and William Orndorff, field judge.

Hahn is expecting a tough tussle from the Wheeling eleven which has retained seven regulars from the 1950 squad that won seven and lost two.

The local mentor expects to start John Farris at quarterback in place of Cage and Alderton will be at center in place of Shore who suffered a leg injury.

Fort Hill will play West Fairmont High at Fairmont Friday night, Sept. 21 instead of Saturday, September 22, as previously announced.

Quiet Cops $10,000 Feature At Aqueduct

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP)—Closing with a tremendous rush along the inside, Mrs. R. G. Woolfe's Quiet won the 30th running of the $10,000 added Bushwick Hurdle Handicap at Aqueduct Race Track in near record time today.

The gelded six-year-old son of Pilate-Composure, ably handled by Frank D. (Dooley) Adams, was timed in the two mile grind through the field in 3:48, a fifth off the track mark set by Enon on June 29, 1950.

Quiet won by a neck over William M. Duryea's Halley, who was a neck to the van of Bayard Tuckerman Jr.'s Quaker Miss. Sanford Stud Farms' Fulton, the favorite, loaded down with 160 pounds, eight over scale, wilted badly in the stretch after leading most of the way, and finished fourth.

Legislators Protest Fight Blackout On TV

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13 (AP)—The television blackout to home-side fans on the Ray Robinson-Randy Turpin prize fight stirred congressional protests today.

Rep. Sutton (D-Tenn) proposed investigating theater "monopolies" on televised sporting events.

Dates Announced For Golf Matches

The Presidents and Vice-Presidents golf match between teams captained by William A. Douglas and Albert W. Keight will be played over the Cumberland Country Club course Saturday and Sunday, September 22 and 23.

A dinner will be held for both teams Wednesday, September 26.

The annual golf match between Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and Celanese Corporation of America will be staged Saturday, September 29 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Smith Is Leader In Eastern Open

Virginian Posts 67 For Opening Round

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—Al Smith, who "just came up from Danville, Va., for a little vacation," went out in front in the $15,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament today with 67, five under par and two over the course record.

The closest more illustrious names of the game could come to Smith was two strokes. Three of the field of 146, including Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C. tied for second place at 69.

Four more were tied at 70, and among seven bunched at 71 was Lloyd Mangrum, winner of last year's inaugural eastern open and this year's leading money winner.

Another area golfer who sticks close to home, Andy Gibson of Towson, Md., also had an exceptional round of 69. It was matched by Ed Oliver of Wilmington, Del., who is the ninth biggest money winner so far this year although still without a tourney victory.

Tied at 70 were Al Beselink of Mt. Clemens, Mich., Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., Mike Rooney of Wrightsville, Pa., and Fred Haas. Also ahead of par at 71 each were Wally Ulrich of St. Paul, Minn., Chuck Klein of San Antonio, Jerry Barber of Pasadena, Cal., Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, George Fazio of Pine Valley, N. Y., Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., Fred Hawkins of El Paso and Mangrum.

Romney Scores Over Berkeley

Two Fourth Quarter TDs Win Opener, 12-7

Romney High School scored two touchdowns in the final period to come from behind and defeat Berkeley Springs High School in the opening game for both teams yesterday at Berkeley Springs, W. Va. The score was 12-7.

The Indians scored a touchdown in the first period and were leading 7-0 when Coach Richard "Dick" McElwee's Pioneers exploded.

Several nice runs by Joe Ely paved the way for Romney's first score which was registered by Roger Parker on an off tackle play from two yards out. A "sleeper" play executed by Orville "Teenie" Payne and David Heare netted the winning score. Payne passed to Heare for a 30-yard gain and touchdown. Two plays were run off before the final whistle.

Payne missed both kicks for extra points.

Joe Ely made a 20-yard return of a punt and Payne galloped 25 yards on the first play of the second half.

It was the first game of the Potomac Valley Conference season.

Romney plays at Charles Town next Friday.

Local Insurance Man Given Promotion To Charlottesville

JAMES T. KENNEY

James T. (Jiggs) Kenney, prominent in insurance, political and fraternal circles here in recent years, has been promoted to manager of the Charlottesville, Va., district of the Peoples Life Insurance Company of Washington, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Kenney, who joined the company here in 1939 as an agent, has been a field representative since earlier in this year with headquarters in Cumberland, but left Wednesday to devote full time to his new position in Charlottesville where he will reside at 44 University Circle. He has been living at 718 Frederick Street in Cumberland.

Mr. Kenney is a native of Midland and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kenney. He attended St. Patrick's School and George Washington University. He served in the Navy from 1943 to 1945 and on his return was named special industrial writer by the Peoples Company. Until his appointment as field superintendent covering offices in Martinsburg, W. Va., Arlington, Va., Harrisonburg, Va., Winchester, Va., Washington No. 1, Silver Spring, Hagerstown, Frederick and Cumberland, he was staff superintendent of the Cumberland office for five years.

Mr. Kenney is well known as a Democratic Party leader and has also been a member of the Elks, Moose, Knights of Columbus and American Legion here. He is married to the former Gladys Cunningham, of Keyser, W. Va., and they have one daughter, Mrs. Joy Lee Dixon, of Fayettesville, N. C., and two grandsons.

Winter Crop Planting Urged

Farmers Told To Buy Seed, Supplies Now

County and State Agricultural Mobilization Committees have been requested by the Secretary of Agriculture to give strong encouragement to the planting of winter cover crops on land that would otherwise remain bare over the winter. The Committees suggest that farmers make their plans and order seed now to make certain that supplies are on hard locally to meet needs at planting time.

Stanley Stabler, University of Maryland Extension agronomist, recommends the practice to Maryland farmers. Cover crops not only prevent erosion, he says, but also add organic matter to the soil, and increase available fertility.

Many vegetable growers with snap or lima beans, sweet corn and later, tomatoes, are planning cover crops, according to Edward K. Bender, vegetable crop specialist.

Fertilizer applied to the cover will help the succeeding crop. Mr. Stabler says that "Many Maryland farmers make a practice of applying liberal applications of fertilizer on cover crops, not only to benefit the cover crop itself, but to get a carryover of these nutrients through the cover crop to the succeeding crops."

These are Mr. Stabler's recommendations for cover crop seedings, "Small grain in combination with vetch, and ryegrass, if used with a legume, for all parts of the State. For Southern Maryland and Eastern Shore crimsom clover will generally do a good job."

Jack C. Buckle Made Director

Jack C. Buckle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Buckle of 717 Patterson Avenue, has been named assistant director of men's counseling and residence at Syracuse (N. Y.) University.

Dean of Men Frank P. Piskor said the new appointee will supervise university and private housing for male undergraduates as an assistant to Dr. Joseph E. Gould, director of men's counseling and residence at the university.

He served with the Army Medical Department in Australia, New Guinea, and the Phillippines during World War 2, and also traveled in Germany and Italy during the summer of 1946.

Buckle received a bachelor's degree from Juniata College in 1948, and has completed his master's degree at Syracuse University this summer. For the past year, he has worked as a resident-advisor in Syracuse University's freshman men's living center.

AN ARMY TELEVISION GROUND CREW goes into action in Washington to demonstrate the new mobile TV unit capable of transmitting pictures from remote areas to commanders, umpires and military classrooms. The "eyes," carried in four 31-foot long buses, cost about $200,000. The unit has three TV cameras, 10 receivers and a projector that will show life-size pictures in addition to its power, inter-communication radio and micro-wave units. The equipment could be used in wartime to bring actual battle action scenes to a commander in rear headquarters, serving as eyes for the man directing the action. (International Soundphoto)

Only three per cent of all women mentioned in Who's Who are under 35 years of age.

Asheville, N. C., claims the title of wealthiest little city in the United States. It has a population of 51,000, and the wealth of 75 of its citizens is estimated at more than $100,000 each.

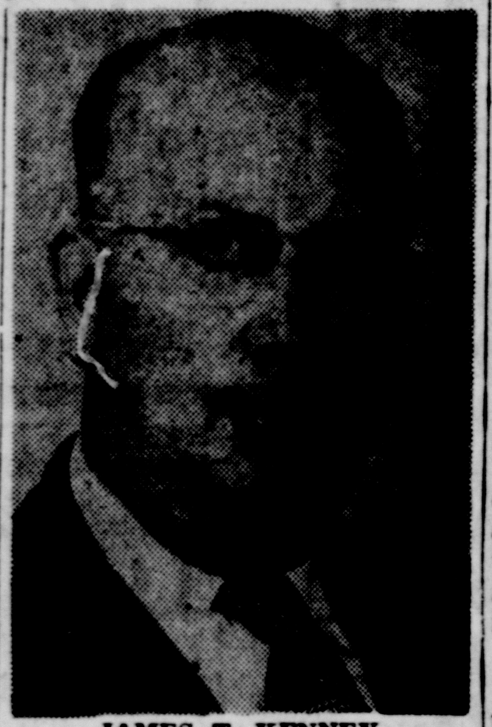
Local Insurance Man Given Promotion To Charlottesville



JAMES T. KENNEY

James T. (Jiggs) Kenney, prominent in insurance, political and fraternal circles here in recent years, has been promoted to manager of the Charlottesville, Va., district of the Peoples Life Insurance Company of Washington, it was announced yesterday.

Mr. Kenney, who joined the company here in 1939 as an agent, has been a field representative since earlier in this year with headquarters in Cumberland, but left Wednesday to devote full time to his new position in Charlottesville where he will reside at 44 University Circle. He has been living at 718 Frederick Street in Cumberland.

Mr. Kenney is a native of Midland and a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James D. Kenney. He attended St. Patrick's School and George Washington University. He served in the Navy from 1943 to 1945 and on his return was named special industrial writer by the Peoples Company. Until his appointment as field superintendent covering offices in Martinsburg, W. Va., Arlington, Va., Harrisonburg, Va., Winchester, Va., Washington No. 1, Silver Spring, Hagerstown, Frederick and Cumberland, he was staff superintendent of the Cumberland office for five years.

Mr. Kenney is well known as a Democratic Party leader and has also been a member of the Elks, Moose, Knights of Columbus and American Legion here. He is married to the former Gladys Cunningham, of Keyser, W. Va., and they have one daughter, Mrs. Joy Lee Dixon, of Fayettesville, N. C., and two grandsons.

Winter Crop Planting Urged

Farmers Told To Buy Seed, Supplies Now

County and State Agricultural Mobilization Committees have been requested by the Secretary of Agriculture to give strong encouragement to the planting of winter cover crops on land that would otherwise remain bare over the winter. The Committees suggest that farmers make their plans and order seed now to make certain that supplies are on hard locally to meet needs at planting time.

Stanley Stabler, University of Maryland Extension agronomist, recommends the practice to Maryland farmers. Cover crops not only prevent erosion, he says, but also add organic matter to the soil, and increase available fertility.

Many vegetable growers with snap or lima beans, sweet corn and later, tomatoes, are planning cover crops, according to Edward K. Bender, vegetable crop specialist.

Fertilizer applied to the cover will help the succeeding crop. Mr. Stabler says that "Many Maryland farmers make a practice of applying liberal applications of fertilizer on cover crops, not only to benefit the cover crop itself, but to get a carryover of these nutrients through the cover crop to the succeeding crops."

These are Mr. Stabler's recommendations for cover crop seedings, "Small grain in combination with vetch, and ryegrass, if used with a legume, for all parts of the State. For Southern Maryland and Eastern Shore crimsom clover will generally do a good job."

Jack C. Buckle Made Director

Jack C. Buckle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Buckle of 717 Patterson Avenue, has been named assistant director of men's counseling and residence at Syracuse (N. Y.) University.

Dean of Men Frank P. Piskor said the new appointee will supervise university and private housing for male undergraduates as an assistant to Dr. Joseph E. Gould, director of men's counseling and residence at the university.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13—(INS)—George Sanders returns to Hollywood October 1. He's sailing from England on the Ile De France September 25 and he'll find a big welcome from his auburn-haired wife, Zsa Zsa Gabor who tells me that all that talk of trouble between them is untrue.

George Sanders

As soon as George gets back, he checks into 20th Century-Fox for the rol of Sol Hurock, impresario, in "The Music Maker." George Jessel "contacted" Sanders in England and asked him to play Hurok and here's something—George will sing! Artur Rubinstein, Marian Anderson and other great artists will play themselves in this musical treat.

•—•—•

You could have blown me down with a feather when I heard that lovely Pier Angeli has an equally lovely twin sister. Not only does she have a sister, her twin, named Marisa Angeli, has been signed by Paramount!

Unlike her "lookalike," Marisa also had little or no dramatic experience. While Pier was getting herself discovered by Leonid Moguy, the French director, Marisa remained at home with her mother and a brother.

Now the littel family is transplanted from the Sardini Island to Westwood Village, it was just doing what comes naturally that the second beautiful young Angeli should be discovered.

Having so recently motored through Nevada, Carson City, Glenbrook, Tahoe City, Virginia City and all those picturesque towns, when I was told that Clark Gable was living there I could visualize just where he is living.

The first question that comes to everyone's mind when they hear of Clark's rush to get free is "is he going to marry again?" Personally, I don't think there's a chance.

He put his coming divorce under "unfinished business," and feels that since there is no chance of him and Sylvia getting together they should make a clean break.

Sylvia discusses her troubles with no one and is not saying whether or not she intends to go through with that divorce. I assume she is, but that she will not be rushed.

Alfred Hitchcock's attractive daughter, Pat, is engaged to marry Joseph E. O'Connell, grandnephew of the late Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Young O'Connell is a businessman and Pat is a talented actress.

Evie and Van Johnson took Ingrid Bergman's small son a Hopalong Cassidy suit—and Ingrid writes them that Robertino has gone western and swaggers all over the place.

Dorothy Lamour is entertaining the stars of Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus at Brunch on Sunday. That's the only time the circus kings and queens have off. You can imagine the excitement of Dottie's son, Ridge.

Jimmy Stewart's father and mother are going to have a chance to see the twins at Christmas time. They'll visit Gloria and Jimmy over the holidays.

Such a nice letter from Judy Canova who has been in Europe. Judy has been the guest of Gracie Fields who owns a successful restaurant outside London.

Mrs. Jack Benny will become an aunt again in February. Her brother's wife, Mrs. Hilliard Marks, has dated the stork. Marks produces the Benny show.

Ginny Simms has been alternating her dates at the Band Box between David Schine, son of the owner of the Ambassador and other hotels, and Bob Calhoun.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

If the darts in your homemade garments sometimes tend to look bulky, remember this simple rule. If they've been stitched into lightweight fabrics, press them flat. If, however, it was heavier material on which you were sewing, slash the dart and press it open in the same way that you would a seam.

LaVale Man Gets Engineer Post

E. D. Billmeyer of LaVale has been appointed division engineer for the Western Maryland Railway on the Elkins Division to succeed W. B. Lee who has been named Hagerstown Division engineer.

Billmeyer was formerly assistant engineer. No assistant has been appointed. Billmeyer came here from Baltimore two years ago.

Hornbaker came to the Western Maryland November 1, 1913, in the engineering department. He was appointed division engineer of the Elkins Division, with headquarters here April 15, 1920, and was transferred to the Hagerstown Division in the same capacity May 1, 1924.

Lee entered the Western Maryland's employ as a track inspector February 1, 1941. On July 1, 1941, he was appointed supervisor of tracks with headquarters in Hagerstown and for three months in 1943 he was acting division engineer at Hagerstown. From July 1, 1944, Lee was supervisor of work equipment at Hagerstown and on June 1, 1944, he was appointed division engineer of the Elkins Division.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD
By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 13—(INS)—George Sanders returns to Hollywood October 1. He's sailing from England on the Ile De France September 28 and he'll find a big welcome from his auburn-haired wife, Zsa Zsa Gabor who tells me that all that talk of trouble between them is untrue.

George Sanders

As soon as George gets back, he checks into 20th Century-Fox for the rol of Sol Hurock, impresario, in "The Music Maker." George Jessel "contacted" Sanders in England and asked him to play Hurok and here's something—George will sing! Artur Rubinstein, Marian Anderson and other great artists will play themselves in this musical treat.

You could have blown me down with a feather when I heard that lovely Pier Angeli has an equally lovely twin sister. Not only does she have a sister, her twin, named Marisa Angeli, has been signed by Paramount!

Unlike her "lookalike," Marisa also had little or no dramatic experience. While Pier was getting herself discovered by Leonid Moguy, the French director, Marisa remained at home with her mother and a brother.

Now the littel family is transplanted from the Sardini Island to Westwood Village, it was just doing what comes naturally that the second beautiful young Angeli should be discovered.

Having so recently motored through Nevada, Carson City, Glenbrook, Tahoe City, Virginia City and all those picturesque towns, when I was told that Clark Gable was living there I could visualize just where he is living.

Clark hasn't a telephone in his bungalow and all messages have to be left for him and he calls back.

The first question that comes to everyone's mind when they hear of Clark's rush to get free is "is he going to marry again?" Personally, I don't think there's a chance.

He put his coming divorce under "unfinished business," and feels that since there is no chance of him and Sylvia getting together they should make a clean break.

Sylvia discusses her troubles with no one and is not saying whether or not she intends to go through with that divorce. I assume she is, but that she will not be rushed.

Alfred Hitchcock's attractive daughter, Pat, is engaged to marry Joseph E. O'Connell, grandnephew of the late Cardinal O'Connell of Boston. Young O'Connell is a businessman and Pat is a talented actress.

Evie and Van Johnson took Ingrid Bergman's small son a Hopalong Cassidy suit—and Ingrid writes them that Robertino has gone western and swaggers all over the place.

Dorothy Lamour is entertaining the stars of Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus at Brunch on Sunday. That's the only time the circus kings and queens have off. You can imagine the excitement of Dottie's son, Ridge.

Jimmy Stewart's father and mother are going to have a chance to see the twins at Christmas time. They'll visit Gloria and Jimmy over the holidays.

Such a nice letter from Judy Canova who has been in Europe. Judy has been the guest of Gracie Fields who owns a successful restaurant outside London.

Mrs. Jack Benny will become an aunt again in February. Her brother's wife, Mrs. Hilliard Marks, has dated the stork. Marks produces the Benny show.

Good for Jane Powell. She just won't be separated from her baby, so when she goes on a personal appearance tour, late this month, she is taking little Geary with her.

Ginny Simms has been alternating her dates at the Band Box between David Schine, son of the owner of the Ambassador and other hotels, and Bob Calhoun.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

If the darts in your homemade garments sometimes tend to look bulky, remember this simple rule. If they've been stitched into lightweight fabrics, press them flat. If, however, it was heavier material on which you were sewing, slash the dart and press it open in the same way that you would a seam.

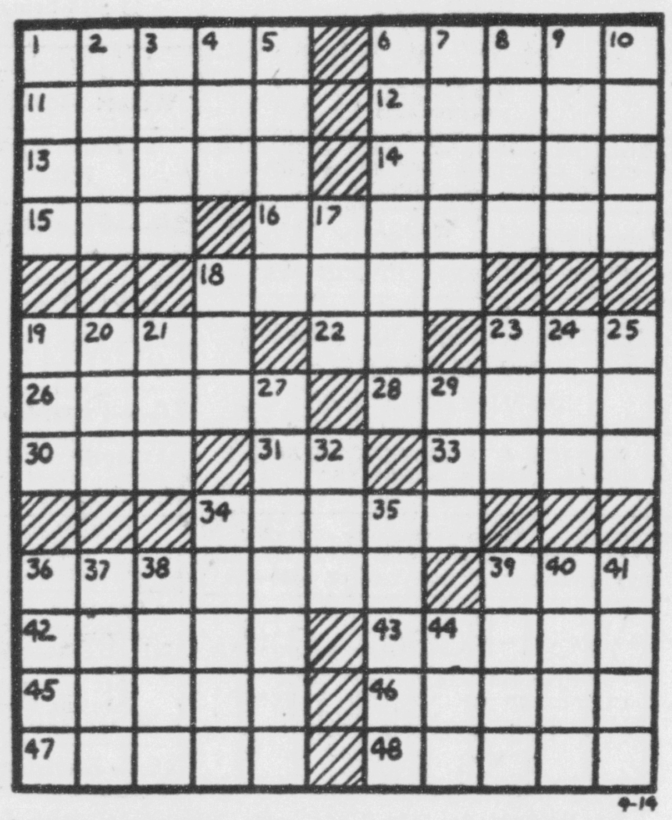
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Story Of Oscar Hammerstein

The story of Oscar Hammerstein, which was unfolded by that contemporary Boswell, Ed Sullivan, on "Toast Of The Town," is not, as you might have thought, one of unmitigated success. Mr. Hammerstein did have one period of 11 years during which nothing seemed to come out right.

John Crosby

This longish interval was hurriedly passed over in an interview between Mr. H. and Mr. S. and we plunged back to the preposterously successful Oscar, the man who had six successes on Broadway at once. Mr. Sullivan's theory—he wrote the thing—is, I guess, that success is automatically interesting, that failure ought to be kept decently out of sight. It's a debatable proposition at best but it's one we'll all have to put up with until this thing blows over.

•—•—•

These hour-long obeisances to the great names of the theater are going to be the rage for a while. The Hammerstein story will be carried right through to "The King And I" this Sunday on the Sullivan show. On Wednesday, the Irving Berlin story was celebrated in song and dance and pageantry on an hour-long program on NBC. On Sept. 30, Mr. Sullivan plans to do the story of Helen Hayes starring Miss Hayes. Along about mid-season we may expect the story of Faye Emerson, starring Miss Emerson and perhaps featuring Blaze.

The motion pictures have been indulging a mania for contemporary theatrical biography for some years now, but it is comparatively new to television. The best formula is to delve into the life of a man who either has sung a great many old favorites ("The Jolson Story") or who has written them. This opens a treasure trove of great songs at minimum cost to the producers. Mr. Hammerstein, who was both hero and victim in this assault on his private life, has not been entirely guiltless in this regard. Back in 1938—during those fallow 11 years—he staged a little turkey called "Knights Of Song," a musical play about Gilbert and Sullivan which was little more than an excuse to use the best songs the pair had written. It ran 16 performances.

Some years later, Mr. Hammerstein earned great fame and justified esteem by running an advertisement in "Variety" which, as I recall, read: "I've done it before and I can do it again." Then he listed an impressive roster of flops which he had been connected with as writer, director and producer. This was during Mr. Hammerstein's golden or "Oklahoma" period when it was felt that nothing Hammerstein had anything to do with could fail. It was his way of calling attention to the fact that he hadn't always been right.

Hammerstein is a man of consummate ability and consuming modesty, the one characteristic counterbalancing and being largely responsibile for the other. It's an aspect that was barely touched in the Sullivan portrayal, if you can call it that, and should have been. Hammerstein is not the greatest lyricist of our time (though he's an awfully good one), but he's certainly the best librettist around, and he's a master of musical stage craftsmanship whose influence will be felt here and abroad for a long time to come.

If someone really wants to do the story of Oscar Hammerstein, these things should be looked into. Instead, Hammerstein was treated largely as a songwriter when he is actually much more a person than that. Just the same, the Sullivan treatment was a good show to listen to and lok at. The songs from "Wildflower," "Rose Marie," "Sunny," "Desert Song," "Show Boat," "New Moon," and "Music In The Air" were handled fairly expertly and this Sundays quota from "Oklahoma," "Carmen Jones," "Carousel," "South Pacific" and "The King And I" ought to be more rewarding.

As television, the Hammerstein story is important for a couple of reasons. It introduces a semblance of form—at least a theme—to the television variety show which is beginning to be tiresome and repetitive. It continues the experiment of presenting a story in two installments instead of just one.

In short, a trend—something we've seen little of in television for some time. Mr. Sullivan's narration, while nothing that will be commemorated in marble, was reasonably restrained, conceivably because Mr. Hammerstein sat on him and insisted on it, and Mr. Hammerstein's own recitation of "The Last Time I Saw Paris" was a splendid illustration that his lyrics have body and fullness and meaning, even after being stripped of melody. There aren't many lyrics that do that.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

LAW OFFICE OF LESLIE J. CLARK LIBERTY TRUST BUILDING TRUSTEES SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTIES SITUATED ON ROBBIN STREET, LONACONING, MARYLAND.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, passed in a cause wherein Edith Wilson, et al, are the complainants and Thomas Phillips, et al, are the defendants, the same being known as No. 22092 Equity in said Court, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale on Saturday, September 29, 1951, at 10:30 A. M. in front of the Lonaconing Branch of the Liberty Trust Company, Main Street, Lonaconing, Maryland, the following properties: First:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated on Robbin Street, Lonaconing, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake standing 34 feet from the end of the second line of Sebastian Fraley's part of said tract and running thence South 16½ degrees East 22 feet thence South 71 degrees West 44 feet, thence South 77 degrees West 48 feet thence North 20½ degrees East 48 feet thence in a straight line to the beginning 100 feet.

Being the same property which was conveyed to John Phillips by a deed from Charles Jones, et ux, dated the 14th day of October, 1874 and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 43 folio 426.

This lot is improved by a two story frame building containing three rooms. Second:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated in the town of Lonaconing, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake at the end of the fourth line of Alexander Anderson's lot and running with Jackson Creek North 51¾ degrees West 76 feet, North 24½ degrees West 42 feet to a line drawn South 88¾ degrees West from the beginning thence with said line reversed North 88¾ degrees East 41 feet to the beginning, thence in a straight line to the place of beginning.

Excepting from the operations of said deed so much thereof as was conveyed by Mirah Wheeler to Charles Jones by a deed dated March 8, 1874, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 42, folio 187.

It being the same property conveyed by Mirah Wheeler to John Phillips by a deed dated August 23, 1878, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 52, folio 365.

This lot is improved by a two story frame building containing 6 rooms.

TERMS OF SALE: These properties will first be offered separately and then together. The bid or bids bringing the largest amount may be accepted by the undersigned. Cash or one third cash upon the day of sale, balance in cash upon ratification of the sale by the Court. State, County, and City taxes will be adjusted as to the day of sale. The trustee reserves the right to reject any and all bids for the same.

LAW OFFICE OF LESLIE J. CLARK
LIBERTY TRUST BUILDING
TRUSTEES SALE OF VALUABLE IMPROVED PROPERTIES SITUATED ON ROBBIN STREET, LONACONING, MARYLAND.

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, passed in a cause wherein Edith Wilson, et al, are the complainants and Thomas Phillips, et al, are the defendants, the same being known as No. 22092 Equity in said Court, the undersigned Trustee will sell at public sale on Saturday, September 29, 1951, at 10:30 A. M. in front of the Lonaconing Branch of the Liberty Trust Company, Main Street, Lonaconing, Maryland, the following properties: First:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated on Robbin Street, Lonaconing, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake standing 34 feet from the end of the second line of Sebastian Fraley's part of said tract and running thence South 16½ degrees East 22 feet thence South 71 degrees West 44 feet, thence South 77 degrees West 48 feet thence North 20½ degrees East 48 feet thence in a straight line to the beginning 100 feet.

Being the same property which was conveyed to John Phillips by a deed from Charles Jones, et ux, dated the 14th day of October, 1874 and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 43 folio 426.

This lot is improved by a two story frame building containing three rooms.
Second:

All that lot or parcel of ground situated in the town of Lonaconing, Maryland, and more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a stake at the end of the fourth line of Alexander Anderson's lot and running with Jackson Creek North 51¾ degrees West 76 feet, North 24½ degrees West 42 feet to a line drawn South 88¾ degrees West from the beginning thence with said line reversed North 88¾ degrees East 41 feet to the beginning, thence in a straight line to the place of beginning.

Excepting from the operations of said deed so much thereof as was conveyed by Mirah Wheeler to Charles Jones by a deed dated March 8, 1874, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 42, folio 187.

It being the same property conveyed by Mirah Wheeler to John Phillips by a deed dated August 23, 1878, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 52, folio 365.

This lot is improved by a two story frame building containing 6 rooms.

TERMS OF SALE: These properties will first be offered separately and then together. The bid or bids bringing the largest amount may be accepted by the undersigned. Cash or one third cash upon the day of sale, balance in cash upon ratification of the sale by the Court. State, County, and City taxes will be adjusted as to the day of sale. Jurors Drawn Under New Plan For First Time

Only Grand Jurors To Report Oct. 1

Names of the grand jurors and petit jurors for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court were drawn yesterday afternoon in the Board of Elections room in the Court House basement.

This was the first time that the names were drawn under a new system approved at the last session of the State Legislature. Under this arrangement the first 23 names drawn constitute the grand jury and the next 25 the petit jury.

All Reported

In former terms of court all 48 veniremen reported to the Court House on the first day of the term and at that time the 23 grand jurors were selected. Under the new setup the 25 petit jurors will not have to report to the Court House October 1 when the term opens. They will not report until a week later when trials begin.

In the procedure yesterday, 200 numbers were placed in a box. A list of 200 names corresponding to the numbers also was compiled in advance.

Kingsley McDonald, a deputy clerk of Circuit Court, drew the numbers, one at a time, and handed each one to Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who read off the number. Associate Judge George Henderson then called off the corresponding name on the list. Robert B. Thomas, court stenographer, compiled the list of grand and petit jurors.

Patrick Foreman

Julian G. Patrick will serve as foreman of the grand jury, which will convene Monday, October 1. Other grand jurors are Charles F. Brant, James W. Beacham, Harold R. Hixon, Irving T. Holland, Charles Babb, Charles E. Robertson, Sr.,

Police Probe Origin Of Emily Street Blaze

Five-Gallon Gasoline Can Is Discovered

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya is continuing a probe into the origin of a two-alarm fire which gutted an Emily Street home and caused four city firemen to be overcome by smoke Wednesday afternoon.

Lt. Lilya said yesterday he was called in to investigate the fire by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker after a partially filled five gallon can of gasoline was found in the house. The home on 220 Emily Street was recently purchased by Ellis Llewellyn, from Mrs. Anna L. Reith who lived in the downstairs apartment. The Llewellyn family occupied the second floor of the building.

Yesterday afternoon Llewellyn gave a statement to Lt. Lilya and Fire Chief Parker concerning his knowledge of the fire. However, Llewellyn was unable to "throw any light" on the origin of the blaze, according to Lt. Lilya. The house had been purchased recently from Mrs. Reith for about $7,000 and insurance amounting to $4,000 covered the structure.

Questioning Today

Further questioning will be held today, Lilya added, in an effort to determine the cause.

East Side and Central firemen went to the scene after fire broke out at 5:15 p. m. Flames from the two-story brick building threatened to envelope adjoining frame homes and firemen spent two hours bringing the blaze under control.

The fire began either in the kitchen or one of the back rooms of the house, climbed up the stairs, behind wall partitions, and was burning upwards toward the roof.

Flames Were Hidden

Flames were hidden between the ceiling and the tin roof, making the fire hard to get to with hoses. All that could be seen was thick smoke which firemen entered to locate the burning sections of the building.

The first fireman to be overcome by smoke was Lt. Harry Davidson, of East Side Company, who was unconscious for about five minutes. When he was revived, he resumed his place with other firemen.

Assistant Chief James A. Jackson, of Central Station was overcome soon afterward, followed by two others who were brought out of the house for air.

National Guard To Purchase Havre De Grace As Campsite

New Training Post To Replace Camp Ritchie

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Board of Public Works authorized the Maryland Military Department today to buy the Havre De Grace race track property for $500,000.

The now-idle race track property will replace Camp Ritchie as a Maryland National Guard installation. The federal government is buying Camp Ritchie for $2,350,000.

The board signed the deed turning Camp Ritchie over to the federal government today.

May Buy Hospital

The state will use $500,000 of the Camp Ritchie proceeds to purchase the Havre De Grace property, and another $500,000 to buy Sydenham Hospital in Baltimore for use as a chronic disease hospital.

The state has been using part of the Camp Ritchie property as a chronic disease institution. That activity will be closed.

A committee of National Guard officers unanimously recommended the purchase of the 118-acre Havre De Grace site. Adjutant General Milton A. Reckord took no part in the recommendation. He is president of Havre De Grace as well as of the Maryland Jockey Club, which, with the Laurel track, had agreed to sell the Havre De Grace property for $500,000.

Private appraisers working for the state appraised the property at $915,688, including land and improvements.

Bids To Be Opened

Purchase of two farms adjacent to the Havre De Grace property also was recommended by the National Guard committee, but no action was taken on the proposal.

The board also:

1. Set 2 p. m. Oct. 1 as the time for opening bids on $10,272,000 of state bonds.

2. Turned down a proposal by the Department of Correction that agricultural lime be processed at the State Reformatory for Males at Breathedsville.

The bond-bid opening ceremony will be held Oct. 1 in the state treasurer's office in Annapolis. Bonds to be sold include a $2,800,000 mental hospital loan, the first installment of the $3,000,000 general construction loan of 1951, and the fourth installment, totaling $4,472,000, of the $50,000,000 general public school construction loan.

Women's Group Names Chest Zone Leaders

Organizational Meeting Is Held Last Night

Co-chairmen and zone leaders were appointed last night at a meeting of the Residential division of the 1951 Community Chest campaign at Chest headquarters in the Union Street building.

Mrs. Morris L. Barnes, leader of the women's division, appointed her co-chairmen who in turn named zone leaders at last night's meeting.

Mrs. Mortimer Nehring will be co-chairman in charge of ones 1 and 2 comprising South End. Helping her will be Mrs. E. L. Weimer, in charge of Zone No. 1, and Mrs. Charles Hornbrook, Zone No. 2.

Two Leaders Not Named

Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, co-chairman in charge of Zones 3 and 4 named Mrs. Julia Tyler as leader of Zone No. 3 and Mrs. Edith Reichert of Zone No. 4. These zones comprise East Side and part of North Cumberland.

Mrs. Morgan C. Harris is chairman of Zones 5, 6 and 10 with Mrs. Stanley Buckley assisting with Zone No. 10. Other zone leaders have not yet been named by Mrs. Harris. These zones cover North Cumberland and LaVale.

Zones 7, 8 and 9 on the West Side are under the direction of Mrs. Charles Helmrich who named Mrs. Fuller Whitworth, Mrs. John S. Cook and Mrs. Ethel Dutton as respective leaders. This section also includes Potomac Park, Roberts Place, Bowling Green and Cresaptown, Mrs. Barnes added.

Last night's conference was the first of a series or organizational meetings which are being planned to acquaint workers with the Chest campaign which will get underway the first week in October.

Groundwork Successful

Mrs. Barnes noted the groundwork for the drive is meeting with more success and enthusiasm than in the past and said "the leaders are meeting with very general acceptance this year in the organization because of the inclusion of the USO in the campaign."

A goal of $105,159.48 was recently announced as the amount required for the nine Chest agencies and the quota of the United Defense Fund (USO).

Mrs. Barnes, who served twice as commissioner of the Girl Scouts of Cumberland, has been vice president of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and is a member of the Women's Civic Club. Long active in civic activities, Mrs. Barnes has been identified in various capacities in previous Chest campaigns and was a volunteer worker for the American Red Cross during World War II serving as head of one of the surgical dressings classes.

Mrs. Barnes will occupy the lead-

Bus Drivers Will Attend School

Today is school day for more than 100 school bus drivers and owners in Allegany County.

Beginning at 10 a.m. they will convene in Fort Hill High School auditorium for a conference which will emphasize school bus safety. The program will conclude at 2 p.m., with a luncheon recess set for 11:15 a.m.

Speakers will be Dr. D. W. Zimmerman, assistant state superintendent of schools; Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of Allegany County schools, and Lt. W. E. O'Hara, superintendent of the LaVale barracks of Maryland State Police.

Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation in Allegany County schools, will preside.

In addition to the speeches and discussions, the drivers will see a movie, "Safety in School Bus Transportation." This will stress safety features and will compare equipment today with that of 20 years ago.

Times-News Cooking School Ends Today

12 Grand Prizes To Be Awarded

Today is the last and final day of the current Times-News Cooking School at the Strand Theatre with 12 grand prizes to be awarded in addition to a half dozen food dishes, several extra prizes and 10 baskets of groceries.

Yesterday, Mrs. Marie Daugherty, director, demonstrated a variety of dishes. She explained the "know-how" of dishes such as spare ribs, sauer kraut, banana glaze pie, heart Italienne, lamb chops with orange slices, sugar cookies, pork and noodles, veal rolls, rolled rib roast of beef and prune-apricot upside down cake.

Winners of food prizes yesterday were Mrs. Arthur Ferguson, Cresaptown; Mrs. Charles Walbert, Potomac Park; Emma Clites, Ridgeley; Mrs. K. B. Oster, Flintstone; Mrs. Paul Shanski, 521 Furnace Street; Mrs. Betty Johnson, 807 Cecil Street, and Mrs. Paul Clendenning, Potomac Park.

A three-tiered, beautifully decorated Maryland Maid cake went to Mrs. Catherine Brown, 110 Polk Street; a Dexterette carving set to Mrs. Paul Marriott, 947 Bedford street; a set of Pyrex ware to Mrs. Mary S. Shultz, 43 Boone Street, and a Betty Crocker cookbook to Mrs. P. J. Cope, 156 North Mechanic Street.

Grocery-filled market bags were awarded to Mrs. William Griffes, Route 1, city; Mrs. Ruth Horchler, 636 Columbia avenue; Mrs. J. Earl Couter, 10 Broadway Circle; Mrs. Fanny Bond, Beall Street, Frostburg; S. E. Alther, 109 South Smallwood; Mrs. Hazel Davis, 613 Maryland avenue; Mrs. Norman Bishop, 324 Davidson street; Mrs. John Pellerzi, 26 Orchard street; Mrs Margery M. Hager, 816 N. Mechanic, and Alberta Weaver, 206 Reynolds street.

School Buses Get Recheck

All of the Allegany County school buses which had major flaws when given a pre-school inspection in the last week of August were rechecked yesterday by Marion Abbott and Harry Mann, Department of Motor Vehicle school bus inspectors.

These included the buses with steering, brake or exhaust defects. Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation, said that all of these major shortcomings have been corrected. Most of those with minor flaws also were re-examined yesterday.

In all, 16 of the 85 buses failed to pass first inspection in August. All of these now are considered in safe mechanical shape.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones, Ridgeley, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Teets, Terra Alta, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Chaney, 111 Valley Street, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Blubaugh, RFD No. 3, this city, a son yesterday.

Navy Extends Recruit Drive

August's extensive Navy recruiting drive has been extended through September with an urgent call for more volunteers because of increased enlistment quotas, Chief E. R. Morgan, Navy recruiter here, announced yesterday.

Chief Morgan stated the present lag in enlistments is not due to lack of patriotism, but to a "wait and see" attitude of young men, brought on by the stagnated Korean situation, and an employment upswing in defense industries.

The Defense Department has extended the Navy's authority to enlist men who have received their pre-induction notice, to November 1. However, a man cannot volunteer nor be accepted for the Navy once he receives his orders for actual induction.

Extended office hours at the local Navy Recruiting Substation in the Post Office building remain in effect, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., Monday through Saturday.

Horse Show Opens Today

The Cumberland Horse Show will officially begin today at Fairgo with the first session starting at 7 p. m., William R. Carscaden, show secretary, said last night.

The event sponsored by the Cumberland Lions Club will have four sessions over the next three days. The first session is scheduled for today at 7 p. m., the second will begin tomorrow at 1 p. m., the third takes place tomorrow at 7:30 p. m., and the last session will start at 1 p. m. Sunday.

The show which is presented for the benefit of underprivileged blind and crippled children, will be regulated by 17 rules and will include 10 divisions.

The division include five-gaited division, three-gaited division, walking horse, harness division, pony division, three-gaited pony stake, jumper, conformation hunter, working hunter, western and miscellaneous classes.

Committe chairmen are Albert E. Windish, general chairman; Winfield H. Adam, co-chairman; William R. Carscaden, secretary; and Harry I. Stegmaier, assistant secretary.

Arch M. Hutcheson, tickets; George D. Hankins and Daniel J. Dopko, program; Louis V. Shinnamon, prizes; John R. Vandergrift and Earl D. Grimm, entertainment; Lawrence C. Cessna and William H. Blake, lighting; Edgar D. Vandergrift and William M. George, grounds; Frank W. Spoerl, stableing; Robert W. Huck, concession; George L. Ruhl, photographs; James F. Scarpelli, ambulance; Glenn K. Davis, police; and Alvin E. Yaste and Glenn K. Davis, publicity.

Church To Show Religious Film

A 30-minute sound motion picture entitled "The Conversion of Saul," will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

The film, a graphic portrayal of the events recorded in Acts No. 9, relives the happenings connected with the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, beginning with his persecution of the Christians and closing with the restoration of his sight as Ananias interprets the vision on the Damascus Road.

NEW RABBI—New spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation will be Rabbi Joseph Schimelman, who replaces Rabbi Joseph Krazenstein, who is being transferred to Bay City, Mich. Rabbi Schimelman, born and educated in New York City graduated from Yeshiva University in 1939, Columbia University in 1942 and was ordained in 1941 by Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary. He has been located at the Temple of Israel, Portsmouth, N. H. for the past four years. He is expected to arrive in Cumberland September 20.

TWA Official To Speak Here

Interpreting the role of international air transportation in the educational and social progress of formerly isolated peoples and its potential in international good will, Dr. John H. Furbay, director of Air World Education for Trans World Airlines, will address the Teachers Institute at Cumberland on tomorrow morning.

During a period of the next 12 months, Dr. Furbay is scheduled to address more than 50 organizations in cities from coast to coast. He will appear in 40 cities lecturing before education associations, teachers' groups, conventions, forums and clubs.

Dr. Furbay recently returned from the UNESCO conference in Paris which he attended as an observer with the United States delegation representing the aviation industry.

Dr. Tomlin To Preach

Dr. H. R. Tomlin, former pastor of Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, and now presiding elder of Hagerstown District of Washington Annual Conference will be guest preacher at the Metropolitan Church Sunday at the 8 p. m. services.

The Weather

Cumberland experienced a gloomy, warm and humid day yesterday with temperatures reaching into the 90s. An overcast cloaked the city most of the day, and hardly any breeze was felt to relieve the area of the sticky atmosphere. High temperature as recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 91 degrees, the low was 61, and at 8:30 last night, mercury leveled at 79 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was marked at 60 per cent. Cooler weather is promised by the Weather Bureau for today with some cloudiness and occasional rain.

Burkett Faces Murder Charge In Shooting

Wife's Funeral Set At Hyndman Sunday

Clarence Burkett, 33, who voluntarily surrendered to Maryland State Police after fatally shooting his estranged wife and wounded her mother near Hyndman, Pa., Wednesday, was turned over to Pennsylvania Police yesterday at 2 p. m.

Bedford County Sheriff Jacob A. Dunkle said last night Burkett will probably be given a preliminary hearing today at Bedford and faces Grand Jury action of the November term of court on charges of murder.

Funeral Service Set

A funeral service for his wife, Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Ziegler's Funeral Home in Hyndman with Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, Palo Alto Evangelical Church, officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery. There was no indication last night whether or not Burkett would be permitted to attend the funeral.

Burkett waived extradition shortly before noon yesterday at Allegany County Circuit Court and was turned over to Pennsylvania police. He had been confined in the county jail here after being taken into custody at Ellerslie by Sgt. Harry Holsinger, of the Maryland State Police, following the shooting.

The condition of Burkett's mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Deremer Shaffer, who was wounded in the fracas and admitted to Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon, was reported last night as "good" by attaches.

Artery Is Severed

The shooting occurred about 3:05 p. m. Wednesday and Burkett's wife died about 4:28 p. m. after being admitted to Memorial Hospital. Death was due, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner, to loss of blood, when one of the bullets grazed her left thigh and went through her right thigh, severing an artery.

Another shot pierced her right hand while a third blast entered her left arm, hitting the bone.

Authorities said the shooting occurred at the Shaffer home about one mile south of Hyndman and according to Police Chief Paul A. Wise, of Hyndman, Mrs. Burkett was unloading wood from a truck with her mother in the rear of the home at the time.

Burkett had been separated from his wife for some time and approached her and told her to return home with him. When she refused he began shooting.

Deputy Sheriff George Harris said Burkett had been in ill health and had spent some time in a hospital for observation. The Burkett's, married in 1948 had no children.

Briefs

Pfc. Irvin S. Manges, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cobern E. Manges, 313 Arch Street, has been awarded the Purple Heart medal at the 155th Station Hospital in Yokohama, Japan, for wounds received in action in Korea last July 23.

"The Conversion of Saul", a sound movie, will be shown in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren Sunday at the 7:30 p. m. service.

Davis Explains Lack Of Buses At Fort Hill

Unsound Financially To Provide More

It would be economically unsound for the Cumberland Transit Lines to expand service offered for Fort Hill High School pupils living in South Cumberland, according to G. M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

Davis made this reply when questioned about a report that a number of parents have complained this week about the service.

Many Complaints

Many complaints have been sent to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation in the Allegany County public school system. Ramey has reminded the many parents who have called him that the Board of Education does not have the responsibility for transporting children living within the city limits of Cumberland. That responsibility rests with the parents. He suggests that complaints about Cumberland Transit Lines service should go directly to representatives of that firm.

Davis acknowledged last night that he has received a number of complaints from South Cumberland residents concerning service from Fort Hill High School. That is the only sector of the city where protests have been heard, he added.

"The big problem about transporting children after school is that they leave their classrooms just about at the time when many workers are leaving a number of Cumberland's industrial plants," the transit company official stated.

"If the children got out about 2:30 p. m. we could get them home before having to send buses to the industrial plants," he added.

A shuttle bus makes three trips from Fort Hill to Baltimore Street and from there the pupils may obtain transfers to any line of the company. These trips are made at 3:15, 3:30 and 3:45 p. m.

Davis explained that on the first trip the shuttle bus makes, it is crowded, but the last trip the bus is almost empty. He says the boys and girls just won't wait at the school for subsequent trips by the shuttle bus. In this connection, he observed that some of the children

Employer Social Security Plan Effective Jan. 1

Nearly 8,000 Local Persons Affected

Next January approximately four and one-half million self-employed people will begin paying social security taxes for themselves and their families. James S. Getty, manager of the local field office, in commenting on this new phase of the social security laws, stated that nearly 8,000 self-employed in this area will be affected.

Getty said this extension of coverage to self employed people marks the first time since the inception of social security in 1937 that the employer has been able to pay toward his own security.

For the past 14 years, the self-employed individual has paid one-half of the tax contributed by his employes, but he was not covered by the law himself. Congress, in 1950, extended the law to include employers as well as employes and provides equal protection for both.

Pays On Separate Schedule

Getty explained that the self-employed person pays his premium on a separate schedule on his income tax return and should not report his earnings along with his other employes on his quarterly social security tax return.

Only those self-employed who have net earnings of $400 or more are covered by the law, and coverage is not optional as in the case of employes of non-profit, religious or charitable institutions.

Any self employed person who does not have a social security number should make application for a card at the local office before the end of the year.

Getty further stated that the coverage provides very definite protection as a basic security for the self employed person and his family. The monthly benefit payments when supplemented with savings or other income, provide a reasonable income when the worker is no longer participating in business.

The first month in which a self employed individual will be eligible for benefits is April, 1952. This is because that is the first time a person could have worked in six calendar quarters from the starting date, January 1, 1951.

Receive Maximum Payment

In most cases, Getty pointed out, the self-employed will receive the maximum payment by waiting until January, 1953 to file a claim. This happens because the tax return for 1952 will not be filed until 1953, and at that time, full credit can be given for all earnings of the year.

Workers may be covered as employes and as self-employed at the same time assuming that a person has two jobs. But the first $3,600 of wages is all that will be considered in computing benefits regardless of the amount earned.

Jurors Drawn Under New Plan For First Time

Only Grand Jurors To Report Oct. 1

Names of the grand jurors and petit jurors for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court were drawn yesterday afternoon in the Board of Elections room in the Court House basement.

This was the first time that the names were drawn under a new system approved at the last session of the State Legislature. Under this arrangement the first 23 names drawn constitute the grand jury and the next 25 the petit jury.

All Reported

In former terms of court all 48 veniremen reported to the Court House on the first day of the term and at that time the 23 grand jurors were selected. Under the new setup the 25 petit jurors will not have to report to the Court House October 1 when the term opens. They will not report until a week later when trials begin.

In the procedure yesterday, 200 numbers were placed in a box. A list of 200 names corresponding to the numbers also was compiled in advance.

Kingsley McDonald, a deputy clerk of Circuit Court, drew the numbers, one at a time, and handed each one to Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris, who read off the number. Associate Judge George Henderson then called off the corresponding name on the list. Robert B. Thomas, court stenographer, compiled the list of grand and petit jurors.

Patrick Foreman

Julian G. Patrick will serve as foreman of the grand jury, which will convene Monday, October 1. Other grand jurors are Charles F. Brant, James W. Beacham, Harold R. Hixon, Irving T. Holland, Charles Babb, Charles E. Robertson, Sr.,

Police Probe Origin Of Emily Street Blaze

Five-Gallon Gasoline Can Is Discovered

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya is continuing a probe into the origin of a two-alarm fire which gutted an Emily Street home and caused four city firemen to be overcome by smoke Wednesday afternoon.

Lt. Lilya said yesterday he was called in to investigate the fire by Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker after a partially filled five gallon can of gasoline was found in the house. The home on 220 Emily Street was recently purchased by Ellis Llewellyn, from Mrs. Anna L. Reith who lived in the downstairs apartment. The Llewellyn family occupied the second floor of the building.

Yesterday afternoon Llewellyn gave a statement to Lt. Lilya and Fire Chief Parker concerning his knowledge of the fire. However, Llewellyn was unable to "throw any light" on the origin of the blaze, according to Lt. Lilya. The house had been purchased recently from Mrs. Reith for about $7,000 and insurance amounting to $4,000 covered the structure.

Questioning Today

Further questioning will be held today, Lilya added, in an effort to determine the cause.

East Side and Central firemen went to the scene after fire broke out at 5:15 p. m. Flames from the two-story brick building threatened to envelope adjoining frame homes and firemen spent two hours bringing the blaze under control.

The fire began either in the kitchen or one of the back rooms of the house, climbed up the stairs, behind wall partitions, and was burning upwards toward the roof.

Flames Were Hidden

Flames were hidden between the ceiling and the tin roof, making the fire hard to get to with hoses. All that could be seen was thick smoke which firemen entered to locate the burning sections of the building.

The first fireman to be overcome by smoke was Lt. Harry Davidson, of East Side Company, who was unconscious for about five minutes. When he was revived, he resumed his place with other firemen.

Assistant Chief James A. Jackson, of Central Station was overcome soon afterward, followed by two others who were brought out of the house for air.

School Buses Get Recheck

All of the Allegany County school buses which had major flaws when given a pre-school inspection in the last week of August were rechecked yesterday by Marion Abbott and Harry Mann, Department of Motor Vehicle school bus inspectors.

These included the buses with steering, brake or exhaust defects. Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation, said that all of these major shortcomings have been corrected. Most of those with minor flaws also were re-examined yesterday.

In all, 16 of the 85 buses failed to pass first inspection in August. All of these now are considered in safe mechanical shape.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Jones, Ridgeley, W. Va., a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Teets, Terra Alta, W. Va., a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Chaney, 111 Valley Street, a daughter, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Blubaugh, RFD No. 3, this city, a son yesterday.

Navy Extends Recruit Drive

August's extensive Navy recruiting drive has been extended through September with an urgent call for more volunteers because of increased enlistment quotas, Chief E. R. Morgan, Navy recruiter here, announced yesterday.

Chief Morgan stated the present lag in enlistments is not due to lack of patriotism, but to a "wait and see" attitude of young men, brought on by the stagnated Korean situation, and an employment upswing in defense industries.

The Defense Department has extended the Navy's authority to enlist men who have received their pre-induction notice, to November 1. However, a man cannot volunteer nor be accepted for the Navy once he receives his orders for actual induction.

Extended office hours at the local Navy Recruiting Substation in the Post Office building remain in effect, from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., Monday through Saturday.

Church To Show Religious Film

A 30-minute sound motion picture entitled "The Conversion of Saul," will be shown Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

The film, a graphic portrayal of the events recorded in Acts No. 9, relives the happenings connected with the conversion of Saul of Tarsus, beginning with his persecution of the Christians and closing with the restoration of his sight as Ananias interprets the vision on the Damascus Road.

The Sunday evening service is open to the public.

NEW RABBI—New spiritual leader of Beth Jacob Congregation will be Rabbi Joseph Schimelman, who replaces Rabbi Joseph Krazenstein, who is being transferred to Bay City, Mich. Rabbi Schimelman, born and educated in New York City graduated from Yeshiva University in 1939, Columbia University in 1942 and was ordained in 1941 by Rabbi Isaac Elchanan Theological Seminary. He has been located at the Temple of Israel, Portsmouth, N. H. for the past four years. He is expected to arrive in Cumberland September 20.

TWA Official To Speak Here

Interpreting the role of international air transportation in the educational and social progress of formerly isolated peoples and its potential in international good will, Dr. John H. Furbay, director of Air World Education for Trans World Airlines, will address the Teachers Institute at Cumberland on tomorrow morning.

During a period of the next 12 months, Dr. Furbay is scheduled to address more than 50 organizations in cities from coast to coast. He will appear in 40 cities lecturing before education associations, teachers' groups, conventions, forums and clubs.

Dr. Furbay recently returned from the UNESCO conference in Paris which he attended as an observer with the United States delegation representing the aviation industry.

Dr. Tomlin To Preach

Dr. H. R. Tomlin, former pastor of Metropolitan A. M. E. Church, and now presiding elder of Hagerstown District of Washington Annual Conference will be guest preacher at the Metropolitan Church Sunday at the 8 p. m. services.

The Weather

Cumberland experienced a gloomy, warm and humid day yesterday with temperatures reaching into the 90s. An overcast cloaked the city most of the day, and hardly any breeze was felt to relieve the area of the sticky atmosphere. High temperature as recorded by the weather station at Constitution Park was 91 degrees, the low was 61, and at 8:30 last night, mercury leveled at 79 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was marked at 60 per cent. Cooler weather is promised by the Weather Bureau for today with some cloudiness and occasional rain.

Burkett Faces Murder Charge In Shooting

Wife's Funeral Set At Hyndman Sunday

Clarence Burkett, 33, who voluntarily surrendered to Maryland State Police after fatally shooting his estranged wife and wounded her mother near Hyndman, Pa., Wednesday, was turned over to Pennsylvania Police yesterday at 2 p. m.

Bedford County Sheriff Jacob A. Dunkle said last night Burkett will probably be given a preliminary hearing today at Bedford and faces Grand Jury action of the November term of court on charges of murder.

Funeral Service Set

A funeral service for his wife, Mrs. Myra Grace Burkett, 23, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Ziegler's Funeral Home in Hyndman with Rev. Frederick D. Oberkircher, Palo Alto Evangelical Church, officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery. There was no indication last night whether or not Burkett would be permitted to attend the funeral.

Burkett waived extradition shortly before noon yesterday at Allegany County Circuit Court and was turned over to Pennsylvania police. He had been confined in the county jail here after being taken into custody at Ellerslie by Sgt. Harry Holsinger, of the Maryland State Police, following the shooting.

The condition of Burkett's mother-in-law, Mrs. Helen Deremer Shaffer, who was wounded in the fracas and admitted to Memorial Hospital Wednesday afternoon, was reported last night as "good" by attaches.

Artery Is Severed

The shooting occurred about 3:05 p. m. Wednesday and Burkett's wife died about 4:28 p. m. after being admitted to Memorial Hospital. Death was due, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy medical examiner, to loss of blood, when one of the bullets grazed her left thigh and went through her right thigh, severing an artery.

Another shot pierced her right hand while a third blast entered her left arm, hitting the bone.

Authorities said the shooting occurred at the Shaffer home about one mile south of Hyndman and according to Police Chief Paul A. Wise, of Hyndman, Mrs. Burkett was unloading wood from a truck with her mother in the rear of the home at the time.

Burkett had been separated from his wife for some time and approached her and told her to return home with him. When she refused he began shooting.

Deputy Sheriff George Harris said Burkett had been in ill health and had spent some time in a hospital for observation. The Burkett's, married in 1948 had no children.

Briefs

Pfc. Irvin S. Manges, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cobern E. Manges, 313 Arch Street, has been awarded the Purple Heart medal at the 155th Station Hospital in Yokohama, Japan, for wounds received in action in Korea last July 23.

"The Conversion of Saul", a sound movie, will be shown in the Living Stone Church of the Brethren Sunday at the 7:30 p. m. service.

Davis Explains Lack Of Buses At Fort Hill

Unsound Financially To Provide More

It would be economically unsound for the Cumberland Transit Lines to expand service offered for Fort Hill High School pupils living in South Cumberland, according to G. M. Davis, president of the Cumberland Transit Lines.

Davis made this reply when questioned about a report that a number of parents have complained this week about the service.

Many Complaints

Many complaints have been sent to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation in the Allegany County public school system. Ramey has reminded the many parents who have called him that the Board of Education does not have the responsibility for transporting children living within the city limits of Cumberland. That responsibility rests with the parents. He suggests that complaints about Cumberland Transit Lines service should go directly to representatives of that firm.

Davis acknowledged last night that he has received a number of complaints from South Cumberland residents concerning service from Fort Hill High School. That is the only sector of the city where protests have been heard, he added.

"The big problem about transporting children after school is that they leave their classrooms just about at the time when many workers are leaving a number of Cumberland's industrial plants," the transit company official stated.

"If the children got out about 2:30 p. m. we could get them home before having to send buses to the industrial plants," he added.

A shuttle bus makes three trips from Fort Hill to Baltimore Street and from there the pupils may obtain transfers to any line of the company. These trips are made at 3:15, 3:30 and 3:45 p. m.

In addition, the Mapleside bus comes by Fort Hill at 3:25 p. m. and picks up many pupils.

Davis explained that on the first trip the shuttle bus makes, it is crowded, but the last trip the bus is almost empty. He says the boys and girls just won't wait at the school for subsequent trips by the shuttle bus. In this connection, he observed that some of the children

Employer Social Security Plan Effective Jan. 1

Nearly 8,000 Local Persons Affected

Next January approximately four and one-half million self-employed people will begin paying social security taxes for themselves and their families. James S. Getty, manager of the local field office, in commenting on this new phase of the social security laws, stated that nearly 8,000 self-employed in this area will be affected.

Getty said this extension of coverage to self employed people marks the first time since the inception of social security in 1937 that the employer has been able to pay toward his own security.

For the past 14 years, the self-employed individual has paid one-half of the tax contributed by his employes, but he was not covered by the law himself. Congress, in 1950, extended the law to include employers as well as employes and provides equal protection for both.

Pays On Separate Schedule

Getty explained that the self-employed person pays his premium on a separate schedule on his income tax return and should not report his earnings along with his other employes on his quarterly social security tax return.

Only those self-employed who have net earnings of $400 or more are covered by the law, and coverage is not optional as in the case of employes of non-profit, religious or charitable institutions.

Any self employed person who does not have a social security number should make application for a card at the local office before the end of the year.

Getty further stated that the coverage provides very definite protection as a basic security for the self employed person and his family. The monthly benefit payments when supplemented with savings or other income, provide a reasonable income when the worker is no longer participating in business.

The first month in which a self employed individual will be eligible for benefits is April, 1952. This is because that is the first time a person could have worked in six calendar quarters from the starting date, January 1, 1951.

Receive Maximum Payment

In most cases, Getty pointed out, the self-employed will receive the maximum payment by waiting until January, 1953 to file a claim. This happens because the tax return for 1952 will not be filed until 1953, and at that time, full credit can be given for all earnings of the year.

Workers may be covered as employes and as self-employed at the same time assuming that a person has two jobs. But the first $3,600 of wages is all that will be considered in computing benefits regardless of the amount earned.
